CARRANZA MAKES DENIAL OF FOOD BAN BY OBREGON

ROBERTS IS DENOUNCED AS HEAD OF CONSPIRACY

FLETCHER SENDS TWO WARSHIPS TO MEXICO

BULLETIN.

Washington, March 9.—American Consul Silliman telegraphed from Vera Cruz today that he had been reliably informed that the evacuation of Mexico City by the forces of Gen Obregon began at 9 o'clock last night.

Washington, March 9.—General Carranza has made a preliminary reply to the American representations, denying, generally the existence of conditions in Mexico City which the United States has called upon him to improve. In a statement which was laid before President Wilson and the cabinet today the Mexican chief denied that Gen. Obregon, his commander in Mexico City, had prevented food from reaching the Mexican capital or that he had sent supplies away.

Carranza's oral statement was taken in official quarters to forecast the tenor of his formal answer which is being drafted. Generally, it was regarded in administration circles as favorable and an indication that Carranza would no longer approve any inconvenience to foreigners.

Warships Get Orders.

Meanwhile, however, orders went forward to Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the Atlantic fleet at Guantanamo, to send two more warships to Vera Cruz. The Washington and the Georgia were chosen.

The selection of ships was left to Admiral Fletcher and shortly after noon today he reported what orders he had given. The Washington is flagship of the cruiser squadron of the Atlantic fleet. She carries 41 officers and 902 men and is commanded by Commander Edward L. Beach. The Georgia is one of the first line battleships of the third division. She carries 49 officers and 864 men. The Washington is a little faster than the Georgia and both ships starting today should be at Vera Cruz by Thursday night.

Will Make Early Reply.

Carranza promised an early reply, Mr. Silliman reported. Elizo Arredondo, hitherto Washington representative of Carranza, and other advisers, were present during the conference. Mr. Silliman reported at length but officials did not disclose the contents of his message. It was believed however, that from the fact that Carranza denied the activity attributed to him by official reports to this government the Mexican chief would not approve any further inconvenience to foreigners.

Consul Silliman's dispatches from Vera Cruz saying the American note was formally presented to Carranza in person yesterday afternoon arrived just before the cabinet meeting today and were laid before President Wilson as the cabinet officers assembled. Some of the cabinet members felt encouraged in the belief that Carranza would give assurances of protection to foreigners and permit supplies to reach the Mexican capital and prevent a crisis.

WILSON AND DANIELS ACT.

Washington, March 9.—After a conference early today with President Wilson, Secretary Daniels ordered two battleships of the Atlantic fleet from Guantanamo to Vera Cruz as the latest move on the part of the American government in the Mexican crisis. This action officials said, would bring assurances from Gen. Carranza that conditions in Mexico City, which have become acute, would be ameliorated."

The sending of war vessels, followed vigorous representations to Gen. Carranza demanding prompt improvement in conditions as affecting foreigners and their respective interests in Mexico territory under his control. Failure to comply, he was warned, would be followed by such action as the American thought necessary to obtain the desired protection.

In diplomatic quarters the belief quite generally prevailed that the latest representations to Carranza were a clear implication to him that force might be employed unless conditions were bettered.

Much concern is felt among officials for the welfare of the 25,000 foreigners in Mexico City, 2,500 of them Americans, who are threatened with riots and famine in consequence of the announced intention of Gen. Carranza to order the evacuation of that city by Gen. Obregon's forces.

President Wilson said today that the latest note sent to Gen. Carranza called to his attention the serious situation reported to exist in Mexico City and called on him to protect foreigners in the capital. He added that evacuation of the city was the principal thing he feared.

Act While Awaiting Reply.

While awaiting an early reply to the representations to General Carranza to take steps to improve conditions in Mexico City, the administration today began taking steps to carry out what most of the foreign diplomatic corps here interprets as an entire change of attitude toward the whole Mexican situation.

Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the Atlantic fleet at Guantanamo, was ordered to send two battleships to Vera Cruz to strengthen the fleet of small craft already there, or gathering from nearby ports. The admiral himself, who commanded the force which took the town from Huerta last April, will not

COLONEL NELSON IS SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Kansas City, Mo., March 9.—A change for the better in the condition of W. R. Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, who is critically ill at his home here, was announced by his physicians today.

Early in the day Mr. Nelson recovered consciousness and talked with Mrs Nelson and with his daughter, Mrs. Irwin R. Kirkwood. Later he gave directions for work on his farm at Grain Valley.

One of the attending physicians summarized the change by asserting there had been "a considerable rally, the mental condition is clear, but Mr. Nelson is still in quite a critical state."

SMOKELESS POWDER CONCERN DISSOLVES

Camden, N. J., March 9.—The stockholders of the International Smokeless Powder and Chemical company, at a meeting today, voted to dissolve the corporation. Since the company was formed the government has started manufacturing its own smokeless powder and there is, consequently, little demand for its product. The Dupont Powder company holds about 95 per cent. of the stock of the concern. The company is a $10,000,000 corporation, with its plant located at Perth Amboy, N. J. During the meeting a statement was made that the assets of the company are about $1,800,000.

WANTED HIS WIFE TO REALIZE ON POLICY

Los Angeles, Cal., March 9.—Letters left by John W. Reid, formerly general manager of the British Oil company, who jumped 150 feet to his death yesterday from the roof of a hotel here, show that he chose that means to assure his wife a competency through a $10,000 life insurance policy. For the second time, war had wrecked Reid financially, first the Mexican strife and then the European conflict having swept away his investments.

Before carrying out his plan Reid telephoned his

EVELYN NESBIT THAW MAY TAKE THE STAND

Likely to Be Witness for Husband in His Fight for Freedom.

New York, March 9.—The actual trial of Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, and five co-defendants for conspiring to effect Thaw's escape from the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan, was begun in the criminal branch of the supreme court here today. Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy outlined the case of the state, and several witnesses, who gave testimony of a technical nature were placed upon the stand to testify. Mr. Kennedy said it was the contention of the state that Thaw was insane at the time of his flight, that it would still constitute a menace to the public safety to allow him at large, but that notwithstanding these facts, he was, by reason of his "peculiar form of insanity," competent to conspire to defeat the administration of justice.

None of the witnesses examined during the forenoon session was cross examined. The witnesses were a photographer, an engineer, the clerk of the court and an attendant from the Matteawan hospital. The court room was crowded and there were as many women as men in the seats.

Only once did Thaw endeavor to take any part in the selection of the jury. This was when he made a suggestion to one of his attorneys.

"I am well satisfied with the jury," said Thaw after court adjournment. "I think they are a fine lot of men. I would have been satisfied even with the one who said he knew friends of Stanford White. Give me a chance to prove that I'm sane; that's all I ask," he added.

It was announced today by an official of the district attorney's office that in all probability Evelyn Nesbit Thaw would appear as a witness in Thaw's behalf. In previous proceedings affecting Thaw's liberty, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has appeared against him. A week ago a process server from the district attorney's office called on Mrs. Thaw with a subpoena bidding her to appear at the trial for the prosecution. She was served as [illegible]

GERMANS ARE BEATEN BACK

Both Flanks in Northern Poland Dislodged, Says Russian Report.

FIGHTING IN THE EAST IS OBSTINATE

Turks Think Dardanelles Will Hold Against Allied Fleet.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

Both the right and left flanks of the German forces in northern Poland have been dislodged, Petrograd dispatches stated, from the positions they took upon the advance from east Prussia. The German right wing is said to have beaten a hasty retreat to within eight miles of the border. Today's official report from Berlin, however, states that the Russian offensive is being met successfully. Several Russian assaults in this region are said to have been repulsed.

The battle in Champagne has become less violent. Snow has interrupted fighting in the Vosges and elsewhere, and along the western front there is no great activity. The day's official reports from Berlin and Paris mention only local engagements of comparatively small importance.

It is claimed that the Russians have occupied important positions beyond the Tchoruk river, throwing back the Turks with heavy losses.

Although there is no direct evidence that Italy will depart from her policy of armed neutrality, Rome dispatches express the belief that the nation is on the eve of "great and decisive events."

London, March 9.—Obstinate fighting marks the battles along the eastern front in the continent, with the Germans slowly withdrawing from the river Nieman, in the direction of ther own east Prussian frontier. At the same time the new offensive movement against Warsaw and on the Pilica evidently has not yet developed into the great engagement which has been expected in this locality.

In the western arena of hostilities the only new feature has been the allied air attack on Ostend. In the Champagne region where the French have been assuming the offensive lately, a snow storm has given forced rest to the troops. It is not unwelcome for they have been almost constantly engaged for the past fortnight.

Judging from the statement made yesterday by the British admiralty it is apparent that only one merchantman, the Collier Ben Grove, has fallen a victim to the submarine blockade of the Germans since the 25th of February.

The first hint of British retaliation against the personnel of German submarine raiders, has been conveyed in an official statement that the officers and crew of the German under sea boat U-9 which fell a prey to a flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers, detailed to hunt for Three Eliminated by Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain System.

St. Louis, March 9.—B. F. Bush, of St. Louis, today was elected chairman of the board of directors of the Missouri Pacific and of the St. Louis Iron Mountain and Southern railroads and also chairman of the executive committees of both roads. In these offices he replaces George J. Gould, who was eliminated from official capacity in the system at the annual meeting of the roads today. Mr. Bush was selected president of the combined system. The changes made today were considered as definitely marking the transfer of control of the principal part of the so-called Gould system from New York to St. Louis. Two vice presidents were eliminated and the three vice presidents in St. Louis in active management of the roads were re-elected.

DAILEY HITS HARD IN HIS OPENING ADDRESS

District Attorney Uncovers Alleged Methods of Terre Haute Men Accused of Vote Frauds.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—United States District Attorney Frank C. Dailey in his opening statement today at the trial of Mayor Donn M. Roberts, of Terre Haute and the twenty-seven other defendants, who are charged with conspiracy to corrupt the election of Nov. 3, 1914, in Terre Haute, outlined the facts that the government expects to prove, and declared that Roberts was the head of the conspiracy and that he "ruled as a czar."

He told how the government contends the false registrations were made, of the alleged slugging and rough work at the polls and of the manner of collecting and the amount of the so-called "slush fund."

"Roberts gave orders and his henchmen obeyed without question," asserted the district attorney. "He had had long experience in the larceny of elections and he knew not only how it could be done, but upon whom he could rely to do it. He made his appointments of city employes largely upon their qualifications as election manipulators. Many of these employes are among the defendants in this case."

Still Talking at Noon.

District Attorney Dailey was still outlining the government's case when court was recessed at noon. Mr. Dailey frequently disagreed from his speech to assure the jury that his statements were not idle words, but absolute facts, to be borne out by ample evidence. During the course of his speech the district attorney intimated that many of the 88 who have pleaded guilty to the indictment will be witnesses for the government. One of the principal witnesses probably will be Joe Jeffers, notorious Terre Haute gunman.

Donn M. Roberts, mayor of Terre Haute, and one of the defendants, was again accompanied by his wife. Mr. Dailey frequently turned from the jury and faced the two but neither showed any emotion under the district attorney's fire. Mr. Dailey was to continue his speech when court reconvened at 2 o'clock.

About 2,000 false registrations were prepared at Terre Haute police headquarters by Chief of Police Edward Hiller, who pleaded guilty, at the direction of Roberts, Mr. Dailey told the jury.

How They Were Made.

He said that Roberts and Holler decided on the number of false registrations to make in each precinct and then set about manufacturing names by taking the Christian name from the forepart of the city directory and the surname from the back of the directory. These names were written on ordinary calling cards, he said, together with the number of the precinct in which the false name should be registered and the age of the person thus created. On registration day, Mr. Dailey declared, these cards were handed out in small bunches and when one ward was completed the men who were registering would move on to another ward, frequently hauled in city automobiles.

Mr. Dailey said these cards were then preserved until election day and handed out again to the men hired to do the illegal voting. Several hundred persons, he said, were also registered from the various saloons in precincts A, B and C, of the Sixth ward, which comprise the tenderloin district. Mr. Dailey asserted that the cards were in charge of E. E. Talbott, city comptroller, who is also a defendant, and who distributed them on election day.

Did Not Appear to Register.

While most of the false registering was done by men going from one place to another Mr. Dailey informed the jury that in the Taylorville precinct about 110 applications were sent to the registering board and entered without a single man appearing to register. A total of about 3,000 false registrations was made in Terre Haute, Mr. Dailey declared.

The district attorney told at great length of the means employed by the defendants to get men they could control on the election board in the various precincts. He said they defied injunctions and even drove away special deputies at the point of the revolver, in order to place the men they desired upon the boards. Another method, he said was to have the duly selected election officials arrested and held in the detention cell until the election was almost over. In one precinct, where Mr. Dailey said Roberts did not dare attempt gun play, a man, a relative of an official was placed, by forged petition, on the ballot as a candidate for councilman, thus preventing by law the election [illegible]

WOMAN'S FOOTPRINTS ARE PUT IN EVIDENCE

Bridgeport, Conn., March 9.—Impressions of both feet of Mrs. Helen M. Angle taken on July 11, 1914, at police headquarters in Stamford were put in evidence today by the state, which is trying her for manslaughter in connection with the death of Waldo R. Ballen.

It is the intention of the prosecution, according to State Attorney Cummins to show that the bloody barefoot prints found in the lower hall, also in Mrs. Angle's room on the third floor of the Rippowa building, correspond with the impressions of the defendant's feet and that bloody footprints were made by Mrs. Angle.

LOCAL OPTION LOOMS FOR NEW YORK CITY

New York, March 9.—Local option for New York city loomed up among the possibilities discussed at the city hall here today, where it was said unofficially that the present city administration would favor the passage of such legislation by the legislature.

While Mayor Mitchel refused to commit himself on the question, proponents of the law claimed his support. It was said that the sort of law wanted was one under which the city would be divided into districts in each of which the citizens could vote on excluding liquor from the district.

SENATE SINGS THE DOXOLOGY

LEGISLATURE OF 1915 AT AN END

Resume of the Work of the Indiana Lawmakers at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—Contrasting scenes marked the adjournment, sine die, of the two houses of the sixty-ninth general assembly at midnight last night. In the upper house a well ordered program was carried out, ending with the singing of the Doxology, while in the lower house somewhat embarrasing entanglements resulted from a motion being carried to adjourn at 9 o'clock in the evening.

After the early adjournment had been declared out of order by Speaker Bedwell upon examining the constitution, but not before the majority of the members had departed, including many of the out state members who left the city for their homes on early trains, the house went through the formality of being in session until a committee from the senate acted its further pleasure at the hour of midnight.

Old Customs Missing.

Throwing of books and parading about the halls—customs of years standing upon final adjournment of the house—were not indulged in last night. In fact, members of many years' experience in the lower house commented on the close being the quietest of any in their memory. In the senate business was transacted including the passage of a number of unimportant bills while Lieut. Governor O'Neill signed many bills, including the specific appropriation measure, in order that they might be sent to the governor's office. Gov. Ralston visited the senate late in the evening and then retired to his office where he remained until midnight examining bills. During the evening he sent a message to the house announcing he had signed two of the administration measures, one the workmen's compensation bill and the other the direct primary act.

Question Over Legality.

Question was raised over the legality of a resolution, amended by the house last night, instructing employees be paid full time. More than sixty employees worked throughout the session, while the records show they were employed from fifty-five to fifty-six days. Inasmuch as the resolution was not reconsidered in its amended form, members were informed that vouchers issued for pay, which did not bear the name of the speaker, would not be honored in the auditor of state's office. The state house was practically deserted today of legislators. The custodian and his assistants were busily engaged clearing away all evidence of the session while officers of the house and senate were beginning their work incidental to completing the journal records. Speaker Bedwell and Lieut. Gov. O'Neill were at their offices during the day, straightening up their papers in anticipation of leaving within a few days for their homes.

The legislature kept within the appropriation of $115,000 for expenses of the session, according to announcements made by the presiding officers. The expense of the house amounted to approximately $63,000.

Barely Quorum There.

When the house assembled after 8:30 o'clock there was barely a quorum present, due to republican members remaining away. A report gained circulation that the democrats would attempt to rush through certain measures, including a so-called "felons relief measure." To forestall such action the republicans determined to break up a quorum, if necessary.

While a few members of the house remained until midnight, when the speaker officially adjourned the session, the members of the senate remained in a body, transacted considerable business and spent much time in making farewell speeches until the lieutenant governor's gavel brought the session to a close shortly after midnight, the clock having been stopped at 11:55 o'clock.

In making his farewell speech, Lieutenant Governor O'Neill referred to his experiences in the two sessions in which he presided over the upper house, and concluded by saying he had always tried to serve with the highest intentions and to the best of his ability. His nine-year-old son called the last roll call of the senators, after which the members sung the doxology.

Ralston Sends Messages.

During the evening Governor Ralston sent messages to the legislature announcing he had signed the workmen's compensation and the direct primary measures and several others of lesser importance. He vetoed two bills, one providing for payment of fees of witnesses summoned from one county to another to testify in grand jury proceedings. The governor refused to receive the Friend teachers' pension bill, it having reached his office after the time limit set for consideration of bills.

During the afternoon Vice President Marshall visited the two houses on invitation from the members. He made impromptu speeches, telling the members of the house "that if you had not done what the people sent you to do, you will hear from it. The voice of the people," he continued, "is always rampant and it does not hesitate to criticize and to censure."

Mr. Marshall's Address.

While addressing the senate the vice president complained of "too many laws being enacted simply to get them on the statute books." He said that if he had his way, "I would repeal nine-tenths of the laws now on the statute books and an attempt would then be made to enforce the remaining one-tenth."

Referring to the recent visits of prominent party leaders at Washington to this session of the legislature, Mr. Marshall said, "I understand you have had plenty of advice, and I am not going to attempt to say anything that will add to that which has already been told you. A legislature seems to me like a bad cold. Everybody always has a remedy to give you. The mistake is sometimes made in believing that Indiana is controlled by dishonest public officials. This may be the exception, but not the rule. My plea is not for larger statutory legislation, but rather for freedom of members of a legislature to have that constitutional freedom which is given them and which they have a right to enjoy. The trouble is that there are too many intellectual cowards in politics today."

Important Laws Enacted.

Among the important laws passed by the legislature in its sixty-day session were the following:

Workmen's compensation, administered by state commission, and providing for 55 per cent compensation.

Mediation and conciliation, authorizing arbitration of disputes between labor and capital.

Anti-lobby law, requiring registration of paid lobbyists.

State-wide flood prevention measures, giving cities of second, third, fourth and fifth classes power to proceed through their local boards.

DEATH OF LARWILL WOMAN.

Columbia City, Ind., March 9.—Mrs. Kate Mann, a resident of Larwill for the past twenty-six years, is dead at her home there at the age of 72 years, 9 months and 26 days. She had lived alone for several years and while not in the best of health for some time, she did not become very ill until a couple of weeks ago, at which time her niece, Mrs. John McCrea, of Fort Wayne, came and nursed her until the end. The deceased was a daughter of Peter and Susan Trachsel and was born in Stark county, Ohio, May 9, 1842. She was married in the year 1867 to W. H. Mann and they moved to Upper Sandusky, Ohio, where they lived until twenty-six years ago when they moved to Larwill.

RECORD PRICE FOR WHITE OAKS.

Montpelier, Ind., March 9.—The highest price ever known to be paid for ten white oak trees in this or Wells county, was paid by D. A. Bryson, the hard wood lumber man of this city, to William Sharpe, residing east of the city, and they are ten of the best trees ever cut off of land in this community. This made a price of $50 a tree, and each tree made four logs. To show just how good they were, Mr. Bryson stated that the butt of the first log ran up to thirty-six inches, and the top of the third log was as much as twenty-seven to thirty-three inches. This gives an idea of the straightness of the trees and the evenness as to size.

BELGIAN MAIDEN'S THANKS.

Little War Victim Writes to Huntington Tot Who Had Sent Aid.

Huntington, Ind., March 9.—Among those who responded so liberally to the call of the Christmas ship last fall was little Bernice Zahm, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pius Zahm, living north of Huntington. In the presents she sent to be distributed among the stricken children of the war zone she inclosed her name and address and yesterday the grateful thanks of a little Belgian girl whose heart was gladdened by the gifts came on a post card from Holland. The card reads as follows:

"Dear Friend—Many thanks for the fine silk ribbons and the pocket handkerchief, also for the box of colors which I received in good order. I am replying you from Antwerp, but my father takes these few lines with him to Holland as it is quite impossible to send you any letter from Belgium.

"We are praying every day for peace and we hope it will come soon. There are a lot of poor and hungry people in Belgium and it is in the winter time.

"If you send me a small reply please write to the address G. Bets, Hansweert, Holland. Hoping you may receive this in good state I am, your thankful friend, Louisa Bets, Grand Palace, No. 46, Antwerp."

The card was written in perfect English and was dated at Hansweert, Holland, January 20.

Ears Are In Style Again—Lift Up Your Hair

The new style of lifting the hair from the ears looks much nicer if the hair is soft so it drapes around the ears rather than being pulled up in straight, hard lines. To get the best effect in any style of hairdressing, every strand must be fluffy, lustrous and, of course, clean. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp

Your Grandmother's Remedy for Purifying the Blood

And Renovating the System in the Springtime

Ask for Sulpherb Tablets.

What was grandmother's unexcelled remedy? Haven't you heard of it? Yes, you have! It was sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses. The main trouble with it was its nauseous taste.

The modern method puts the cream of tartar and sulphur into a sugar-coated tablet and mixes them with herbs, roots, etc., making a wonderful tonic blood purifier and system cleanser.

Just try Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets), but Sulpherb—remember the name—and get the tablets in sealed tubes at 50c per tube.

Grown-up people and children who don't feel well, who are constipated or sluggish, or who have pimples, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and the like, can soon rid the system of these impurities by taking this good old-fashioned remedy in modern form. Their action satisfies or money is refunded by the Prescription Products Company, Dayton, Ohio. A free trial sent to any address. Buy of any well stocked druggist.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Luke 15:20-32.

20 And he arose, and came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him.

21 And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son.

22 But the father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet.

23 And bring hither the fatted calf, and kill it; and let us eat, and be merry:

24 For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found. And they began to be merry.

25 Now his elder son was in the field: and as he came and drew nigh to the house, he heard music and dancing.

26 And he called one of the servants, and asked what these things meant.

27 And he said unto him, Thy brother is come; and thy father hath killed the fatted calf, because he hath received him safe and sound.

28 And he was angry, and would not go in: therefore came his father out, and entreated him.

29 And he answering said to his father, Lo, these many years do I serve thee, neither transgressed I at any time thy commandment; and yet thou never gavest me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends:

30 But as soon as this thy son wascome which hath devoured thy living with harlots, thou hast killed for him the fatted calf.

31 And he said unto him, Son, thou art ever with me, and all that I have is thine.

32 It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; and was lost, and is found.

At The Close of the Session.

Somehow Indiana—and we presume the experience is not peculiar to Indiana alone—always breathes a bit easier when the biennial sessions of its legislature have arrived at the sixty-day limit and adjourned sine die. There is always the relaxation after a strain that is more or less pronounced, and the knowledge that there will be no recurrence of the harrowing uncertainty for two years—barring the possibility of special sessions—invariably has a soothing effect upon the public nerves. We may then as fairly as possible in the light of individual judgment and individual preference appraise its accomplishments.

It is probable that no legislative session ever completely met popular desire. It would be unreasonable to expect it to do so because the particular action which one person most commends is the one most bitterly denounced by his neighbor. "Good" or "bad" as applied to state legislatures are after all merely relative terms, but measured by the records of its predecessors the assembly which has just adjournd will not suffer in the comparison. It has given some important new laws for which there appeared to be popular demand—workmen's compensation, mediation in labor disputes, an anti-lobby law, flood prevention laws, the direct primary and an amended registration law among the number.

Then, some proposed legislation of marked excellence failed. In this category may be listed the creation of a state highway commission, the extension of suffrage to women, state-wide prohibition and further safeguards against the invasion of "dry" territory by liquors, teachers' pensions, as well as the increase in pasenger rates for which the railroads appealed. The failure of the suffrage bill, as well as that tending to further circumscribe the operations of the liquor traffic are especially to be regretted, but the momentum gained by these measures will not be entirely lost for it is apt to count heavily when they come up again two years hence.

And while the legislature was killing off some good bills, it must be given credit for overthrowing some bad ones as well. It declined to stand for the legalizing of race betting, it refused to enthrone pugilism as a legalized institution in Indiana, and it refrained from raising the ban against various forms of Sabbath desecration that would have made the state more "wide open." It will be noted, too, that the expenses of the session were kept below those of some recent assemblies, and that the integrity of the sixty-ninth general assembly was at no time impugned by suspicion of graft or crookedness. Its record as a whole will stand inspection well. It didn't do all that everybody hoped would be done, but the general results, we believe, will prove acceptable to the state. They are at least entitled to a fair and unprejudiced trial by the test of practical experience in operation.

The proposal of the city health department to inspire a desire for the civic attractiveness that also means sanitation by giving prizes for best kept back yards and alleys will in all probability show some excellent results in Fort Wayne this season. And if it "works" with the boys and girs, similar action might develop an inspiration on the part of some of the larger "boys" to really effective work along the line of eliminating the smoke nuisance.

A masked bandit held up an Indiana paymaster near Mitchell and got away with some $2,000. We are accustomed to this sort of doings both in the effete east and in the untamed west, but the invasion of the Hoosier state by the highwayman fraternity is a manifestation of most shocking indifference to the conventionalities of sedate orderliness that we trust will be promptly resented.

Those California folk are fairly outdoing themselves in their attention to Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks, who has been at San Francisco dedicating the Indiana building at the exposition. Among other honors with which the distinguished Indiana man has been showered is a presidential boom which appears to be rapidly taking promising root in the sun-kissed soil of California.

HOW IT WORKS IN INDIANA.

(Columbus Dispatch.)

"How does the indeterminate sentence and parole law operate in other states? That is a proper question for the legislature to consider. Here is a report of its operation in Indiana, where there has now been an experience of seventeen years. It reveals the fact that in that period 8,221 prisoners have been paroled —3,088 from the penitentiary, 4,896 from the reformatory and 237 from the woman's prison. All of them were under supervision, and but twenty-six in every 100 (2,145 in all) violated the terms of their parole. Of these violators 1,250 were apprehended and returned to the prison, and 895 are at large. While on parole, these men and women reported regularly to the prison authorities, showing earnings of $2,284,577.85 and expenses of $1,878,406.71. That is to say, these persons not only earned their own living while on parole, but had savings amounting to $406,171.14, an average of nearly $50 each.

"Is that not a performance worth while? Would it have been better to keep those men and women in the prison at public expense and at the individual sacrifice of their freedom? Was it not well to save the nine, even at the cost of the one who proved unworthy and got away?

There are some law-breakers, of whom nothing better can be made. But the percentage of those who are capable of correction and return to normal living is far greater. The many should have a chance. They get it under the indeterminate sentence law wisely and honestly administered. If the legislature will attend to the administration, protecting it from improper and corrupt influences, the abuses that are cited will disappear.

SMALL MEN IN WAR.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch.)

The announced discovery of an English physician that the short man makes a better fighter than the tall man is not a new discovery. It has been told in history many times. But both inherited ideas and the love of military leaders for show have established a preference for stature in military opinion.

The small man is not braver or more aggressive than the tall one, nor is he any less. But he is apt to be tougher and more enduring. The idea that the big man is a better soldier doubtless originated in medieval times, when the soldier carried a weight of armor and fought with weapons of the hand. But a decided advantage is that the small man in these days of discharged missiles offers a smaller mark. It was calculated by Galton that if Admiral Nelson had been a tall man he would probably have been struck in battle some time earlier than he was, and thus would have had his career of naval victory cut short.

Old Freidrich Wilhelm, Frederick the Great's father, was so possessed by passion for tall soldiers that he devoted his career to the building up of his regiment of seven-foot grenadiers, which he prized so highly that he would never risk them in war. But when his son began fighting to make Prussia an important power, the grenadier giants were promptly dissolved. In the next generation the rather small Frenchmen, led by Napoleon, proved the first soldiers of the world.

In any case the rule with which England started into this war, to shut out men under a stated height, is foolishness. The dwarf regiments, if they were separated by their height, would show up in the lines of a battle as successfully as the giants.

And Head. Itched Awfully. Turned Into Sore Spots. Hair Came Out. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Head Perfectly Well.

804 Vermont Ave., Kansas City, Kan.—"There appeared on my brother's face and head little red spots which itched awfully and he scratched. Always after awhile these red spots turned gradually into bigger sore spots covering all his head. They were kind of whitish on top. The hair came out on the sore places and he was awfully cross.

"At first we used ——— salve and ——— but they seemed to do no good. I read the Cuticura advertisement in the paper and sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They stopped the itching a little and seemed soothing so we went to drug store and bought some more. He washed his head with Cuticura Soap and then smeared the Cuticura Ointment on and after using them for three or four weeks his head is perfectly well and he is getting nice new hair." 60 CITIES FIGHT AGAINST SALOONS

Fate of 250 Thirst Parlors Rest With Illinois Voters.

Chicago, March 9.—Sixty down-state cities and villages are fighting to oust the saloons this spring. The fate of approximately 250 saloons will rest with the voters.

Although this is an "off year" in local option elections, some lively campaigns are under way.

The three principal struggles of the "wet" and "dry" forces are in progress in Kankakee, Danville and Ottawa.

Kankakee is the home of Len Small, candidate for the republican nomination for governor three years ago. A local option election was held there seven years ago in which the "wet" forces were victorious.

Danville is the home of Congressman-elect Joseph G. Cannon.

Other Cities Facing Issue.

Other cities which will vote on the local option question at the April election are Mount Sterling, Beardstown, Morris, Naperville, Murphysboro, Dixon, Pontiac, Centralia, Havana, Litchfield, Elmhurst and West Chicago.

The greatest struggle of the wet and dry forces in Illinois will be held in the spring of 1916, when the anti-saloon forces plan to fight for a dry Chicago, while in approximately 160 cities and villages down-state, which voted dry last spring, the question will be brought up again, the law prohibiting a vote oftener than once in two years.

Last spring 1,146 saloons were closed as a result of contests in approximately 200 towns. Thirty-nine towns voted to retain the saloons.

New Law Chief Concern.

The chief concern of the Anti-Saloon league this year is additional legislation from the general assembly. A township option law, the "law enforcement" measure and the anti-shipping bill comprise the legislation sought.

The "law enforcement" measure is designed to make it easier to fight "blind tigers" which spring up in towns that have voted out the saloons. The chief provision of the bill makes it possible for a citizen who has a suspision that a "blind tiger" is in operation to demand of the state's attorney a search of the place.

Showing Where General U. S. Grant Re-Enlisted in the Army.

Colonel D. N. Foster is contemplating the placing of a marker in front of his store at Lafayette at which spot General U. S. Grant decided to re-enlist in the army during the civil war.

When General Grant or Captain Grant, as it was then, retired from the army he lived at Galena, Ill., and it was while visiting in Lafayette, it is said, with General Joseph Reynolds, that he decided to re-enlist in the army. General Reynolds' house stood where Foster's store is now located.

CRAWLED ON HIS HANDS AND KNEES

South Bend Man's Condition Such He Could Not Work for Eight Weeks—Crawled About on His Hands and Knees.

Could one contemplate a more pitiful sight than a strong man, shorn of his manly strength and vigor, unable to stand erect, wrecked and crippled physically, due to the great modern uric acid plague termed Rheumatism? Those who are now suffering from actute and even mild forms of rheumatism should stop and consider the countless number of human beings who are today incurable cripples, whose cases have become hopeless, and whose days mean to them naught but cycles of pain and suffering, and then ask themselves the question, does it pay for me to neglect my own case.

The following letter received by Dr. Bartlett, the specialist in charge of the Inter-State Doctors' Fort Wayne Institute, located on the second floor at 205 West Berry street, should impress all rheumatic sufferers with the masterful manner in which this specialist administers treatment in this class of cases:

South Bend, Ind.

Dr. S. M. Bartlett, South Bend, Ind.

Dear Doctor:—For seven months before coming to your office I suffered with rheumatism in my arms and legs. It grew so bad that I was forced to lay off from my work for eight weeks. Then I improved some and was able to return to my work, but could only work one or two days a week.

At last I saw so many accounts in the daily papers of the good you were doing the people, that I decided to give you a trial. At times my condition was so bad that I could only be about the house by crawling on my hands and knees.

I am pleased to say that after treating with you a short time I am now able to work every day, and am having no trouble whatever.

I should be glad to have you make this letter public, as I am very thankful for what you have done for me.

Jacke Pauwels, 532½ Kosciusko St.

If you are suffering from rheumatism it should be a comfort to you to know that the progress of your case can be arrested before you reach that hopeless stage of chronic invalidism which will deprive you of that share of enjoyment and pleasure in life which is justly yours.

In order to demonstrate to Fort Wayne people what the Inter-State system will do in curing chronic diseases of long standing the specalists have made a grand free offer of free examination, free consultation and free treatment (medicine excepted) to all who call before March 15. The office is open every week day and evenings, also Sunday forenoons.—Adv.

BOOZERS RUB IT IN AT POLICE STATION

Pair of Tanks Invade the Headquarters With a Bottle Apiece.

Mike McDonough had a stew in his tank and a bottle of "white line" on his hip and Ed Sullivan was similarly fixed inside and carried a "hipper" of plain red liquor when they invaded police headquarters Monday night and asked for accommodations in the municipal lodge, sometimes designated by low and coarse persons as the "bum room." Both were palpably drunk and potentially ugly and they were tossed into cells instead of into the free quarters for wayfarers. Both pleaded guilty to drunk charges before Judge Kerr Tuesday morning and both were tagged with eleven days in jail. Sullivan had been out of jail but a day when he brewed himself the souse that sent him back.

Made Trouble in the Mission.

Harry Clayton, thoroughly piped, wandered into the East Columbia street mission Monday night and sought to pre-empt quarters for the night. He was persona non grata and a Mr. Hawkins invited him to preserve the peace by getting out. Mr. Clayton declined, started a rough house and was pinched by the police. On a charge of disorderly conduct he drew $10 and costs and will spend twenty days in jail.

Other City Court Cases.

Ralph Courtney, a drunk, was turned loose after promising to keep sober.

John Koovion, one of the foreigners arrested Sunday night during a riotous melee in the east end, was allowed to go.

The case of George Mills arrested near Harlan on a warrant charging child neglect, was continued under $500 bond, which he furnished, until March 18. He was represented by two attorneys.

The burglary charge against Merle Streetmatter was continued until April 9. The youth is said to be employed in the country.

George Durbin, who has had continuance on a case for wife desertion in order to show that he could make good, was not in court when his case was called and he will be rearrested. His wife was present to testify that for three weeks he had given her no help.

PARENTS MAKE A STATEMENT.

Editor Sentinel:—As the city papers contained many errors in their account of the death of our adopted daughter, and as many people have consequently formed wrong opinions, we herewith desire to state a few facts regarding the case:

With reference to her education, we sent her to the High school and to the Fort Wayne Business college and she could have continued her studies had she so desired.

Relative to her privileges at home, she had all that a good home could give her, and she was always contented with her lot as all her friends and neighbors will affirm.

Regarding the carbolic acid, it was not kept in the kitchen as stated, but was placed in the basement in an out of the way place.

With reference to her late sickness, we employed one of the city's most reliable physicians and have done everything possible for her betterment.

She was the daughter of Henry Franke, the lumber dealer, not the contractor.

(Signed.)

The table was laid in a Madeira luncheon set and there were suggestions of St. Patrick's day in the dainty ferns that filled the basket in the center of the table, while vases of jonquils and daffodils were even more suggestive of spring. At each place was a lace nut basket filled with salted meats and fastened to them were tiny bouquets. There were eight ladies in the party.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

David Warfield in "The Auctioneer," Thursday.

David Belasco made a happy choice when he selected a revival of "The Auctioneer," with David Warfield again appearing in his famous role, if the ovations that have been tendered this splendid artist in each city where he has appeared this season, are any evidence. "The Auctioneer" was the first play in which Mr. Warfield achieved distinction thirteen years ago, and his remarkable creation of Simon Levi, the quaint and lovable old Hebrew auctioneer, familiar to theatergoers from coast to coast, is just as popular now as it was when he first conceived it. However, it had been the intention of David Belasco to present Mr. Warfield in a new play this season, but inasmuch as only a few cities could be included in this popular artist's itinerary last year and this, coupled with the fact that Mr. Belasco was in receipt of thousands of requests from theatergoers the country over to once more let them see Mr. Warfield in the role that brought him his first great fame, it was decided to devote another season to "The Auctioneer." Therefore this city is one of the few in this section that will be privileged to witness this gifted artist in his brilliant revival. The engagement, which will be played at the Majestic theater, is scheduled for Thursday evening.

AT THE NEW PALACE

Johnny Johnston and His Collegians in the happy-go-lucky-varsity farce, "Taking Things Easy," have a great mirth act as the feature attraction on the Keith bill at the New Palace theater. These carefree boys and girls are the sort of rollicking youngsters bountifully supplied with the assurance of youth, that make one wish he were back in the midst of his college days. The action hinges round the theft of a $5,000 motor car, which Johnny Johnston drove away from its moorings on a bet. There's the same old familiar campus cop and the studious student, the vivacious co-eds and the irate parent. Kaufman Brothers boil a world of fun out of their systems in the few minutes between the time they breeze onto the stage singing a coon song until they call a good bye to the house. Mr. and Mrs. James Kelson have a hodge podge of fun that they call "Here and There in Vaudeville." The team indulges in some bright, snappy repartee that at times is brilliant, but it is when Mrs. Kelso looks upon the red wine and loses her mental poise that the couple grow really funny.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"THE KREUTZER SONATA."

Jefferson Has Premier Attraction in Screen Version of Tolstoi's Drama.

Playgoers appreciating and valuing the better things in the silent drama cannot afford to miss this transcendently brilliant adaptation of Count Leo Tolstoi's immortal dramatic masterpiece, "The Kreutzer Sonata," and in presenting this superb photodrama to its clientele the Jefferson management feels that it has achieved a singular triumph. Nance O'Neill, America's foremost tragedienne, plays the principal role dividing honors with Theda Bara, the French emotional actress.

In connection with the showing of the picture the Jefferson orchestra has arranged to play Beethoven's "Kreutzer Sonata," the composition from which Tolstoi received his inspiration. This sonata is said to be the most intricate and technically difficult piece of music ever composed, and none but accomplished musicians dare to execute it. Indeed so complex is the score that the Jefferson musicians have spent the last week in preparing for this single recital.

AT THE COLONIAL

Displayed in the Colonial Program Arranged for Today.

The most cosmopolitan taste will find a complacent satisfaction in the list of attractions photographic which has been arranged for today. Principal on the list we have a remarkable three part "retrospective drama" coming from the Klaw and Erlanger studios, and nothing that these famous producers have ever turned out can hope to equal in point of all around perfection this brilliant release, "The Road to Yesterday."

"The Opera Singer's Triumph," the second of the feature plays, is a highly dramatic four part issue.

Simple Way To Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered neroxin from any drug-store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the parts of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The powdered neroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Madame Catherine's Chats

"I understand that the styles are somewhat changed this year," questioned the youthful visitor to the corset shop at 113 West Wayne street, yesterday.

"It is true. There is a slight change. Their is a tendency toward the waist line and a little higher bust," was the reply.

"But does that mean we shall again wear ruffles this year?" was another query.

"Yes, ruffles, pads and all kinds of hearts will be very good this year. In fact the more slender woman shall almost be compelled to wear ruffles to prevent the break at the waist line," answered Madame. "The higher bust will call for something to break the line and ruffles will be extensively used."

"I suppose you have some very nice ruffles for this season in stock?" was asked.

"Yes, I can show you something for any price. Anything from 25c up to $1. Of course the 25c ruffles are a little plainer but the higher priced are really of no better wearing quality, but are neat lace trimmed ruffles."

"But it is not possible to buy a brassiere with the ruffle, heart or pad attached?" came still another question.

"Yes, indeed," replied Madame. "We have all the different kinds of accessories that one can wish for. Now here is just what you have been asking for. The brassieres together with the ruffle, all made into one piece."

"I think I will try on some of your latest models of corsets and try on some of the combination brassieres," remarked the young lady as she stepped into one of the fitting rooms.

How to Have the Best Cough Remedy and Save $2 by Making It at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule contain a large quantity of plain syrup. A pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with sugar syrup. This gives you, at a cost of only 54 cents, a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50—a clear saving of nearly $2. Full directions with Pinex. It keeps perfectly and tastes good.

It takes hold of the usual cough or chest cold at once and conquers it in 24 hours. Splendid for whooping cough, bronchitis and winter coughs.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes the inflamed membranes in the case of a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol, and has been used for generations to heal inflamed membranes of the throat and chest.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SEEK MYSTERIES OF NEW WORLD'S PAST

American Scientific Expedition Continues Work in Andean Mountains.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Under the leadership of Dr. Hiram Bingham, the National Geographic society-Yale university Peruvian expedition has sailed from New York to continue its work in the Andean mountains, in the hope of finding the key to the mysteries of the new world's past. The Inca and Atzec civilizations which flourished in this hemisphere before the arrival of those gold-hungry adventurers and destroyers who followed in the wake of Columbus have an inexpressibly melancholy interest for us in that our traditions of them indicate how complete systems of culture may be swept away and hardly leave a trace. Work already accomplished in the Peruvian Andes by Dr. Bingham under the auspices of the National Geographic society and Yale university suggests that the clue has been found to the history of the Incas, and that we will be able to clear up much of the mystery concerning that civilization which the conquistadores ruthlessly laid waste.

In a concealed valley in the high Andes of Peru, the "American Tibet," Dr. Bingham has discovered one of the lost Inca cities, which he now believes to be the famous Machu Picchu of Indian and Spanish legend, birthplace and last hidden abode of Inca power, faith and culture. The Inca empire endured between 1100 A. D. and 1572 A. D. Here in this wild, inaccessible mountain region the Peruvian expedition of 1914-15 will continue its painstaking efforts to lift the veil from the pre-Columbian secrets of the western hemisphere, and there is promise that these secrets will prove as wonderful and as fascinating as those which the scientists have forced the dead civilization of the Nile and of the Mesopotamian valleys to surrender.

The highlands of Peru contain vestiges of the most ancient and advanced culture in South America. They hold preserved within their valleys the remains of long-forgotten Indian towns and cities, ruins of roads and aqueducts, of walls, fortresses and terraces, and in these ruins is written the story of the first American engineers and architects of America's earliest metallurgists and artificers in metals, clays and fibers. These remains, together with the specimens of bronze and silver ornaments, tools, and utensils, form a commentary upon the ancient Inca life out of which the explorers hope to be able to reconstruct a connected picture of the storied Inca empire.

There was formerly considerable gold to be found in this region, and for many years it was the dream of every adventuresome spirit in the new world and the goal of many fortune hunters. However, four centuries of treasure-seeking probably has left little in the way of precious metals to the modern explorer. Old legends of inexhaustible stores of Inca-gold, nevertheless, detract nothing from the enticing interest of these little-traveled mountains.

The theater of the National Geographic society-Yale university expedition is a wonderful country, whose magnificent scenery and part-revealed past give it as powerful an appeal as that possessed by any other of the world's areas. It is filled with deep-rent canyons, majestic unclimbed mountains peaks, wide ranges of vivid-colored, tropical jungles; and it is crossed by the splendid roaring rapids of the Apurimac and the Urubamba, whose waters go to feed the Amazon. It has its disagreeable features, on the other hand, such as insect pests which swarm the lowlands in innumerable millions, the vampire bats of the middle valleys, and the bitter cold of the nights in the uplands.

The work of the expedition has been planned under a number of scientific divisions. Topographical maps will be prepared, a detailed geological reconnaissance will be undertaken, the plant and animal life of the region will be studied, and the weather conditions will be thoroughly investigated. There will also be carried on an anthropological archaelogical and historico-geographical researches, looking toward the unraveling of the mystery of the ancient inhabitants of the Andes and to the determination of just what was accomplished in the western world for progress and civilization before our European ancestors called themselves in to take up the task.

The Brazilian government has prohibited the use of preservatives in almost every kind of foodstuff and beverage.

LOCAL COMPANY IS MAKING PROGRESS

Organization to Take Over Billikens Soon Will Be Completed.

Good progress has been made in the organization of a local company to take over the Fort Wayne franchise and team in the Central league and it is expected that by the end of the present week everything will be all set for the formal transfer of the ownership of the Bilikens outfit from Owner Claude H. Varnell to the home crowd.

The work has not been pressed rapidly because it has been one of the uppermost purposes to make the local organization not only sound as to finances but to enlist the interest of men who will bring to the game here a quality of support that will insure a good season and popular approval.

It is now settled beyond all peradventure of doubt that Bade Myers will be the manager of the Fort Wayne troupe. The big chief who in times past hung two pennants on the local flag pole has the confidence and respect of Fort Wayne fandom and he will amply guarantee that the game here this year will have class.

A considerable number of men of large means and substantial interests have come to the financial support of the project for home ownership and that and all other important phases of the enterprise have passed beyond the stage of uncertainty.

WILL COME HERE TO ADOPT A SCHEDULE

Central League Committee to Meet in Fort Wayne and Not West Baden.

The meeting of the schedule committee of the Central baseball league, which was calendered to be held Wednesday at West Baden Springs, has been changed to Fort Wayne and will be held at the Anthony hotel.

This change was made by President Louis Heilbroner to serve several conveniences, chief among which is that Fort Wayne is more accessible to a majority of the committee than West Baden.

Besides framing and adopting a schedule the committee will make a final revision of the Central league constitution, which has been extensively overhauled to meet exigencies created by expansion of the league from a six to an eight-club circuit.

Besides President Heilbroner the schedule committee consists of Harry Stahlhefer, Evansville; Elmer Redelle, Dayton, and Thomas O'Connor, Erie.

Two schedules were submitted to the meeting of the Central owners at the meeting here week before last, but neither was at all satisfactory and the committee will have the entire work to perform when it assembles here Wednesday.

PREPARE FOR BASEBALL.

FULLERTON GETS ADVANCE DOPE ON THE BIG LEAGUE TEAMS FOR FORT WAYNE FANS.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton).

In a few days I shall begin the study of the clubs of the National, American and Federal leagues to see what their chances are during the coming season.

I think this spring I have or will have the finest line of dope on the teams that I ever have been able to collect.

Instead of running around the country making hurried visits to the training camps I will visit only a few and depend for the rest upon the staff correspondents who live and eat and breath the spirit of the teams themselves.

I have made arrangements with the very best baseball writers with each team to supply me with all the information they possess in regard to their teams and after that to tell me frankly what they think of the club, of the new men, and whether the old ones have progressed or gone back. I will take that information and, combining it with my knowledge of the teams and men, with the figures and past averages and other inside stuff, will try to get a line on the relative strengths of the teams.

Not satisfied with going that far I have arranged with several managers and scouts, with some players who have been long in the game to give me their ideas concerning the teams and the men.

One often gets a valuable hint on some one youngster who has been overlooked by getting the viewpoint of an old player whose attention perhaps has been called to the work of that youth.

When the training season is over I think I will have more information about the big league teams than any person in America has (always excepting Looie Heilbroner, who knows all about all of them), and it will be right up to date and fresh from the feed box.

It is going to be very interesting dope. For instance, I thought I knew about all there was to know about the Chicago White Sox. That has been my team for years—the one I root for out of sentiment because Comiskey is my oldest and best friend.

One of the scribes who has been with the White Sox on the coast has sent me a lot of dope that he has been picking up and his observation of the men. There were at least half a dozen facts brought out that never had occurred to my mind, and some startling stuff that no one who has not lived with the team can know.

The White Sox have been longest in the field, and, of course, have shown more than the others have had a chance to show, so I shall open the series with a study of the White Sox team and their chances for the coming season.

The Funniest Play I Ever Saw in Baseball.

(By George McBride, Shortstop and Captain Washington Americans).

McBride

The biggest laugh I ever got out of a baseball game was due to the antics of Germany Schafer in a game between the Philadelphia Athletics, and the "all star" team that prepared them for their first series with the New York Giants.

One of the towns in which we played was Richmond and it was there that Schaef pulled what I think was the funniest thing I ever saw on a ball field.

Clyde Milan hurt his leg. Schaef advanced to the front of the stands and announced that, while he hated to take the grandest little center fielder in the world out of the game, it was necessary and that he, Schaefer, should demonstrate how center field should be played.

He proceeded to go to center, stoop over, turned his back to the home plate and talk to the crowd, paying no attention to the batter. The first man hit a terrific line drive to right center. Shaefer could have reached it easily but never even turned. Cobb, coming over from right made one of the greatest catches I ever saw.

Then Schaef turned and bowed elaborately again and again. Later another batter hit one to left and the left fielder, Speaker, made almost as great a catch and Schaef turned, doffed his cap and bowed low.

Finally we got to bat. Schaef removed his cap, told them that he, the greatest batter in the world, would now oblige and that if anyone had any preference as to where he should bat the ball he would be glad to do it.

"Hit it into the left field seats," yelled one bug. Schaef bowed, stepped to the plate and banged the first ball pitched to the [illegible]

MAGNATES NOW LOOK AT FINANCIAL SIDE

Baseball No Longer Looked Upon as a Pastime—Results Must Be Shown.

New York, March 9.—The financial side of baseball promises to be one of the most important factors of the professional game during the coming season. Recent readjustments in the sport has confronted the magnates with problems which can only be answered at the expiration of the 1915 pennant race. Far from the least of these is the question of the players' salary. A large majority of the club owners in both major and minor league circuits are convinced that the limit has been reached in this direction and curtailment is necessary. Just how and when to put this economy into effect is a proposition over opinion.

Manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, has shown Spartan qualities by pruning his former world's championship team by sales and release until Coombs, Bender, Plank and Collins are no longer Athletics, and Baker's connection with the club is uncertain. President Edward Barrow, of the International league, has notified the various club owners in his circuit that reductions in player's salaries were in order. Other league executives and club owners favor similar moves but are deterred by long term contracts which cannot be violated. The move toward economy can be seen, however, in the unconditional release of players wherever possible. Not in many years has there been the number of unconditional releases recorded since the close of the 1914 season.

A prominent baseball official said recently that the average follower of the game did not realize the increased cost of the game due to the advancement in players' salaries. Various angles in the business side of the sport made it necessary, including the increasing popularity of basketball, independent opposition and the banding together of the players themselves. Looking at it in a broad minded manner, he said that there were conditions in the situation which warranted increases but in many cases increases were out of proportion to the services rendered.

It has been estimated that the average salary paid by major league clubs has been doubled in the last ten years. In the case of a majority of the players the increase is less than $700 a year, but the contracts of stars like Eddie Collins, Tris Speaker, Walter Johnson, Jake Daubert and Sam Crawford are figured in, the general advance reaches a surprising amount. The salary limit of the National league was $2,400 fifteen years ago. Today the salary of the mediocre player exceeds these figures and there is no limit to the stars.

Baseball authorities who have studied the situation carefully point out that under the conditions that prevailed in the early nineties a star infield and outfield contained such players as Delehanty, Lajoie, Cross, Flick and Thomas, could be secured for an annual outlay of approximately $17,000. Today a similar combination would require a yearly expenditure of five to seven times that amount. Yet the gate receipts prove that attendance has not increased in anything like the same ratio. Eddie Collins' acquisition and contract is said to represent an outlay of more than $100,000 during the next five years. A Chicago statistician has figured that he will have to draw well over a quarter million extra attendance to the White Sox park if he is to individually repay the investment.

FLOOD PREVENTION PLANS BEGIN SOON

Steps to Be Taken Under New Law Passed for Fort Wayne.

That plans for flood prevention in Fort Wayne would soon be set afoot here under the new law that was passed by the legislature for the special benefit of this city, was the statement of Mayor Hosey, father of the law, Tuesday morning. The first step will be to start a petition of some section that wants flood protection. This petition must contain the names of a majority of the freeholders of such section and it will be filed with the judge of the circuit court who, after ascertaining that it contains a majority of the freeholders, will issue, a decree establishing a drainage district. Then the board of county commissioners and the city board of public works become conjointly a drainage commission for the purpose of flood prevention. The law minutely defines all the procedures for taking flood prevention measures, the adoption of plans, the levying of assessments, the method of appeal and for the hearing of a portion of the burden, not exceeding 25 per cent., from the general funds of the city. Mayor Hosey set about to have this law framed and passed after it became evident that the general measure for flood prevention in Indiana, as prepared by Governor Ralston's state commission, was doomed to failure. Just as soon as the new measure can be thoroughly studied and its provisions construed the first steps will be taken and it is expected that there will be distinct results during the present year.

PLANS FOR COOMBS STREET.

Nickel Plate Has Plans for But One East End Grade Separation.

Through William F. Watterson, superintendent of the Fort Wayne division of the Nickel Plate railroad, and George E. Potter, division engineer for the same railway, Tuesday morning, was presented to the board of works the tentative plans for grade separation at Coombs street. No plans were offered for the separation of grades at Canal street, and it is not improbable that the project for track elevation at that point will be abandoned. Canal street is only about 450 feet east of Coombs street on the railroad, and after crossing the tracks leads to lowlands that are easily flooded, and ends at the bank of the Maumee river. It is not regarded as an essential improvement. The plans submitted provide for a bridge with a vertical clearance of twelve and one-half feet, two eighteen-foot roadways each side of the central supports and with seven-foot sidewalks on each side. To get the necessary vertical clearance without necessitating an undue depression of the grade of Coombs street the Nickel Plate will have to make a five-foot elevation of its tracks, a detail that will compel a change of the track grade for a distance of about 3,000 feet, beginning probably at Harmer street and ending at Hanover street. The plans have not yet been submitted to the general officials at Cleveland.

TO REPORT SMOKE ORDINANCE.

Chairman Jacob Hartman, of the council committee on rules, regulations and ordinances, will hand into the council Tuesday night a favorable report on the smoke ordinance that has been in the hands of the committee for many weeks. The ordinance will embrace a clause to permit black smoke to issue from chimneys and smokestacks eight minutes out of each hour. President W. A. Bayer, of the council, and members of the committee, observed a demonstration of a smoke consumer at the Fort Wayne Electric works Monday. The device prevents black smoke within a minute after each firing of the furnace and seven to eight firings per hour were stated to be the rule. This was made the basis of the provision in the ordinance.

MR. SINGREY RETURNS.

Frank E. Singrey, member of the board of public works, returned at noon Tuesday from Indianapolis, where he spent a week in the interest of legislative measures that affected Fort Wayne. He reported that the bill appropriating $8,000 to pay the state's share of paving State street along the school for feeble minded, and for building a sidewalk on the State street frontage had been passed. There was difficulty getting the measure through because the legislative committee on state institutions wanted assurance that a new bridge would be built at State street over the St. Joe river.

AGAIN AFTER PRETTY LIGHTS.

Resident property owners on Hoagland avenue between DeWald and Leith streets, have again asked the board of works to establish a system of ornamental lights on that portion of the thoroughfare. The matter has been under consideration for several months. That portion of Hoagland avenue is to be repaved this year and the property owners would like to have the system installed before the pavement is completed.

COURT HOLDS ETHER MARRIAGE INVALID

Marital Bonds Assumed by Woman from Hospital Bed Annulled.

That a marriage contract entered into by a woman while lying on a hospital bed under a partial influence of anesthetics is not valid and binding was the ruling made Tuesday in the circuit court by Judge Yaple, when he entered a decree annulling the marriage of Bernadette Herber to Howard Metcalfe. The complaint set forth that on May 13, 1911, while the plaintiff, Miss Herber, was in a hospital in Fort Wayne for an operation made necessary by a broken leg and was still under the influence of the anesthetics employed, she was besought by the defendant to submit to a marriage ceremony and did so. She alleged that her mental condition was perturbed, affected and rendered irresponsible by reason of the anesthetics and that during the whole of the ceremony of marriage her mind was blighted and confused so that she did not know what she was doing. It was also contended that she was not at the time competent to enter into such a contract and was incapable of consummating it. The court heard the testimony in support of the complaint and annulled the marriage. The couple separated January 20, this year.

Notes of the Courts.

Edna DeVilbiss Springer, guardian of Marion DeVilbiss, a minor, has petitioned the circuit court for permission to make a new investment of $1,250 of funds of the ward, now on deposit, and specifically asks to be allowed to invest the same stated in bonds of the Indianapolis stone road of this county, which pay interest of 4½ per cent. and not taxable.

The Webb Fuel company has brought suit in the superior court against William F. Hornberger to collect $300 on account.

Conrad Honeck, father and legal guardian of Conway Honeck, a small boy, has petitioned the circuit court for permission to use $75 to pay attorney's fees and $5 to pay a drug store bill on his ward's account. The boy was badly burned while playing about a vat of molten paving mixture and the Brooks Construction was sued for damages for carelessness. The case was settled in the circuit court a few days ago by the payment of $300.

In the superior court judgment for $128.69 has been rendered the plaintiff in the suit of Mendell Hurwitz vs. J. M. Steel, as principal, and B. S. Thompson, as surety.

Charles D. Nolan was appointed by the superior court to act as receiver for the Wayne Amusement company, following the filing of a suit by George E. McDonald against the concern, alleging that it is insolvent. The plaintiff is a stockholder. The Wayne Amusement company has been conducting a summer roof garden on the old Bank block, Main and Court streets, for the past three years.

NEW CORPORATION FORMED.

Articles of incorporation for the John C. Kreidt & company have been filed with County Recorder Hursh. The company has a capital stock of $10,000 and its object is to carry on the business of manufacturing, selling and installing of sheet metal products. The incorporators and directors are John C. Kreidt, Clement J. Freiburger and Ray Vordermark.

WAR HAS TAKEN HORSES.

The European war has made heavy draft on the supply of horses in Allen county, according to reports made to County Assessor William Eggeman by the township assessors and their deputies. The tax assessment officials say that after a week's labor they find that good horseflesh is scarce in the county.

Members of the advisory board of Monroe township are William Stephenson, Ben Clem and Joe Worry.

FAMOUS "WHENS"

the same manner. A favorite way of the defendants, he said, was to have a worker assaulted by a slugger, arrest both, then release the slugger, but hold the worker who had been assaulted.

Insults Offered Women.

Women workers at the polls, while not assaulted, were offered many insults, especially in the tenderloin district, Mr. Dailey said. In one of these districts, he said, "the good women who came to do the men's work were told by the gang to 'go and register like the other women in the district' if they intended to stay at that place."

After declaring that Roberts "not only compelled his city appointees to engage in wholesale election thefts, but demanded and obtained help in election frauds from every vicious line of business which a city can control." Mr. Dailey asserted that the saloons, dance halls, gambling houses and all resorts were permitted every illegal practice known.

In return for these privileges which the mayor extended, the district attorney continued, "one certain thing was demanded. The saloons and gambling house keepers, together with all their habitues and hangers-on, were required to participate in the election schemes of Mr. Roberts. He had his agents pass among them and tell each one just what he was to do."

Handling the Slush Fund.

In dealing with the slush fund, Mr. Daily produced a table showing just how much money was assessed by Roberts for registration and election purposes from saloonmen and resort keepers. "These men," Mr. Dailey asserted, "were given to understand that favors would be dealt out for contributions and that disfavor would follow refusal. They complied."

He declared that in some cases favors were given at the rate of $1 each. For example, he said, a man who had contributed $25 was to be granted twenty-five favors.

Assistant Chief of Police John Nugent, who has pleaded guilty, was Roberts' collector, Mr. Dailey told the jurors, adding that Chief Holler and Eli H. Redman, a defendant, who was declared elected judge in the November election, also collected part of the fund, which, he said, totalled about $6,000.

"Only $700 of this amount," said the district attorney, "was ever delivered by Roberts to the regular treasurer of the campaign fund, who had about $9,000."

How Funds Were Expended.

Mr. Dailey, at some length, told how these two funds were expended, largely, he said, in buying votes and paying repeaters on election day at the rate of $1 and $2 a vote. Mayor Roberts, the government counsel asserted, "called a meeting of his hand-picked election inspectors" and told them "that no one had a right to touch the voting machine except the inspectors and that when a man entered for viting the inspectors should do the work."

Roberts also demonstrated on a voting machine the manner in which a vote would not be registered, he declared. Often times on election day, Mr. Dailey continued, the inspectors would pull down the democratic lever, forcing the voter to vote that ticket. If the voters protested strongly enough the inspector would permit him to vote again, thus pairing the votes and neither would have any effect in the final count.

Put O. K. on Cards.

"The Roberts inspectors," Mr. Dailey asserted, "always stood in a position to see how a person voted and, if the voter, or rather repeater, voted right, communicated with the man on the outside, who handled the money." This communication, usually, Mr. Dailey said, was by means of cards on which the [illegible] and substituted brass checks. In this precinct, he added, 600 cards and checks were given out. "Some times," the district attorney continued, "the fellows who were repeated, forgot their fictitious names and addresses and had to exhibit the card provided the repeater by Comptroller Talbott in order to refresh his memory. Some fellows voted four, six or a dozen times; one man voted 21 times; another 22 times."

In order to vote so many times, Mr. Dailey said, the repeaters met in saloons, traded clothes and did other things to disguise themselves. He related the following example:

One Legged Repeater Busy.

"One of the fellows who was busy repeating in precinct A, Sixth ward, was a one legged colored man, who voted 8 times in the precinct; one time he came with a peg leg; another time he wore a cork leg, the third time without anything strapped to his leg, the fourth time an iron extension leg, and one time with one crutch, one time for the purpose of deception he wore glasses." The reports from the sixth ward were ordered held back, Mr. Dailey said, and continued: "Arrangements were made by which 100 or 200 votes were to be added to the democratic totals so that Eli Redman could be elected judge and all the rest of the ticket from congressman to the lowest candidate should receive a plurality. It was finally discovered that on the face of the returns each candidate had a sufficient number of votes to entitle him to office and so the additional votes were not added."

Election Board Did the Work.

Turning his attention to the Taylorville precinct, Mr. Dailey said: "So far as I know not a single repeater came to this precinct during the day—it was not necessary; the election board did the work in Taylorville, which repeaters were doing in other precincts. A list of cards bearing the names of the false registration was placed in the hands of the board. Without any one coming in to vote the clerks copied the false names upon the list of voters, just the same as if the voters had in fact appeared in person. We will be able to show that at least 137 of the false names prepared at police headquarters were copied upon the voters' lists and votes registered on the voting machine to correspond.

At this precinct men were beaten, shots were fired, but the voting proceeded as had been mapped out.

Mr. Dailey told of the attack on Wesley Mitchel, a worker at the polls and how, in defending himself, he had shot Peter Feiler, a deputy sheriff, who died a few days later. Mr. Dailey said proofs of the alleged repeating would be furnished the jury by a number of the men who participated in it. He had a large number of alleged false registrations which he said witnesses would identify. He added that the evidence would show that a number of these repeaters had voted over the objections of republican and women election workers. Many, who were opposed to Roberts, the district attorney said, were kept from voting in various ways, chiefly, however, by being told that their names had already been voted; if they persisted in their right, they were threatened with arrest.

Since the Investigation.

In concluding Mr. Dailey told of a number of things he said had taken place since the grand jury began the investigation. He said that Roberts was instrumental in getting bond for 18 men who had been arrested in Terre Haute in November to appear as witnesses, for fear they might "tell" something. He also related how an attempt was made to bribe Wesley Godfrey, who subsequently pleaded guilty, to leave the jurisdiction of the court. The haste with which Roberts tried to get a commission for Eli H. Redman, how a "gang" grand jury was summoned in Vigo county to interrogate witnesses who had appeared or were to appear before the federal grand jury and, how Charles Clogston, editor of a Terre Haute newspaper, was sent to jail for calling it "a gang grand jury" in his paper.

"During the session of the grand jury," Mr. Dailey said, "these defendants were very busy. Some of them detailed agents to follow the officers serving subpoenas to find out where [illegible]

In bringing his speech to a close, Mr. Dailey said:

"No attempt has been made to take up the testimony as it applies to each separate defendant. Enough has been stated to show the guilt of each. The evidence which will be introduced will demonstrate the guilt of each and every defendant. It will show that all were working together and towards a common end.

"Before closing, I should say that the defendants, in the execution of their fraudulent scheme, made extensive use of the United States mail."

WHEN COURT CONVENED.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—With the reading of the indictment and his speech, United States District Attorney Frank C. Dailey was expected to occupy most of the day at the trial of Mayor Donn M. Roberts and twenty-seven others charged with conspiracy to corrupt the election in Terre Haute on last November. Mr. Dudley's speech makes over 30,000 words.

submarines, will be denied the usual privileges of prisoners of war.

Press comment in Berlin indicates a feeling of optimism over the Near Eastern situation. The Turkish opinion that the Dardanelles are impregnable is being endorsed and papers express the belief that King Constantinople will hold Greece to a course of neutrality.

RUSSIANS REPORT SUCCESSES.

Petrograd, March 9.—Efforts to dislodge the right and left flank of the German forces operating in the Suwalki district of Northern Poland apparently are bringing some success, and only the German center, in the region of Simno, seems to be holding firm in possession of the positions recently gained in the advance from East Prussia. The German left flank is reported to have retired to positions in the region of Marianpol, Virzbalova and Eidtunen. The right flank, reports from the front say has retreated hastily ten miles from Grodno toward Augustowo through bogs and forests.

The retreat of the German right wing, which is now within eight miles of the frontier, is regarded as especially damaging to the Germans.

THE GERMAN STATEMENT.

Berlin, March 9.—The general staff of the German army today gave out a report of the progress of the war reading as follows:

"In the western arena of the war: In the hills of Lorette out troops have captured two more trenches from the French. They took [illegible]

ing at Souain has not yet come to an end. To the northeast of Lemesil the enemy, who had prepared to make an advance, was impeded by our artillery.

"In the Vosges the mist and snow render fighting difficult. The engagements to the west of Munster and to the north of Sennheim continue.

"In the eastern arena: East and south of Augustowo Russian attacks have failed with heavy losses to the enemy. A a point to the northeast of Lomza the enemy left 800 prisoners in our hands. To the northwest of Ostrolenko a battle has developed which is still going on. In engagements to the west and northwest of Przasnysz, which ended favorable to us, we took 3,000 prisoners. Russian attacks to the north of Rawa and to the northwest of Nowoeemiasto have proved ineffective. Seventeen hundred and fifty Russians were taken prisoners in these engagements."

go, but he was instructed to send a flag officer to take command. Admiral Fletcher will select the ships he will send and report later to the navy department.

President Wilson, describing the latest American representations today said Carranza had been called upon by the United States to take the necessary steps to protect foreigners in Mexico City and had been informed of what the Washington government had heard of conditions there and how seriously they seemed to be.

Always Subject to Discount.

When asked whether the United States had any new intentions in Mexico, the president reiterated that the government had represented its views on what appeared to be the situation in Mexico City. He added that in all such situations it was necessary to discount reports because he said, certain persons would like to have the United States intervene in Mexico, even if they had to manufacture the facts on which to base the intervention. When the president was asked if the latest note to Carranza was an ultimatum, he replied the administration did not issue any ultimatum but expressed its views and acted accordingly.

Speaking of conditions in the Mexican capital President Wilson spoke of the fear of outrage there being more pressing at present than any thing that had already occurred. The fear was that the city would be evacuated and left without protection. No request had come from any foreign government the president said, for action in Mexico although diplomatic representatives had expressed their anxiety over affairs in the southern republic. The president referred only briefly to the new naval movements, saying two battleships were going to Vera Cruz, preparatory to sending others home for repairs. At the navy department it has been said earlier that none of the ships at Vera Cruz would be relieved until conditions in Mexico had improved.

Under the order dispatched to Rear Admiral Fletcher, the ships going to Vera Cruz may be under command of Rear Admiral Mayo of the first division whose flagship is the Arkansas; Rear Admiral Boush, of the second division, whose flag is on the Utah; Rear Admiral Coffman, of the third division, whose flagship is the Virginia, or Rear Admiral McLean, commanding the fourth division, whose flag is on the Connecticut.

Duval West, representative of the president, who has been conferring with Gen. Villa and his subordinate generals is now on his way to Mexico City where he will make an investigation of conditions there.

SHOP AND RAIL ROAD NEWS

PRESIDENT KEARNEY ON INSPECTION TRIP

New Head of Wabash Will Start Over System Wednesday Morning.

Edward F. Kearney, president of the Wabash, will make his first trip in that capacity over the system this week. He will be accompanied by Receiver E. B. Pryor and the higher officials of the company. News from St. Louis concerning the trip is meagre. It simply states that the officials will start over the line Wednesday morning and will reach Detroit Thursday, going thence to Toledo. They will leave that city, the message states, Friday morning, but it does not give the destination of the party. From this meagre news the local Wabash officials are led to suppose that it is not the intention of President Kearney and party to stop here to inspect the property until after the visit to Detroit and Toledo. He will probably be here for that purpose Friday.

ADDRESSED THE FEDERATION.

Organizer for Women's League Here in Interest of Organization.

An interesting speaker at the meeting of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor last night was Mrs. Dianah Wolf, who is an organizer for the National Women's Trade Union League of America. She described the working conditions of women and the great need for further organization. Mrs. Wolf is here representing the order and its publication "Life and Labor." The scale of wages adopted by the painters and which will be presented to the Master Painters to sign this week was approved by the federation. The wage scale will cover the year beginning April 1. President Shaw announced the grievance committee which is as follows: Charles E. Redrup, chairman; William Stevens, C. W. Phelps, Joseph May and E. T. Drew. The new safety and sanitation committee is composed of W. C. Bowman, J. E. Wolfe, E. C. Daniels, E. M. Buchanan and Edward Miller.

The finance committee was to also have a meeting, but on account of the sickness of the chairman, R. H. Mauk, this part of the program was omitted. The program for the balance of the week included a noonday meeting at the Pennsylvania machine shop today and the initial meeting of the Bible class for men only at the Y. M. C. MAY HAVE DIED NATURALLY.

Engineer Rogers Believed to Have Been Dead When Wreck Occurred.

The funeral of James Rogers, the Wabash engineer who lost his life when his engine went off at a derail at Maumee last Saturday, will be held at Lafayette tomorrow morning, that city being his former home. It is believed by many of the railway men that Mr. Rogers had been attacked by apoplexy in the cab and was dead before his engine reached the derail. He was forty-two years old and unmarried and was known among his associates as "Big Jim."

EGGERS A BANK CASHIER.

The Daily Republican of Cape Girardeau, Mo., gives E. H. Eggers, a brother of Wabash Agent F. C. Eggers and for four years night baggagemaster for that company at Fort Wayne, the following complimentary notice:

"The success of the Appleton bank is largely due to the sagacity of its cashier, E. H. Eggers. His education was received in the parochial and public schools and in the Fort Wayne, Ind., Business college. He first took up the carpenter's trade and worked at that four years, when he became an employe of the Wabash railroad at Fort Wayne, Ind. Resigning that position after four years of service, he went to St. Louis and opened a retail grocery business, which he sold two years later to come to Appleton as cashier of the new bank in which he is a stockholder."

DALE TO PERE MARQUETTE.

Charles E. Dale, for a number of years connected with the supplies department of the Wabash, has tendered his resignation to become effective next Saturday. On March 15 Mr. Dale becomes chief clerk of the division storekeepers' office at Saginaw, Mich., of the Pere Marquette road. It is understood that the appointment was brought about through H. W. Hurst, several years ago division storekeeper of the Wabash at this point. Mr. Dale was at that time storekeeper at St. Thomas, which was included in Mr. Hurst's territory. Mr. Dale has been storeroom keeper for the past year. He will go to St. Thomas Saturday to see his brother, who is sick with typhoid fever, and go to Saginaw Monday.

OUT INSPECTING THE ROAD.

Supt. W. M. Wardrop and his staff officers are out on an inspection of the west end of the Pennsylvania today. Their special car was attached to passenger train No. 37 westbound this morning and will be a part of train No. 8 on the return trip this evening. Among those with Supt. Wardrop are Trainmaster C. L. Hamilton, Division Engineer Guy Scott, Road Foreman of Engines C. R. Colmey, Master Carpenter D. C. Zook, Chief Dispatcher H. E. Hart, Division Operator H. B. Reynolds, Capt. H. C. Stoll and others.

FINGER REMOVED AT KNUCKLE.

Otto Reichwage, the machinist, who was injured at the Electric works Saturday, did not stay at the hospital long. He merely remained long enough to have the injured finger amputated, when he went to his home on South Broadway. The bone of the second finger of the left hand was splintered between the knuckle and second joint when it was caught in the machine he was operating. He called at the dispensary yesterday to have the wounded hand dressed and said he was getting along nicely.

BOWLING CONGRESS RATES.

Agent F. C. Eggers, of the Wabash, was advised this morning that the company would make a special round trip rate of $9.80 to Peoria March 14 to 29, inclusive, on account of the annual American Bowling congress which will be held in that city this year. Last year nearly 100 Fort Wayne people attended the Bowling congress.

TONY GERARD GOES HOME.

A. J. Gerard, general yardmaster at Grand Rapids for the G. R. & I. road, has returned to that city. He had been spending a day or two with his mother, Mrs. A. Gerard, who is sick.

EAST ON BUSINESS.

Factory Superintendent E. A. Barnes and C. H. Matson, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, are in New York on business for the company. They left for that city Sunday evening.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

Dispatcher C. A. Sweeney, of the G. R. & I., is off duty on account of sickness.

John Marrs, of the punch department of the Electric works, is sick and off duty.

E. Spoor, Nickel Plate fireman, who had a hand injured, has taken a two weeks' layoff.

P. H. C. Remine, Wabash claim agent, was in the city yesterday on business for the company.

William Doell, janitor of the Wabash shops, was taken sick this morning and had to return to his home.

Mrs. E. P. Kahoe, wife of the Pennsylvania machinist, will go to Chicago tomorrow to visit friends.

E. L. Ensel, Wabash division storekeeper, went to St. Thomas, Ont., yesterday to look after business.

General Manager W. B. Wood, of the G. R. and I., passed through the city last night, en route to Pittsburg.

A. F. Alberts has taken a position in the office of the Engineering company, Winter street and Wabash railroad.

After a sickness of three days, W. Schible reported at the punch department of the Electric works for duty this morning.

J. S. Moran and J. H. Webber have returned from Toledo, where they were engaged several days in doing some work for the Wabash.

M. J. Crow, of the Pennsylvania erecting room, had a piece of steel to lodge in one of his eyes yesterday, making a most painful wound.

William Magnus, blacksmith's helper in the Wabash shops, returned to work yesterday after an absence of three weeks because of a sore eye.

Machinist Al Kissinger, for some time employed under Foreman W. H. Schultz at the Fort Wayne Electric works, has been transferred to the second story of the factory building and is now a member of the working force of Foreman William Wehrs.

F. A. Long, M. Simon and C. F. Lauer, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty. S. E. Claudy, who had been sick, resumed work this morning.

Daniel Davis, chemist at the Bass foundry, who went to Hope hospital Saturday suffering from a severe illness, is rapidly improving and will soon be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McElfatrick are preparing for a visit with his mother, who is very sick, at Indianapolis. Mr. McElfatrick is a Pennsylvania machinist.

Lee Shaffer was the name of the colored man found mixed up in the air-brake rigging of a Pennsylvania train at Dunkirk Sunday and instantly killed. He lived at Dunkirk.

Walter A. Barrett left yesterday for Columbus, O., on business for the Bass Foundry and Machine works. He will come home via Terre Haute, stopping there to look after some business also.

The mangled remains of a boy were found along the Nickel Plate Sunday afternoon near Melrose. Appearances were that the lad had come to his death by being struck by a Nickel Plate train.

Benjamin F. Ogden, a veteran of the civil war and one of the well known residents of the county, is quite sick at his home near Philley station, a short distance south of the city on the interurban line. Mr. Ogden is nearly eighty years old.

Friends yesterday received cards from J. L. Filler, night yardmaster of the Wabash railroad, and H. P. Sessler, switchman, indicating their safe arrival at Salida, Col. They have obtained thirty-day furloughs and will attend the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Machinist William Hanson, of the Pennsylvania shops, attended the funeral of his uncle, Edward Hanson, at Chicago this afternoon. The deceased was a retired business man and was quite well known in Fort Wayne through frequent visits to his relatives.

W. C. Mahrt is the division storekeeper at Saginaw now. He also is a former Fort Wayne man, going to Saginaw when H. W. Hurst was the division storekeeper at that point. When Mr. Hurst was promoted and transferred to Detroit, Mr. Mahrt, who was his chief clerk, became the division storekeeper.

The dead man found in the Calumet river, where he had fallen when a Pennsylvania train hit him last Sunday, has been identified as John Noback, a resident of Porter, Ind. Foul play is suspected because of the character of the wound in the head which caused death and the police are investigating the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Jeffries and two children, who had been visiting relatives in the city two or three days, returned to Decatur, Ill., their home, Sunday night. Scarlet fever was epidemic for several weeks in Decatur and the city was quarantined and none was permitted to depart or enter only under certain conditions. As a result Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries were unable to come here sooner. Quarantine was raised last week. Neither of their children were sick with the disease, however.

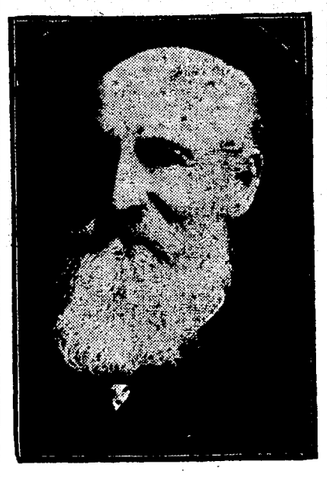
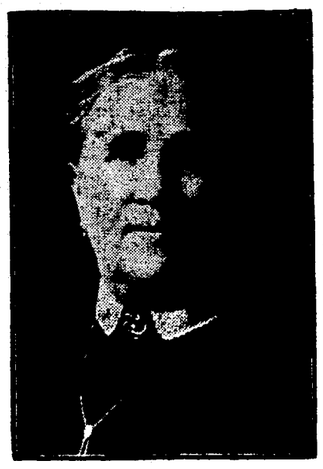
HAVE LIVED AT CORNER OF HANNA AND EAST LEWIS STREETS 53 YEARS.



O. E. BRADWAY.



MRS. O. E. BRADWAY.

Wednesday will mark the anniversary of two important epochs in the life of O. E. Bradway, the retired foreman of the Pennsylvania brass foundry. One is the eighty-first anniversary of his birth and the other is the fifty-third anniversary of the residence of his family at the present home, 626 East Lewis street. Mr. Bradway was born in Massachusetts March 10, 1834, where he lived until 1854, learning the brass moulding trade in the jobbing shop of his father in the meantime. His service with the Pennsylvania dates from March 30, 1857, when he moved to Crestline from Galion, O., where he had been working about three years at his trade. In those days the Crestline shops were small and Mr. Bradway and a helper comprised the entire force in the moulding department. March 10, 1858, on his twenty-fourth birthday anniversary, he was transferred to Fort Wayne. Here he worked as the "whole thing," being moulder, helper and furnace tender, until 1862, when the company permitted him to hire a man. Up to the latter date he had no regular shop, being shifted about in different parts of the plant, having foundry space at different times in the room over the old boiler shop, then in an open shed and then in a corner of the copper shop. In 1872 a regularly equipped foundry was established in a brick building located on grounds which are now covered by the big erecting shop. September 22, 1899, the foundry department was moved to Allegheny and Mr. Bradway was appointed foreman of the plant in that city. He did not take his family there, however, and during the five or six years he was thus engaged, he came to Fort Wayne every Saturday night to see his family, returning to Allegheny Sunday night. He was pensioned April 1, 1904, after having worked forty-seven continuous years for the company. His retirement was greatly regretted by the men over whom he had jurisdiction, as well as by the other shopmen with whom he came in touch. As a token of the esteem in which he was held by them, the men presented Mr. Bradway with a purse sufficient to purchase a horse and buggy, and soon after "Topsy," a quiet and perfectly safe animal, appeared on the scene and pulled the surrey which carried Mr. and Mrs. Bradway over the streets of Fort Wayne for a number of years.

Mr. Bradway, before taking charge of the shops at Crestline, took quite an interest in business projects in Fort Wayne. He was one of the organizers of the Fort Wayne Loan association and served several years as president and director of the association. This was one of the first organizations of its kind in Fort Wayne. It was absorbed by the People's Trust company when that financial organization came into existence.

A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. Bradway celebrated the golden anniversary of their marriage, which was one of the big social events of the season. Despite their age, each is quite active and they find time to make frequent visits with their daughter, Mrs. L. C. Schroeder, who resides many blocks from their home, and with intimate friends in other parts of Fort Wayne. They were parents of two children—Mrs. Schroeder, of Broadway, and Mrs. Jay Starr, who died twenty-eight years ago. Mr. Star, who was a conductor on the Pennsylvania road, also died several years ago.

Mr. Bradway is a law-abiding citizen and believes in observing the municipal as well as the state and national laws. One which receives prompt attention is the ordinance requiring the property owners to remove snow from the sidewalks about their premises and he is out early after each storm with broom and scoop, and no walks are freer from snow and ice than those at the southeast corner of Hanna and East Lewis streets.

ONE-THIRD OF POPULATION.

Bob Jones Converts 2,000 Hartford City People in Revival.

Hartford City, Ind., March 9.—This city remains astir with the ferver of the Bob Jones evangelistic meetings, which closed Sunday night after a remarkable campaign of four weeks, with a record of 2,000 conversions—one-third of the total population of the place. The evangelist received a free-will offering of $2,500 for his services here and has gone with his party to Indianapolis for a week's rest before opening a similar gospel campaign in Crawfordsville. When the meetings opened in Hartford City 1,000 was set as the high mark for conversions. But this number was doubled and the whole city feels the influence of the campaign.

Joseph Sorg was operated on Tuesday at his home on Montgomery street and late reports were to the effect that he was getting along as well as could be expected.

MANUFACTURERS ARE SOON TO BE COUNTED

Census Men Include All Whose Investment is $500 or Over.

J. G. Casey, representing the bureau of the census of the United States department of commerce, is in Fort Wayne making preparations for taking the manufacturing census of this district. In Fort Wayne Mr. Casey will be assisted by Otto W. Koenig, of this city, and Ima Smith, of Angola.

The industrial statistics which are to be gathered are of all manufacturing establishments with a capital investment, owned and borrowed, of over $500. Factories, mills and shops of all character that manufacture in any way whatever which were in business at the close of 1914 come under the ruling. The statistics may pertain to the business year that most nearly conforms to the calendar year and it is obligatory upon all to furnish the required data.

The work is being done for the census department only. All returns will be strictly confidential and none but the sworn employes of the department may examine these reports.

Work Is Comprehensive.

The work is extremely exhaustive and comprehensive in character and the officials of the commerce department expect to devote several weeks to the Fort Wayne district. Reports as returned by different manufacturers will be accepted without question as the work undertaken is not of the nature of office inspection, but purely for census purposes.

Among the questions are the following: Character of the organization, individual or partnership, whether incorporated or not, or whether the business is co-operative, the amount of capital invested, the amount of salaried and wage-earning employes, time in operation, rent and taxes, materials and supplies, costs, value of products, work performed for the year, fuel and power.

You still have until Saturday night, March 13, in which to profit by Foster's great sale of Furniture, Rugs and Carpets.

The Lady Maccabees of Kekionga hive will give their fourth annual dance and card party Wednesday evening at the Casino dancing academy.

Almost over — Foster's great "Buy It Now" sale.

A TRIFLING OVERSIGHT.

"What, here we are half way there and I've got to run back for your calling cards?"

"Well, don't be provoked, George, you know how seldom I forget anything. And while you're there, wind the clock, set out the milk bottle, throw a cloth over the canary's cage and see if the gas stove is turned off."

The Question Before Us Is--

What importance—if any—is there in the Mineral Content of food?

Listen, then, to a well-known physician:—

"Unfortunately for the well-being and health of the individual and the human race, the manufacture of foods has been tending more and more to isolation of chemical entities; and our modern methods of 'refining,' 'purifying' and 'improving' the foods which Nature so abundantly furnishes, deprive the natural, wholesome food products of most of their mineral constituents and thereby reduce their real food values to a minimum.'

"The human organism receives but a small fraction of the nutritive minerals which Nature evidently intended it to have, and the inevitable result is Mineral Starvation and its dire consequences in the shape of Malnutrition, General Debility, Anemia, Indigestion, Tuberculosis, Rachitis, Gout, Carcinoma, Diabetes, Nephritis, Decayed Teeth, and other modern diseases."

The recognition of these facts led, about twenty years ago, to the perfecting of a food extraordinarily rich in those "mineral constituents" mentioned above, and which are so necessary for proper growth and maintenance of body, nerves and brain.

That food is

Grape-Nuts

—a food containing all the nutriment of wheat and barley, including the priceless phosphorus, iron, lime, sulphur, etc., of these grains.

Easy of digestion, nourishing, economical, delicious—this food, as a part of the daily ration, has proved its worth to thousands.

STATES HAVE SPENT OVER $200,000,000

Financial Aid Given Highway Construction Foots Up Strongly.

Washington, March 7.—More than two hundred million dollars of state appropriations have been expended to January 1, 1915, and an approximate total of 31,000 miles of surfaced highways constructed under state supervision since the inauguration of the policy known as "State Aid," according to the Good Roads Year Book for 1915 to be issued in March by the American Highway association from its Washington office. Only seven states, namely Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas, have no form of state highway department whatever, although Georgia grants aid to the counties for road improvement by lending the services of the entire male state convict force. Legislatures now in session are devoting much attention to road legislation and unquestionably several new highway departments will result. North Carolina will probably establish an independent highway department in lieu of the work now done by the state geological survey relating to highways.

New Jersey, in 1891, was the pioneer state in providing state aid for public highways. Massachusetts and Connecticut adopted the policy shortly after, but only during the past ten years has the state aid policy been in effect on a considerable scale. About 5,000 miles of state highways were completed in 1913 and about 6,000 miles in 1914, so that the past two years have been responsible for more than a third of the entire state highway mileage. The state highways in America now exceed by 6,000 miles the national road system of France.

To have state highway departments placed under non-partisan, efficient control; skilled supervision required in all construction work; a proper classification of highways to insure intelligent distribution of improvements; an adequate provision for maintenance of highways from the day of their completion——these are among the objects for which the American Highway association is waging a vigorous campaign.

Stay Fat; It's Secret of Youth, She Says

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 3.—Trixie Friganza, who says funny things from the stage, is a brave woman. She's fat—and publishes the fact broadcast without a sigh. Moreover she's happy, ascribing that also to her avoirdupois.

"I'm not joking now," said Trixie here recently, "and I want to tell all the women that THE GAME OF GETTING THIN IS NOT WORTH THE CANDLE!

"Keep fat and you'll keep young and good looking. Try to force yourself to thinness when you were meant to be fat and you'll soon look about 20 years older than you are."

Trixie Friganza believes so thoroughly in this advice that she worried considerably not long ago when her weight began to decrease of its own record. What did she do?

Went on a diet—TO GET FAT AGAIN!

REMARKABLE RISE OF BOY WANDERER

Youth Goes from Dishwasher to a Prize University Student.

Seattle, Wash., March 9.—A runaway from home, a cabin boy on a French windjammer, a deserter, a dishwasher, and now prize scholar at the University of Washington—this tells the story of the life of Anthony Corbierre, a student in the department of journalism.

Corbierre's father is commander of the French warship Durand, now guarding the entrance to the Dardanelles, in the Mediterranean sea. He doesn't know his son is garnering scholastic honors in a foreign land. To all intents and purposes the boy may be wandering around aimlessly, perhaps dead, instead of making a record with his instructors at a university, one of the brightest of any army of youths.

Six years ago Corbierre was a cabin boy on a merchantman, which lay off Seattle. He was sixteen then, couldn't write or read English and couldn't speak it except for a few oaths which fellow sailors had taught him. The captain of the ship developed a grudge against Tony, the cabin boy, and during the stay of the ship on Puget sound stabbed him in the hip.

At Tacoma Tony tried to run away. He was caught each time and brought back to the ship. When the ship reached Seattle to take on the balance of her cargo for Europe Tony slipped over the side of the vessel one night and swam ashore. The ship sailed and Tony remained in a strange land, among strange people.

Washing dishes was the first employment he obtained. He got the job through an employment agency and immediately went to Kapowsin, near Tacoma. There Tony had his first experience of attending school. After two years he graduated from the grammar school, a task to which the average American boy or girl gives eight years. He completed his high school course in three years, and entered the university last fall.

JAMES NEVER CAME HOME IN 57 YEARS

Romance of Ante-Bellum Days Recalled in Suit Just Filed.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 9.—A romance of the ante-bellum days, away back in 1857, all these years has remained dormant within the shadow of Pittsburgh, known only to the principals of the oldentime courtship, now to burst from its half-century of slumber into all notoriety of the domestic relations court. To have lived devotedly for fifty-eight years, waiting for the return of the bridegroom of her youth, whose wife she says she became in a little Ohio village, and finally, at the age of eighty-five, to have her husband haled into court on a charge of desertion and non-support is the life story in brief of Nancy Bevington, her maiden name, of Bevington, near Burgettstown, Pa.

James Conkle, aged eighty-two, of Pittsburgh, does not contend that for the past fifty-eight years he has lived in the daily thought of one woman. In fact he married twice since he met Miss Bevington, once in 1862, that wife dying within eight months, and again in 1866, when he married a Miss McKaig, of Pittsburgh, by whom he had six sons, the oldest of whom now is forty-five years of age. He declares that he is not guilty of non-support and desertion of the woman who is suing him because he never married her legally. He says he was invited to her home by her brother, in 1857, that he found a justice of the peace waiting, that the latter pronounced him and Miss Bevington man and wife, and that he exclaimed, "We are not man and wife," and left town the next day for West Virginia. Not until 1892, he says did Miss Bevington get in touch with him, and then he did not acknowledge her as his wife. The case will be heard on March 11. Walter J. Dipple and Luther W. Mendenhall are counsel for the defendant and Harry Weisberger is the plaintiff's attorney.

New York, March 9.—No handsomer young woman has been seen on the New York stage this season than Miss Phyllis Neilson-Terry, who is taking her second fling at the metropolitan public.

The first fling was no longer ago than Christmas, when the noted English star appeared in "Twelfth Night" under the management of Liebler and Company. Her run was short. Shakespeare doesn't "get over" these days as a writer of his talents ought to, and the failure of the Liebler management also happened soon after Miss Neilson-Terry's arrival, so that for some weeks she had nothing to do but admire the tall buildings and look in the Fifth avenue windows.

Then along came Joseph Brooks, and decided to give the English actress a chance in something more up-to-date than Shakespeare. Brooks got as far along as 1897 and Anthony Hope, his production, in which Miss Neilson-Terry has made her second debut at the Eliott theater, being "The Adventure of Lady Ursula," in which E. H. Sothern and Virginia Harned appeared here seventeen years ago.

For two of the four acts the star masquerades in male attire, and her art is at its best during this part of the play. But always she is very beautiful, because she cannot possibly help being so, and throughout her acting is marked with the lightness of touch, the mingled delicacy and humor which won her much praise during her brief portrayal of "Viola."

Montague Love is excellent as the backward bachelor whom Lady Ursula wins against his will, and the supporting cast all that could be desired.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated give "California Syrup of Figs."

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

I know that I'm missing no jokes.

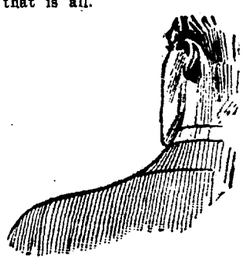
There Is a "Hang"

YES, there is a "hang" about our hand-tailored suits which you have never seen equalled. Such a dash about them that you want to look at them twice.

No wonder, when every suit that we measure for is designed and made by men who know just what your individual requirements are. They are paid to see that your clothes look right. That is one of the big reasons why our suits must always fit. It fits or you don't take it—that is all.



THE NECK

No bunching up. The collar of our hand-tailored coat does not hunch up to your hair and there is no wrinkle in it. The secret is in the knack of making, known only by the inside "big ones" who superintend the production of our suits.

THE SHOULDERS

The shoulder lies in a graceful curve from the neck. This curve continues without a break to the sleeve. There are no mistakes in the shoulders of our clothes.

A Big Thing

It is a big thing for us to be able to make such unqualified announcements as to fit and fabrics. It means a lot to us, but we believe it means more to you who are really thinking about buying a spring suit right now.

Great artists in clothes making have complimented us many times on the distinction of our clothes. Many customers from other cities come to us. And, really, is there any reason why as fine clothes can't be had here as well as any other place on earth?

Your suit or topcoat finished and delivered before Easter. A fit guaranteed or we won't let you keep the suit

GAYNOR CLUB DONATES TO THE MISSION FUND

Subscriptions for This Purpose Now Pass the $9,500 Mark.

The Gaynor club, a singing society composed of teachers of the public schools, who studied Mrs. Gaynor's works, through its treasurer, Prof. William Miles, director of music in the public schools, sent a donation of $53.43 to the treasurer of the committee which is getting in subscriptions for the new mission which will be situated in the old Arlington hotel.

The society gave a concert two years ago and cleared over fifty dollars and at a recent meeting of the club decided that their treasurer should give this amount for some benevolent purpose and acting under this decision he donated it to the mission fund.

This donation besides a subscription of $300 from Wolf & Dessauer, and one from E. G. Hoffman for $108, has raised the amount subscribed to over $9,500. The committee states that they expect to have the entire amount of $15,000 subscribed within the next two weeks.

Although members of the committee have been busily engaged with their own work within the last week and have had no spare time to go out and get subscriptions, sums of various sizes have been sent in by business men, showing that they are heartily in favor of the great work.

MANY CLAIMANTS FOR A HEART

Says Rev. C. Burnett at Bible Training School.

In his sermon Monday evening at the Bible Training school, Rev. Christopher Burnett, of Detroit, made the statement in speaking on the subject, "My Son, Give Me Thine Heart," that there are many claimants for one's heart.

Among other things he said: "The heart in the scriptures, both in the Old and New Testament, means not merely the physical heart, but rather the personality, intelligence, emotions and will. It is the part of man that satan does not want to see surrendered to God. Satan knows how to attack us; he knows how to capture the heart."

Trades Union Head's Message to Workers

Mrs. R Robins

"The danger of women being used as underbidders in industrial trades must be squarely faced. There is only one woman worker who will refuse to take a man's place at lower wages. She is the trade union woman." This is the message Mrs. Raymond Robbins, president of the National Woman's Trade Union league, sends to women workers throughout the country.

When the league meets in national convention in New York next June it will consider the subject of the woman who underbids and thereby lowers the wages of organized men and women.

AMERICA GETS FOUR FULL ADMIRALS—FIRST SERIOUS STEP TO BIGGER NAVY.

Rear Adm. Howard

©HARRIS & EWING

Rear Adm. Fletcher

America begins to respond to the spreading sentiment in favor of "the biggest navy."

Congress, recording this popular force, has just authorized President Wilson to increase the number of our commanding admirals, adding three supreme heads, with power exactly equalling that now enjoyed only by Admiral Dewey.

The three rear admirals whom the president will appoint to join the hero of Manila bay in controlling our naval destinies are:

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic fleet.

Rear Admiral Thomas B. Howard, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet.

Rear Admiral Walter C. Cowles, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

Rear Admiral Fletcher is the officer who was in charge of the Mexican situation at Vera Cruz, and he, particularly, it is considered, has earned his promotion.

In explaining the change in the organization of the navy's personnel, Secretary of the Navy Daniels says:

"For a long time it has been felt when ever there were any joint ceremonies [illegible] navy and of other countries that the American navy has not had the position to which it is entitled, because other countries, some with much smaller navies, have given higher rank to the commanding officers.

"We have now in the American navy in command of fleets no admiral. The admiral we have is Admiral Dewey, who is at the head of the general board and does not go to sea. The conference committee has agreed upon a provision which will remove this handicap [illegible]

FILMLAND STARS SHOULD FORECAST THE FASHIONS, SHE SAYS.

Margarita Fischer has wonderfully expressive features, her large black eyes tell the story of the deepest and lightest of emotions with the power of a thousand voices. But she doesn't seem to think that that is enough to make her a great success in the movies.

Miss Fischer believes that every good motion picture actress is entitled to a big salary and argues that a conscientious one puts a big part of her salary back into the business in the way of good clothes.

"When a picture is put on with the leading woman in inexpensive clothes, it hurts the firm that puts out the photoplay," says Miss Fischer. "I think a movie actress' gowns should be so far in advance of the styles that they act as a fashion forecast."

Announcing The LYRACHORD SYMPHONIA

Upright piano, player-piano, pipe-organ, orchestra---may be played by hand, by treadles or by electric power

THE Lyrachord-Symphonia is founded on a principle entirely distinctive in music. Electricity is employed to vibrate the strings of the piano, thus producing orchestral, pipe organ and vox humana effects, actually combining five superb instruments in one—the Piano, Player-Piano, Electric Player-Piano, Lyrachord Piano and Lyrachord Player.

From an artistic and educational point of view the Lyrachord-Symphonia affords an interesting prophecy. That it will quicken the appreciation and comprehension of organ tones and orchestral beauties in the minds and emotions of the musically unskilled, much as the player-piano has served to enlighten the world to the works of the great masters, there is every reason to believe.

The Lyrachord-Symphonia is instantly adaptable to any one of its five phases—indeed it may be transformed from the Piano Symphonia to the Lyrachord-Smyphonia by the pressure of a button (or vice versa) during a hand played rendition or while playing with the aid of the music roll.

Shading and expression possibilities of the organ tones are practically unlimited, with reserve power and carrying qualities sufficient for an auditorium of goodly proportions. Thus, while the Lyrachord-Symphonia is distinctively an instrument for the home, it is splendidly adaptable for chapel and auditorium purposes.

Informal demonstrations at any hour.

The price of the Lyrachord-Symphonia is $1,000.00. Liberal payment terms.

SURPRISED PERFECT NEST OF RUSSIANS

German Soldier in Patrolling Party Has Unique Experience.

Berlin, Feb. 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—A soldier's letter from the eastern frontier describes an effort of a patrolling party to discover whether there were any Russians in a forest in front of the German position. With fixed bayonets a handful of men crept at night through the woodland, thrusting the steel into every thick bush, or throwing a flare of light into them from their pocket lamps.

They found no "game" and were emerging from the forest at the point where they had entered it, when suddenly they saw a Russian sentinel before them in heavy fur-coat and cap. He was fast asleep. Taking up the narrative hero, the letter reads:

"F——seized the Russian by the lapel of his coat and swore at him in Polish, Russian and German. 'Hands up', we demanded, and he did it. One of us watched over him while others made an examination of the surroundings. We found a cave, such as we build for our sentries. We jabbed our bayonets into the straw around the entrance. A 'noncom', after removing the rifles which the unsuspecting Russians had stacked near the entrance threw a light into the cave and swore frightfully. Out of the dark came creeping a dozen members of the 162nd Russian landwehr Tartars, Mohammedans, and men from Kasan. At the point of our bayonets they dropped to their knees.

"But suddenly we discovered we were being fired upon, by another group of Russians nearby, whose presence we had not suspected. Driving our prisoners before us, we started out of the woods to cross an open meadow back to our lines. There was a whizzing of bullets about our ears. There could be no thought of trying to defend ourselves. Only six of our prisoners could we keep with us. When we finally reached our lines, we discovered from the men we had taken that the place we had tackled was not a sentry post, as we had thought, but a protected position with trenches and loopholes; and there were thirty Russians against us five with two other Russian trenches close by. It was a lucky escape for us to have discharged our task and get away with our prisoners. We did not fire one shot. Our captain gave us five dollars. I send my one herewith to our little 'war daughter', because it was earned without bloodshed."

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Adv.

WHEAT AGAIN JUMPS INTO THE LIMELIGHT

With prices on wheat hovering around $1.28 a bushel Monday afternoon, and nothing startling occurring at any of the markets, wheat has again jumped into the limelight by making an advance of 8c a bushel in price. For the past week the price has been descending and the markets seemed to be dull but a change was noted at the close of the market Monday, and Tuesday morning it opened with a rush. Twelfth district prices were advanced to $1.36, while millers quoted $1.30, $1.36 and $1.40.

The jump upward came very suddenly and unexpectedly, and caused considerable commotion in the big grain centers. How long the market will hold this way or what kind of a turn it will take next can only be guessed at.

The usual spring rush has opened at the city scales and the scalemaster was kept jumping Tuesday morning accommodating the farmers who had lined up to have their loads of produce weighed. In all 57 loads of hay and grain were weighed.

All other markets remained steady and no change in prices were quoted. The egg market was a trifle weaker and the wholesale quotation has been cut down to 18c.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 9.—Bullish views of the government report on farm reserves brought about a rush of buying in the wheat market and carried prices sharply higher. The opening, which ranged from ⅝c to 2¾c higher, was followed by a decided further advance and then a moderate reaction.

Corn developed some firmness owing to the strength of wheat. After obening a shade to ¼@⅜c up, the market receded but only to a slight extent.

Oats responded to reports of intended big shipments from New York. Besides country offerings were small.

Provisions eased off with hogs. Selling, though, was scattered.

Quoted values soon fell under their best, Southern Pacific losing about a point by reason of the company's extensive interests in Mexico. Canadian Pacific and Lehigh Valley displayed marked heaviness and Chesapeake & Ohio was lower on rumors of new financing. Bonds were irregular.

SCIENTIFIC CODE STIRS SUSPICION

Naples, March 9.—Frank Alvord Perret, of New York, assistant director of the Royal observatory on Mount Vesuvius, is a member of the volcanological institute founded by Prof. Friedlander, of Berlin, who also is president of the organization. Recently Prof. Perret had occasion to communicate with Prof. Friendlander on volcanic activities and he write his message in the code of the institute and sent it, addressed to Berlin to the telegraph office. This gave rise to suspicion on the part of the Italian authorities that Prof. Perret was engaged in espionage. The message was stopped and an investigation quietly made. When the facts had been ascertained Prof. Perret was rehabilitated and the scientific telegram was allowed to go forward.

PLAN TO ELIMINATE ALL SHERIFF FEES

Bill Introduced to Make Office Salaried One in New York.

New York, March 9.—Sheriff Griffenhagen, of New York county, is on record in favor of the provisions of the bill now before the legislature at Albany reducing the sheriff's office in all New York state counties from a fee office to a salaried office, on the ground that under the present fee system gross injustices are possible, and in some cases unavoidable, and that in all cases the resultant gross income from the office under the fee system out of all proportion to the services rendered by the incumbent.

Mr. Griffenhagen has stated that outside his salary of $12,000 he last year received $45,147 as his 50 per cent share of the fees of the office, and that his predecessor in two years had from the same source $98,769, that the two incumbents of the office before that had $95,623 and $92,253 in the two years respectively, and that in his belief these additional rewards are wholly out of reason. He therefore proposes that the office be made wholly a salary office, and that the salary be fixed at not more than $15,000 per annum for this county. Commissioner of Accounts Wallenstein, who has recently conducted an investigation of the sheriff's office, is of the opinion that this amount is sufficient return for the services required of the sheriff.

GAY DAYS OF OLD BACK TO RENO, NEV.

Restoring Easy Divorce Law Makes Business Men Cheer Up.

Reno, Nev., March 9.—Prosperous times are in sight for Reno again, for the legislature has passed the bill restoring the old "easy" divorce law, and business men are preparing to entertain as of yore wealthy visitors who are willing to spend six gay months in Reno for the sake of freedom from the marriage bonds.

It was a little more than a year ago that another law put Reno out of the for the saks of freedom from the marriage business, and the once gay and prosperous city is just beginning to feel the real sting of the blow. That law except in the state for divorce seekers from six months to a year.

Divorces are as easy to get as ever in Nevada under the new law, but it's such a wearisome wait. And eastern visitors in a hurry for marital freedom don't like to wait.

Six Months of Pleasure.

Time was when one could spend six breezy months in Reno and scarcely count the days. There were mountain trails to explore on horseback or afoot; there were mountain trout streams to explore with rod and reel. The hotels were good; the restaurants were even better.

There was a big town theater where on occasion one could see real stage notables, dropped in for a night to break the tedium of the long jump from Chicago to San Francisco and to pick up the several thousand dollars at $3 a seat. There were taxicabs and trolley cars and fashionable shops and a big university, to say nothing of very lively society.

PROTESTANT CHURCHES IN NEED OF PASTORS

49,000 More Churches Than Ministers Throughout Country.

New Yor, March 9.—A recent report that has been carried by the church press throughout the country says that there are 49,000 more Protestant churches than ministers. This does not mean so many churches without any ministry because of the fact that in many cases arrangements have been made for the serving of more than one church by the same minister, and yet the need for men in the ministry is being pointed out constantly and it is the one question which injects itself into every gathering of religious workers.

Forty-nine thousand one hundred and sixty-seven more Protestant churches than there are Protestant ministers in the United States is a situation that furnishes much food for thought. It points the way to consolidation of weak churches in some instances, and in others it means communities without the gospel ministry. It presents forcibly to the church the question of her own future, and makes insistent the consideration of the claims of the ministry by the young manhood of our churches. In the year 1911 the Presbyterian church, north, had 2,167 vacant pulpits out of a total of 10,510, that is, every fifth church in that denomination was pastorless. In the same year 1,000 out of the 6,000 Congregational churches were pastorless, or a proportion of one in six.

SPRAY YOUR TREES NOW!

If you would save your trees from utter destruction, by the San Jose scale, it is absolutely necessary for you to use some powerful solution that will kill the parasite.

The best time to do this effectively is both early in the Spring and late in the Fall, while the trees and shrubs are dormant.

The best known solution, according to the different state experimental stations, is the "Niagara" Soluble Sulphur Compound

It is from 8 to 10% more effective. It will keep in any climate. It dissolves readily in cold water. It sticks like paint. It improves the color of the fruit. It is much cheaper and a great deal more convenient to handle and apply than the ordinary lime-sulphur solution.

CARRANZA MAKES DENIAL OF FOOD BAN BY OBREGON

FLETCHER SENDS TWO WARSHIPS TO MEXICO

BULLETIN.

Washington, March 9.—American Consul Silliman telegraphed from Vera Cruz today that he had been reliably informed that the evacuation of Mexico City by the forces of Gen Obregon began at 9 o'clock last night.

Washington, March 9.—General Carranza has made a preliminary reply to the American representations, denying, generally the existence of conditions in Mexico City which the United States has called upon him to improve. In a statement which was laid before President Wilson and the cabinet today the Mexican chief denied that Gen. Obregon, his commander in Mexico City, had prevented food from reaching the Mexican capital or that he had sent supplies away.

Carranza's oral statement was taken in official quarters to forecast the tenor of his formal answer which is being drafted. Generally, it was regarded in administration circles as favorable and an indication that Carranza would no longer approve any inconvenience to foreigners.

Warships Get Orders.

Meanwhile, however, orders went forward to Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the Atlantic fleet at Guantanamo, to send two more warships to Vera Cruz. The Washington and the Georgia were chosen.

The selection of ships was left to Admiral Fletcher and shortly after noon today he reported what orders he had given. The Washington is flagship of the cruiser squadron of the Atlantic fleet. She carries 41 officers and 902 men and is commanded by Commander Edward L. Beach. The Georgia is one of the first line battleships of the third division. She carries 49 officers and 864 men. The Washington is a little faster than the Georgia and both ships starting today should be at Vera Cruz by Thursday night.

Will Make Early Reply.

Carranza promised an early reply, Mr. Silliman reported. Elizo Arredondo, hitherto Washington representative of Carranza, and other advisers, were present during the conference. Mr. Silliman reported at length but officials did not disclose the contents of his message. It was believed however, that from the fact that Carranza denied the activity attributed to him by official reports to this government the Mexican chief would not approve any further inconvenience to foreigners.

Consul Silliman's dispatches from Vera Cruz saying the American note was formally presented to Carranza in person yesterday afternoon arrived just before the cabinet meeting today and were laid before President Wilson as the cabinet officers assembled. Some of the cabinet members felt encouraged in the belief that Carranza would give assurances of protection to foreigners and permit supplies to reach the Mexican capital and prevent a crisis.

WILSON AND DANIELS ACT.

Washington, March 9.—After a conference early today with President Wilson, Secretary Daniels ordered two battleships of the Atlantic fleet from Guantanamo to Vera Cruz as the latest move on the part of the American government in the Mexican crisis. This action officials said, would bring assurances from Gen. Carranza that conditions in Mexico City, which have become acute, would be ameliorated."

The sending of war vessels, followed vigorous representations to Gen. Carranza demanding prompt improvement in conditions as affecting foreigners and their respective interests in Mexico territory under his control. Failure to comply, he was warned, would be followed by such action as the American thought necessary to obtain the desired protection.

In diplomatic quarters the belief quite generally prevailed that the latest representations to Carranza were a clear implication to him that force might be employed unless conditions were bettered.

Much concern is felt among officials for the welfare of the 25,000 foreigners in Mexico City, 2,500 of them Americans, who are threatened with riots and famine in consequence of the announced intention of Gen. Carranza to order the evacuation of that city by Gen. Obregon's forces.

President Wilson said today that the latest note sent to Gen. Carranza called to his attention the serious situation reported to exist in Mexico City and called on him to protect foreigners in the capital. He added that evacuation of the city was the principal thing he feared.

Act While Awaiting Reply.

While awaiting an early reply to the representations to General Carranza to take steps to improve conditions in Mexico City, the administration today began taking steps to carry out what most of the foreign diplomatic corps here interprets as an entire change of attitude toward the whole Mexican situation.

Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the Atlantic fleet at Guantanamo, was ordered to send two battleships to Vera Cruz to strengthen the fleet of small craft already there, or gathering from nearby ports. The admiral himself, who commanded the force which took the town from Huerta last April, will not

Both Flanks in Northern Poland Dislodged, Says Russian Report.

FIGHTING IN THE EAST IS OBSTINATE

Turks Think Dardanelles Will Hold Against Allied Fleet.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

Both the right and left flanks of the German forces in northern Poland have been dislodged, Petrograd dispatches stated, from the positions they took upon the advance from east Prussia. The German right wing is said to have beaten a hasty retreat to within eight miles of the border. Today's official report from Berlin, however, states that the Russian offensive is being met successfully. Several Russian assaults in this region are said to have been repulsed.

The battle in Champagne has become less violent. Snow has interrupted fighting in the Vosges and elsewhere, and along the western front there is no great activity. The day's official reports from Berlin and Paris mention only local engagements of comparatively small importance.

It is claimed that the Russians have occupied important positions beyond the Tchoruk river, throwing back the Turks with heavy losses.

Although there is no direct evidence that Italy will depart from her policy of armed neutrality, Rome dispatches express the belief that the nation is on the eve of "great and decisive events."

London, March 9.—Obstinate fighting marks the battles along the eastern front in the continent, with the Germans slowly withdrawing from the river Nieman, in the direction of ther own east Prussian frontier. At the same time the new offensive movement against Warsaw and on the Pilica evidently has not yet developed into the great engagement which has been expected in this locality.

In the western arena of hostilities the only new feature has been the allied air attack on Ostend. In the Champagne region where the French have been assuming the offensive lately, a snow storm has given forced rest to the troops. It is not unwelcome for they have been almost constantly engaged for the past fortnight.

Judging from the statement made yesterday by the British admiralty it is apparent that only one merchantman, the Collier Ben Grove, has fallen a victim to the submarine blockade of the Germans since the 25th of February.

The first hint of British retaliation against the personnel of German submarine raiders, has been conveyed in an official statement that the officers and crew of the German under sea boat U-9 which fell a prey to a flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers, detailed to hunt for

District Attorney Uncovers Alleged Methods of Terre Haute Men Accused of Vote Frauds.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—United States District Attorney Frank C. Dailey in his opening statement today at the trial of Mayor Donn M. Roberts, of Terre Haute and the twenty-seven other defendants, who are charged with conspiracy to corrupt the election of Nov. 3, 1914, in Terre Haute, outlined the facts that the government expects to prove, and declared that Roberts was the head of the conspiracy and that he "ruled as a czar."

He told how the government contends the false registrations were made, of the alleged slugging and rough work at the polls and of the manner of collecting and the amount of the so-called "slush fund."

"Roberts gave orders and his henchmen obeyed without question," asserted the district attorney. "He had had long experience in the larceny of elections and he knew not only how it could be done, but upon whom he could rely to do it. He made his appointments of city employes largely upon their qualifications as election manipulators. Many of these employes are among the defendants in this case."

Still Talking at Noon.

District Attorney Dailey was still outlining the government's case when court was recessed at noon. Mr. Dailey frequently disagreed from his speech to assure the jury that his statements were not idle words, but absolute facts, to be borne out by ample evidence. During the course of his speech the district attorney intimated that many of the 88 who have pleaded guilty to the indictment will be witnesses for the government. One of the principal witnesses probably will be Joe Jeffers, notorious Terre Haute gunman.

Donn M. Roberts, mayor of Terre Haute, and one of the defendants, was again accompanied by his wife. Mr. Dailey frequently turned from the jury and faced the two but neither showed any emotion under the district attorney's fire. Mr. Dailey was to continue his speech when court reconvened at 2 o'clock.

About 2,000 false registrations were prepared at Terre Haute police headquarters by Chief of Police Edward Hiller, who pleaded guilty, at the direction of Roberts, Mr. Dailey told the jury.

How They Were Made.

He said that Roberts and Holler decided on the number of false registrations to make in each precinct and then set about manufacturing names by taking the Christian name from the forepart of the city directory and the surname from the back of the directory. These names were written on ordinary calling cards, he said, together with the number of the precinct in which the false name should be registered and the age of the person thus created. On registration day, Mr. Dailey declared, these cards were handed out in small bunches and when one ward was completed the men who were registering would move on to another ward, frequently hauled in city automobiles.

Mr. Dailey said these cards were then preserved until election day and handed out again to the men hired to do the illegal voting. Several hundred persons, he said, were also registered from the various saloons in precincts A, B and C, of the Sixth ward, which comprise the tenderloin district. Mr. Dailey asserted that the cards were in charge of E. E. Talbott, city comptroller, who is also a defendant, and who distributed them on election day.

Did Not Appear to Register.

While most of the false registering was done by men going from one place to another Mr. Dailey informed the jury that in the Taylorville precinct about 110 applications were sent to the registering board and entered without a single man appearing to register. A total of about 3,000 false registrations was made in Terre Haute, Mr. Dailey declared.

The district attorney told at great length of the means employed by the defendants to get men they could control on the election board in the various precincts. He said they defied injunctions and even drove away special deputies at the point of the revolver, in order to place the men they desired upon the boards. Another method, he said was to have the duly selected election officials arrested and held in the detention cell until the election was almost over. In one precinct, where Mr. Dailey said Roberts did not dare attempt gun play, a man, a relative of an official was placed, by forged petition, on the ballot as a candidate for constable, thus preventing by law the official serving on the election board. The candidate did not get a single vote. Workers, not in sympathy with Roberts and his following, the district attorney declared were kept away from the polls in much

Bridgeport, Conn., March 9.—Impressions of both feet of Mrs. Helen M. Angle taken on July 11, 1914, at police headquarters in Stamford were put in evidence today by the state, which is trying her for manslaughter in connection with the death of Waldo R. Ballou.

It is the intention of the prosecution, according to State Attorney Cummins, to show that the bloody barefoot prints found in the lower hall, also in Mrs. Angle's room on the third floor of the Rippowa building, correspond with the impressions of the defendant's feet and that bloody footprints were made by Mrs. Angle.

LOCAL OPTION LOOMS FOR NEW YORK CITY

New York, March 9.—Local option for New York city loomed up among the possibilities discussed at the city hall here today, where it was said unofficially that the present city administration would favor the passage of such legislation by the legislature.

While Mayor Mitchel refused to commit himself on the question, proponents of the law claimed his support. It was said that the sort of law wanted was one under which the city would be divided into districts in each of which the citizens could vote on excluding liquor from the district.

COLONEL NELSON IS SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Kansas City, Mo., March 9.—A change for the better in the condition of W. R. Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, who is critically ill at his home here, was announced by his physicians today.

Early in the day Mr. Nelson recovered consciousness and talked with Mrs Nelson and with his daughter, Mrs. Irwin R. Kirkwood. Later he gave directions for work on his farm at Grain Valley.

One of the attending physicians summarized the change by asserting there had been "a considerable rally, the mental condition is clear, but Mr. Nelson is still in quite a critical state."

SMOKELESS POWDER CONCERN DISSOLVES

Camden, N. J., March 9.—The stockholders of the International Smokeless Powder and Chemical company, at a meeting today, voted to dissolve the corporation. Since the company was formed the government has started manufacturing its own smokeless powder and there is, consequently, little demand for its product. The Dupont Powder company holds about 95 per cent. of the stock of the concern. The company is a $10,000,000 corporation, with its plant located at Perth Amboy, N. J. During the meeting a statement was made that the assets of the company are about $1,800,000.

WANTED HIS WIFE TO REALIZE ON POLICY

Los Angeles, Cal., March 9.—Letters left by John W. Reid, formerly general manager of the British Oil company, who jumped 150 feet to his death yesterday from the roof of a hotel here, show that he chose that means to assure his wife a competency through a $10,000 life insurance policy. For the record time, war had wrecked Reid financially, first the Mexican strife and then the European conflict having swept away his investments.

Before ending his life Reid telephoned his pastor saying, "Good bye. I'm going on a long journey." The minister asked him to abandon his intention but Reid declined to change his mind. Before taking the leap, Reid selected a coffin and a burial plot.

EVELYN NESBIT THAW MAY TAKE THE STAND

Likely to Be Witness for Husband in His Fight for Freedom.

New York, March 9.—The actual trial of Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, and five co-defendants for conspiring to effect Thaw's escape from the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan, was begun in the criminal branch of the supreme court here today. Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy outlined the case of the state, and several witnesses, who gave testimony of a technical nature were placed upon the stand to testify. Mr. Kennedy said it was the contention of the state that Thaw was insane at the time of his flight, that it would still constitute a menace to the public safety to allow him at large, but that notwithstanding these facts, he, was, by reason of his "peculiar form of insanity," competent to conspire to defeat the administration of justice.

None of the witnesses examined during the forenoon session was cross examined. The witnesses were a photographer, an engineer, the clerk of the court and an attendant from the Matteawan hospital. The court room was crowded and there were as many women as men in the seats.

Only once did Thaw endeavor to take any part in the selection of the jury. This was when he made a suggestion to one of his attorneys.

"I am well satisfied with the jury," said Thaw after court adjournment. "I think they are a fine lot of men. I would have been satisfied even with the one who said he knew friends of Stanford White. Give me a chance to prove that I'm sane; that's all I ask," he added.

It was announced today by an official of the district attorney's office that in all probability Evelyn Nesbit Thaw would appear as a witness in Thaw's behalf. In previous proceedings affecting Thaw's liberty, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has appeared against him. A week ago a process server from the district attorney's office called on Mrs. Thaw with a subpoena bidding her to appear at the trial for the prosecution. She was quoted as having said:

"I am tired of this case. I think Harry is being persecuted and if I take any interest whatever in it it will be to do what I can for him. I think he has been confined long enough, and if his lawyers want me I will do anything I can for him."

GOULDS ARE OUSTED FROM DIRECTORATE

Three Eliminated by Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain System.

St. Louis, March 9.—B. F. Bush, of St. Louis, today was elected chairman of the board of directors of the Missouri Pacific and of the St. Louis Iron Mountain and Southern railroads and also chairman of the executive committees of both roads. In these offices he replaces George J. Gould, who was eliminated from official capacity in the system at the annual meeting of the roads today. Mr. Bush was selected president of the combined system. The changes made today were considered as definitely marking the transfer of control of the principal part of the so-called Gould system from New York to St. Louis. Two vice presidents were eliminated and the three vice presidents in St. Louis in active management of the road, were re-elected.

The men re-elected vice presidents were: E. J. Pearson, in charge of operation; Jno. G. Drew, accounts; J. M. Johnson, traffic, and Finley J. Shepard, in charge of New York office. Kingdon Gould and Frank J. Gould were not re-elected vice presidents.

'CANDIDATES' WIVES ON THE JOB IN CHICAGO MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN.

The "pink tea" campaign for votes is on in Chicago. While the mayoralty candidates are making stump speeches in public, their wives are giving teas in their drawing rooms for women voters.

Mrs. William Hale Thompson, wife of the republican candidate for mayor, has made a few stump speeches, but most of her campaigning is done in the drawing room of her apartments in exclusive Sheridan Road. Mrs. Robert M. Sweitzer, wife of the democratic candidate—a home woman and the mother of three children, holds weekly gatherings in her home, and boosts her husband's candidacy at many teas and parties where women voters gather.

STILL AWAITING FINAL REPLIES.

Washington, March 9.—So far no final replies have been received from France and Great Britain to the inquiries of the United States as to the means the allies intend to pursue in holding up cargoes destined to their enemies. President Wilson said today he had been informed unofficially that the order in council was to have been issued by Great Britain yesterday.

SENATE SINGS THE DOXOLOGY

While House Winds Up in Maze of Parliamentary Entanglements.

LEGISLATURE OF 1915 AT AN END

Resume of the Work of the Indiana Lawmakers at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—Contrasting scenes marked the adjournment, sine die, of the two houses of the sixty-ninth general assembly at midnight last night. In the upper house a well ordered program was carried out, ending with the singing of the Doxology, while in the lower house somewhat embarrasing entanglements resulted from a motion being carried to adjourn at 9 o'clock in the evening.

After the early adjournment had been declared out of order by Speaker Bedwell upon examining the constitution, but not before the majority of the members had departed, including many of the out state members who left the city for their homes on early trains, the house went through the formality of being in session until a committee from the senate acted its further pleasure at the hour of midnight.

Old Customs Missing.

Throwing of books and parading about the halls—customs of years standing upon final adjournment of the house—were not indulged in last night. In fact, members of many years' experience in the lower house commented on the close being the quietest of any in their memory. In the senate business was transacted including the passage of a number of unimportant bills while Lieut. Governor O'Neill signed many bills, including the specific appropriation measure, in order that they might be sent to the governor's office. Gov. Ralston visited the senate late in the evening and then retired to his office where he remained until midnight examining bills. During the evening he sent a message to the house announcing he had signed two of the administration measures, one the workmen's compensation bill and the other the direct primary act.

Question Over Legality.

Question was raised over the legality of a resolution, amended by the house last night, instructing employees be paid full time. More than sixty employees worked throughout the session, while the records show they were employed from fifty-five to fifty-six days. Inasmuch as the resolution was not reconsidered in its amended form, members were informed that vouchers issued for pay, which did not bear the name of the speaker, would not be honored in the auditor of state's office. The state house was practically deserted today of legislators. The custodian and his assistants were busily engaged clearing away all evidence of the session while officers of the house and senate were beginning their work incidental to completing the journal records. Speaker Redwell and Lieut. Gov. O'Neill were at their offices during the day, straightening up their papers in anticipation of leaving within a few days for their homes.

The legislature kept within the appropriation of $115,000 for expenses of the session, according to announcements made by the presiding officers. The expense of the house amounted to approximately $63,000.

Barely Quorum There.

When the house assembled after 8:30 o'clock there was barely a quorum present, due to republican members remaining away. A report gained circulation that the democrats would attempt to rush through certain measures, including a so-called "felons relief measure." To forestall such action the republicans determined to break up a quorum, if necessary.

While a few members of the house remained until midnight, when the speaker officially adjourned the session, the members of the senate remained in a body, transacted considerable business and spent much time in making farewell speeches until the lieutenant governor's gavel brought the session to a close shortly after midnight, the clock having been stopped at 11:55 o'clock.

In making his farewell speech, Lieutenant Governor O'Neill referred to his experiences in the two sessions in which he presided over the upper house, and concluded by saying he had always tried to serve with the highest intentions and to the best of his ability. His nine-year-old son called the last roll call of the senators, after which the members sung the doxology.

Ralston Sends Messages.

During the evening Governor Ralston sent messages to the legislature announcing he had signed the workmen's compensation and the direct primary measures and several others of lesser importance. He vetoed two bills, one providing for payment of fees of witnesses summoned from one county to another to testify in grand jury proceedings. The governor refused to receive the Friend teachers' pension bill, it having reached his office after the time limit set for consideration of bills.

During the afternoon Vice President Marshall visited the two houses on invitation from the members. He made impromptu speeches, telling the members of the house "that if you had not done what the people sent you to do, you will hear from it. The voice of the people," he continued, "is always rampant and it does not hesitate to criticize and to censure."

Mr. Marshall's Address.

While addressing the senate the vice president complained of "too many laws being enacted simply to get them on the statute books." He said that if he had his way, "I would repeal nine-tenths of the laws now on the statute books and an attempt would then be made to enforce the remaining one-tenth."

Referring to the recent visits of prominent party leaders at Washington to this session of the legislature, Mr. Marshall said, "I understand you have had plenty of advice, and I am not going to attempt to say anything that will add to that which has already been told you. A legislature seems to me like a bad cold. Everybody always has a remedy to give you. The mistake is sometimes made in believing that Indiana is controlled by dishonest public officials. This may be the exception, but not the rule. My plea is not for larger statutory legislation, but rather for freedom of members of a legislature to have that constitutional freedom which is given them and which they have a right to enjoy. The trouble is that there are too many intellectual cowards in politics today."

Important Laws Enacted.

Among the important laws passed by the legislature in its sixty-day session were the following:

Workmen's compensation, administered by state commission, and providing for 55 per cent compensation.

Mediation and conciliation, authorizing arbitration of disputes between labor and capital.

Anti-lobby law, requiring registration of paid lobbyists.

INTERNAL CRISIS IN BULGARIA OVER WAR

London, March 9.—Bulgaria, considered the least likely of any of the Balkan nations now at peace to join the allies, is confronting an internal crisis over the question of peace or war. Reports reaching Paris state that Premier Radoslavoff has been overthrown by the king, Ferdinand, because he desired immediate action against Turkey. The plan of the premier and his followers as thus outlined, was to occupy Adrianople, provided Greece threw in her lot with the triple entente.

The course to be followed by Greece is still to be determined, although King Constantine's opposition to war is said to have the upper hand. The main argument advanced against joining with the allies is that an attack on Constantinople would weaken the military strength of Greece along the border of Bulgaria, which would be regarded as dangerous.

M. Zaimis requested by King Constantine to form a cabinet, has declined, and a member of the chamber of deputies, M. Gounarir, has undertaken the task.

Paris dispatches mention several warships not mentioned before as members of the allied fleet which is attacking the Dardanelles. As the strength of the British North sea fleet has apparently not been weakened the inference is drawn that Great Britain and France are bringing in for this service vessels from the far corners of the world, the tieing up of German shipping and the destruction of German warships on the high seas having made this possible.

The British admiralty places at fifteen the number of merchantmen sunk by German submarines from January 21 to March 3, out of a total of 8,734 sailings and arrivals at ports of the United Kingdom. This does not include the collier, Ben Grove, sunk on Sunday, which may have been torpedoed.

FAIRBANKS HAS A DEMOCRATIC BOOM

California Tosses Bouquet to Indiana Man at San Francisco.

San Francisco, March 9.—Friends of Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president, were congratulating him today on what they termed his "democratic boom for president in 1916." In an address given in connection with the dedication yesterday of Indiana's pavilion at the Panama-Pacific exposition William B. Lamar, who is the United States commissioner to the exposition, said:

"Indiana is still a pivotal state in the political scheme of the nation, and who can say but that the nation may again go to that state to select its leader in the person of Mr. Fairbanks in 1916? I am a southern democrat, but I know of nothing that would influence me more in deserting my party than to have the opportunity to cast a vote for the Indiana statesman for president."

GREECE TURNING TO AMERICA FOR WHEAT

Washington, March 9.—With the Russian wheat supply cut off by the closing of the Dardanelles, Greece has now turned to the United States and is now buying from this country 25,000 to 40,000 tons of wheat a month according to Consul General Widdell at Athens. The Hellenic government has taken the step with a view to keeping down food prices and checking speculation in food stuffs. In purchasing American wheat the government is acting through the national bank of Greece which in turn distributes it to the millers at lowest possible prices.

Consul Weddell reports that all negotiations for the purchase of American wheat are made at Athens, and advises American sellers wishing to enter the market to appoint a local agent to represent them.

ANNUAL INSPECTION BY AN ARMY OFFICER

Lieut. Philip Remington, U. S. A., of Indianapolis, Monday inspected the property, armory and the members of Company D, Third infantry, I. N. G., an ordeal that is gone through every year. The company made a most creditable showing and the inspector had little to complain of, notwithstanding the fact that a large number of the men were recruits who have been in the ranks but a few weeks.

The company assembled Monday night on the floor of the armory in field service uniforms, rifles and cartridge belts and then formed for inspection. The visiting officer, accompanied by Capt. J. E. Miller and Major Dreisbach, went through the inspection ceremony.

RIGID INQUIRY INTO FIRE AT SEA BEGINS

La Touraine Docks at Havre and Lands Passengers in Safety.

Havre, March 9.—A rigid inquiry already begun into all phases of the fire at sea, on board the French liner La Touraine, which was docked here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and landed safely all her passengers.

Admiral Charlier, of the ministry of marine, and Director Duorot, of the Compagnie Generale Trans-Atlantique, boarded the steamer upon her arrival and started the investigation at once.

The report of Admiral Charlier will be submitted to the government. The passengers apparently were none the worse for their thrilling experience. The fire, which was confined to one of the holds, was extinguished at midnight Sunday and the last stage of the voyage was completed without incident.

Life belts were distributed among the passengers and the boats were prepared for instant use as soon as the flames were discovered but at no time was there any real danger, according to a statement made by Captain Saussin, who declared the S. O. S. call for assistance was sent out merely as a measure of precaution. There was no disorder and no panic, he said, the passengers accepting the situation calmly in the belief that fire would be conquered and that other steamers would reply promptly to the wireless summons.

MAKES NEW EFFORT TO END OHIO STRIKE

Washington, March 9.—Secretary of Labor Wilson today called the leading officials of the United Mine Workers of America into conference to reconsider plans for the settlement of the eastern Ohio coal strike. Among those invited by the secretary were John P. White and Frank Hayes, president and vice president, respectively, of the organization, who have been representing the miners against the operators. While the secretary is deeply impressed with the seriousness of the controversy and is endeavoring to adjust the troubles he has not yet exhausted all the resources of his office. Until that has been done there will be no appeal to President Wilson, the secretary said.

DEATH OF LARWILL WOMAN.

Columbia City, Ind., March 9.—Mrs. Kate Mann, a resident of Larwill for the past twenty-six years, is dead at her home there at the age of 72 years, 9 months and 26 days. She had lived alone for several years and while not in the best of health for some time, she did not become very ill until a couple of weeks ago, at which time her niece, Mrs. John McCren, of Fort Wayne, came and nursed her until the end. The deceased was a daughter of Peter and Susan Trachsel and was born in Stark county, Ohio, May 9, 1842. She was married in the year 1867 to W. H. Mann and they moved to Upper Sandusky, Ohio, where they lived until twenty-six years ago when they moved to Larwill.

RECORD PRICE FOR WHITE OAKS.

Montpelier, Ind., March 9.—The highest price ever known to be paid for ten white oak trees in this or Wells county, was paid by D. A. Bryson, the hard wood lumber man of this city, to William Sharpe, residing east of the city, and they are ten of the best trees ever cut off of land in this community. This made a price of $50 a tree, and each tree made four logs. To show just how good they were, Mr. Bryson stated that the butt of the first log ran up to thirty-six inches, and the top of the third log was as much as twenty-seven to thirty-three inches. This gives an idea of the straightness of the trees and the evenness as to size.

GAS, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.—Adv.

BELGIAN MAIDEN'S THANKS.

Little War Victim Writes to Huntington Tot Who Had Sent Aid.

Huntington, Ind., March 9.—Among those who responded so liberally to the call of the Christmas ship last fall was little Bernice Zahm, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pius Zahm, living north of Huntington. In the presents she sent to be distributed among the stricken children of the war zone she inclosed her name and address and yesterday the grateful thanks of a little Belgian girl whose heart was gladdened by the gifts came on a post card from Holland. The card reads as follows:

"Dear Friend—Many thanks for the fine silk ribbons and the pocket handkerchief, also for the box of colors which I received in good order. I am replying you from Antwerp, but my father takes these few lines with him to Holland as it is quite impossible to send you any letter from Belgium.

"We are praying every day for peace and we hope it will come soon. There are a lot of poor and hungry people in Belgium and it is in the winter time.

"If you send me a small reply please write to the address G. Bets, Hansweert, Holland. Hoping you may receive this in good state I am, your thankful friend, Louisa Bets, Grand Palace, No. 46, Antwerp."

The card was written in perfect English and was dated at Hansweert, Holland, January 20.

Mrs. Lewis Johnson Died Going Home From Religious Meeting at Bluffton.

Bluffton, Ind., March 9.—Mrs. Lewis Johnson, aged 47, residing just beyond the western limits of this city, was stricken with heart disease while going home from religious services at the Stephens tabernacle here about 9:30 o'clock in the evening. She had walked into the city from her home without apparent discomfort and was returning afoot accompanied by her foster-daughter Miss Belle Gibson, and Mrs. John Carlisle, when she was suddenly overcome at Cherry and Union streets. She was taken into the residence of George Mock near by and a physician was called by telephone, but Mrs. Johnson had expired before he reached her. Her maiden name was Nancy Elizabeth Summers and she was the daughter of Joseph and Victoria Summers, of Jefferson township, this county. She was married to Lewis Johnson in 1896. Their only child died in infancy. Levi Summers of Fort Wayne is a brother of the deceased.

She was extensively burned about the hands and knees by the acid which she spilled from the bottle onto her clothing. The child was playing about the house during the forenoon and in some manner discovered the bottle of acid. It was at 11 o'clock her mother was attracted to her by screams. The child was in terrible agony and the empty acid bottle lying near told the story.

BLIND TIGER AT BOBO.

Decatur, Ind., March 9.—The arrest of Joseph Burreye and his wife, Mary, at Bobo, on a charge of running a blind tiger, is expected to do much to break up the illicit traffic in liquor in that neighborhood. Burreye and his wife have been keeping a commissary car at Bobo for the men engaged in construction work for the Chicago and Erie road and had for some time been under suspicion of running a blind tiger. The arrest was made by Sheriff Green and City Marshal Melchi, of Decatur, after Floyd Death, a detective for the Erie railroad, had procured evidence by repeated purchases of liquor at the commissary car.

Ears Are In Style Again— Lift Up Your Hair

The new style of lifting the hair from the ears looks much nicer if the hair is soft so it drapes around the ears rather than being pulled up in straight, hard lines. To get the best effect in any style of hairdressing, every strand must be fluffy, lustrous and, of course, clean. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth. —Adv.

Your Grandmother's Remedy for Purifying the Blood

And Renovating the System in the Springtime

Ask for Sulpherb Tablets.

What was grandmother's unexcelled remedy? Haven't you heard of it? Yes, you have! It was sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses. The main trouble with it was it was its nauseous taste.

The modern method puts the cream of tartar and sulphur into a sugar-coated tablet and mixes them with herbs, roots, etc., making a wonderful tonic blood purifier and system cleanser.

Just try Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets), but Sulpherb—remember the name—and get the tablets in sealed tubes at 50c per tube.

Grown-up people and children who don't feel well, who are constipated or sluggish, or who have pimples, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and the like, can soon rid the system of these impurities by taking this good old-fashioned remedy in modern form. Their action satisfies or money is refunded by the Prescription Products Company, Dayton, Ohio. A free trial sent to any address. Buy of any well stocked druggist.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Luke 15:20-32.

20 And he arose, and came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him.

21 And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son.

22 But the father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet.

23 And bring hither the fatted calf, and kill it; and let us eat, and be merry:

24 For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found. And they began to be merry.

25 Now his elder son was in the field: and as he came and drew nigh to the house, he heard music and dancing.

26 And he called one of the servants, and asked what these things meant.

27 And he said unto him, Thy brother is come; and thy father hath killed the fatted calf, because he hath received him safe and sound.

28 And he was angry, and would not go in: therefore came his father out, and entreated him.

29 And he answering said to his father, Lo, these many years do I serve thee, neither transgressed I at any time thy commandment; and yet thou never gavest me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends:

30 But as soon as this thy son wascome which hath devoured thy living with harlots, thou hast killed for him the fatted calf.

31 And he said unto him, Son, thou art ever with me, and all that I have is thine.

32 It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; and was lost, and is found.

At The Close of the Session.

Somehow Indiana—and we presume the experience is not peculiar to Indiana alone—always breathes a bit easier when the biennial sessions of its legislature have arrived at the sixty-day limit and adjourned sine die. There is always the relaxation after a strain that is more or less pronounced, and the knowledge that there will be no recurrence of the harrowing uncertainty for two years—barring the possibility of special sessions—invariably has a soothing effect upon the public nerves. We may then as fairly as possible in the light of individual judgment and individual preference appraise its accomplishments.

It is probable that no legislative session ever completely met popular desire. It would be unreasonable to expect it to do so because the particular action which one person most commends is the one most bitterly denounced by his neighbor. "Good" or "bad" as applied to state legislatures are after all merely relative terms, but measured by the records of its predecessors the assembly which has just adjournd will not suffer in the comparison. It has given some important new laws for which there appeared to be popular demand—workmen's compensation, mediation in labor disputes, an anti-lobby law, flood prevention laws, the direct primary and an amended registration law among the number.

Then, some proposed legislation of marked excellence failed. In this category may be listed the creation of a state highway commission, the extension of suffrage to women, state-wide prohibition and further safeguards against the invasion of "dry" territory by liquors, teachers' pensions, as well as the increase in pasenger rates for which the railroads appealed. The failure of the suffrage bill, as well as that tending to further circumscribe the operations of the liquor traffic are especially to be regretted, but the momentum gained by these measures will not be entirely lost for it is apt to count heavily when they come up again two years hence.

And while the legislature was killing off some good bills, it must be given credit for overthrowing some bad ones as well. It declined to stand for the legalizing of race betting, it refused to enthrone pugilism as a legalized institution in Indiana, and it refrained from raising the ban against various forms of Sabbath desecration that would have made the state more "wide open." It will be noted, too, that the expenses of the session were kept below those of some recent assemblies, and that the integrity of the sixty-ninth general assembly was at no time impugned by suspicion of graft or crookedness. Its record as a whole will stand inspection well. It didn't do all that everybody hoped would be done, but the general results, we believe, will prove acceptable to the state. They are at least entitled to a fair and unprejudiced trial by the test of practical experience in operation.

The proposal of the city health department to inspire a desire for the civic attractiveness that also means sanitation by giving prizes for best kept back yards and alleys will in all probability show some excellent results in Fort Wayne this season. And if it "works" with the boys and girs, similar action might develop an inspiration on the part of some of the larger "boys" to really effective work along the line of eliminating the smoke nuisance.

A masked bandit held up an Indiana paymaster near Mitchell and got away with some $2,000. We are accustomed to this sort of doings both in the effete east and in the untamed west, but the invasion of the Hoosier state by the highwayman fraternity is a manifestation of most shocking indifference to the conventionalities of sedate orderliness that we trust will be promptly resented.

Those California folk are fairly outdoing themselves in their attention to Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks, who has been at San Francisco dedicating the Indiana building at the exposition. Among other honors with which the distinguished Indiana man has been showered is a presidential boom which appears to be rapidly taking promising root in the sun-kissed soil of California.

HOW IT WORKS IN INDIANA.

(Columbus Dispatch.)

"How does the indeterminate sentence and parole law operate in other states? That is a proper question for the legislature to consider. Here is a report of its operation in Indiana, where there has now been an experience of seventeen years. It reveals the fact that in that period 8,221 prisoners have been paroled —3,088 from the penitentiary, 4,896 from the reformatory and 237 from the woman's prison. All of them were under supervision, and but twenty-six in every 100 (2,145 in all) violated the terms of their parole. Of these violators 1,250 were apprehended and returned to the prison, and 895 are at large. While on parole, these men and women reported regularly to the prison authorities, showing earnings of $2,284,577.85 and expenses of $1,878,406.71. That is to say, these persons not only earned their own living while on parole, but had savings amounting to $406,171.14, an average of nearly $50 each.

"Is that not a performance worth while? Would it have been better to keep those men and women in the prison at public expense and at the individual sacrifice of their freedom? Was it not well to save the nine, even at the cost of the one who proved unworthy and got away?

There are some law-breakers, of whom nothing better can be made. But the percentage of those who are capable of correction and return to normal living is far greater. The many should have a chance. They get it under the indeterminate sentence law wisely and honestly administered. If the legislature will attend to the administration, protecting it from improper and corrupt influences, the abuses that are cited will disappear.

SMALL MEN IN WAR.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch.)

The announced discovery of an English physician that the short man makes a better fighter than the tall man is not a new discovery. It has been told in history many times. But both inherited ideas and the love of military leaders for show have established a preference for stature in military opinion.

The small man is not braver or more aggressive than the tall one, nor is he any less. But he is apt to be tougher and more enduring. The idea that the big man is a better soldier doubtless originated in medieval times, when the soldier carried a weight of armor and fought with weapons of the hand. But a decided advantage is that the small man in these days of discharged missiles offers a smaller mark. It was calculated by Galton that if Admiral Nelson had been a tall man he would probably have been struck in battle some time earlier than he was, and thus would have had his career of naval victory cut short.

Old Freidrich Wilhelm, Frederick the Great's father, was so possessed by passion for tall soldiers that he devoted his career to the building up of his regiment of seven-foot grenadiers, which he prized so highly that he would never risk them in war. But when his son began fighting to make Prussia an important power, the grenadier giants were promptly dissolved. In the next generation the rather small Frenchmen, led by Napoleon, proved the first soldiers of the world.

In any case the rule with which England started into this war, to shut out men under a stated height, is foolishness. The dwarf regiments, if they were separated by their height, would show up in the lines of a battle as successfully as the giants.

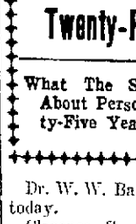
ED SPOTS ON BOY'S FACE

And Head, Itched Awfully, Turned Into Sore Spots, Hair Came Out, Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Head Perfectly Well.

804 Vermont Ave., Kansas City, Kan.—"There appeared on my brother's face and head little red spots which itched awfully and he scratched. Always after awhile these red spots turned gradually into bigger sore spots covering all his head. They were kind of whitish on top. The hair came out on the sore places and he was awfully cross.



"At first we used ——— salve and ——— but they seemed to do no good. I read the Cuticura advertisement in the paper and sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They stopped the itching a little and seemed soothing so we went to a drug store and bought some more. He washed his head with Cuticura Soap and then smeared the Cuticura Ointment on and after using them for three or four weeks his head is perfectly well and he is getting nice new hair." 60 CITIES FIGHT AGAINST SALOONS

Fate of 250 Thirst Parlors Rest With Illinois Voters.

Chicago, March 7.—Sixty down-state cities and villages are fighting to oust the saloons this spring. The fate of approximately 250 saloons will rest with the voters.

Although this is an "off year" in local option elections, some lively campaigns are under way.

The three principal struggles of the "wet" and "dry" forces are in progress in Kankakee, Danville and Ottawa.

Kankakee is the home of Len Small, candidate for the republican nomination for governor three years ago. A local option election was held there seven years ago in which the "wet" forces were victorious.

Danville is the home of Congressman-elect Joseph G. Cannon.

Other Cities Facing Issue.

Other cities which will vote on the local option question at the April election are Mount Sterling, Beardstown, Morris, Naperville, Murphysboro, Dixon, Pontiac, Centralia, Havana, Litchfield, Elmhurst and West Chicago.

The greatest struggle of the wet and dry forces in Illinois will be held in the spring of 1910, when the anti-saloon forces plan to fight for a dry Chicago, while in approximately 160 cities and villages down-state, which voted dry last spring, the question will be brought up again, the law prohibiting a vote oftener than once in two years.

Last spring 1,146 saloons were closed as a result of contests in approximately 200 towns. Thirty-nine towns voted to retain the saloons.

New Law Chief Concern.

The chief concern of the Anti-Saloon league this year is additional legislation from the general assembly. A township option law, the "law enforcement" measure and the anti-shipping bill comprise the legislation sought.

The "law enforcement" measure is designed to make it easier to fight "blind tigers" which spring up in towns that have voted out the saloons. The chief provision of the bill makes it possible for a citizen who has a suspision that a "blind tiger" is in operation to demand of the state's attorney a search of the place.

Showing Where General U. S. Grant Re-Enlisted in the Army.

Colonel D. N. Foster is contemplating the placing of a marker in front of his store at Lafayette at which spot General U. S. Grant decided to re-enlist in the army during the civil war.

When General Grant or Captain Grant, as it was then, retired from the army he lived at Galena, Ill., and it was while visiting in Lafayette, it is said, with General Joseph Reynolds, that he decided to re-enlist in the army. General Reynolds' house stood where Foster's store is now located.

CRAWLED ON HIS HANDS AND KNEES

South Bend Man's Condition Such He Could Not Work for Eight Weeks—Crawled About on His Hands and Knees.

Could one contemplate a more pitiful sight than a strong man, shorn of his manly strength and vigor, unable to stand erect, wrecked and crippled physically, due to the great modern uric acid plague termed Rheumatism? Those who are now suffering from actute and even mild forms of rheumatism should stop and consider the countless number of human beings who are today incurable cripples, whose cases have become hopeless, and whose days mean to them naught but cycles of pain and suffering, and then ask themselves the question, does it pay for me to neglect my own case.

The following letter received by Dr. Bartlett, the specialist in charge of the Inter-State Doctors' Fort Wayne Institute, located on the second floor at 205 West Berry street, should impress all rheumatic sufferers with the masterful manner in which this specialist administers treatment in this class of cases:

South Bend, Ind.

Dr. S. M. Bartlett, South Bend, Ind.

Dear Doctor:—For seven months before coming to your office I suffered with rheumatism in my arms and legs. It grew so bad that I was forced to lay off from my work for eight weeks. Then I improved some and was able to return to my work, but could only work one or two days a week.

At last I saw so many accounts in the daily papers of the good you were doing the people, that I decided to give you a trial. At times my condition was so bad that I could only be about the house by crawling on my hands and knees.

I am pleased to say that after treating with you a short time I am now able to work every day, and am having no trouble whatever.

I should be glad to have you make this letter public, as I am very thankful for what you have done for me.

Jacke Pauwels, 532½ Kosciusko St.

If you are suffering from rheumatism it should be a comfort to you to know that the progress of your case can be arrested before you reach that hopeless stage of chronic invalidism which will deprive you of that share of enjoyment and pleasure in life which is justly yours.

In order to demonstrate to Fort Wayne people what the Inter-State system will do in curing chronic diseases of long standing the specalists have made a grand free offer of free examination, free consultation and free treatment (medicine excepted) to all who call before March 15. The office is open every week day and evenings, also Sunday forenoons.—Adv.

BOOZERS RUB IT IN AT POLICE STATION

Pair of Tanks Invade the Headquarters With a Bottle Apiece.

Mike McDonough had a stew in his tank and a bottle of "white line" on his hip and Ed Sullivan was similarly fixed inside and carried a "hipper" of plain red liquor when they invaded police headquarters Monday night and asked for accommodations in the municipal lodge, sometimes designated by low and coarse persons as the "hum room." Both were palpably drunk and potentially ugly and they were tossed into cells instead of into the free quarters for wayfarers. Both pleaded guilty to drunk charges before Judge Kerr Tuesday morning and both were tagged with eleven days in jail. Sullivan had been out of jail but a day when he brewed himself the souse that sent him back.

Made Trouble in the Mission.

Harry Clayton, thoroughly piped, wandered into the East Columbia street mission Monday night and sought to pre-empt quarters for the night. He was persona non grata and a Mr. Hawkins invited him to preserve the peace by getting out. Mr. Clayton declined, started a rough house and was pinched by the police. On a charge of disorderly conduct he drew $10 and costs and will spend twenty days in jail.

Other City Court Cases.

Ralph Courtney, a drunk, was turned loose after promising to keep sober.

John Koovion, one of the foreigners arrested Sunday night during a riotous melee in the east end, was allowed to go.

The case of George Mills arrested near Harlan on a warrant charging child neglect, was continued under $500 bond, which he furnished, until March 18. He was represented by two attorneys.

The burglary charge against Merle Streetmatter was continued until April 9. The youth is said to be employed in the country.

George Durbin, who has had continuance on a case for wife desertion in order to show that he could make good, was not in court when his case was called and he will be rearrested. His wife was present to testify that for three weeks he had given her no help.

PARENTS MAKE A STATEMENT.

Editor Sentinel:—As the city papers contained many errors in their account of the death of our adopted daughter, and as many people have consequently formed wrong opinions, we herewith desire to state a few facts regarding the case:

With reference to her education, we sent her to the High school and to the Fort Wayne Business college and she could have continued her studies had she so desired.

Relative to her privileges at home, she had all that a good home could give her, and she was always contented with her lot as all her friends and neighbors will affirm.

Regarding the carbolic acid, it was not kept in the kitchen as stated, but was placed in the basement in an out of the way place.

With reference to her late sickness, we employed one of the city's most reliable physicians and have done everything possible for her betterment.

She was the daughter of Henry Franke, the lumber dealer, not the contractor.

(Signed.)

MR. AND MRS. HENRY FRANKE.

Patrick J. Cain, residing on Cass street, is seriously ill at St. Joseph's hospital with typhoid fever. He is a student of the International Business college.

Honoring Mrs. Mollie Beach Lovell, of Cleveland, Mrs. George E. Randall gave a small but beautifully appointed luncheon-bridge today at her home on the north side. The table was laid in a Madeira luncheon set and there were suggestions of St. Patrick's day in the dainty ferns that filled the basket in the center of the table, while vases of jonquils and daffodils were even more suggestive of spring. At each place was a lace nut basket filled with salted meats and fastened to them were tiny bouquets. There were eight ladies in the party.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

David Warfield in "The Auctioneer," Thursday.

David Belasco made a happy choice when he selected a revival of "The Auctioneer," with David Warfield again appearing in his famous role, if the ovations that have been tendered this splendid artist in each city where he has appeared this season, are any evidence. "The Auctioneer" was the first play in which Mr. Warfield achieved distinction thirteen years ago, and his remarkable creation of Simon Levi, the quaint and lovable old Hebrew auctioneer, familiar to theatergoers from coast to coast, is just as popular now as it was when he first conceived it. However, it had been the intention of David Belasco to present Mr. Warfield in a new play this season, but inasmuch as only a few cities could be included in this popular artist's itinerary last year and this, coupled with the fact that Mr. Belasco was in receipt of thousands of requests from theatergoers the country over to once more let them see Mr. Warfield in the role that brought him his first great fame, it was decided to devote another season to "The Auctioneer." Therefore this city is one of the few in this section that will be privileged to witness this gifted artist in his brilliant revival. The engagement, which will be played at the Majestic theater, is scheduled for Thursday evening.

AT THE NEW PALACE

Johnny Johnston and His Collegians in the happy-go-lucky-varsity farce, "Taking Things Easy," have a great mirth act as the feature attraction on the Keith bill at the New Palace theater. These carefree boys and girls are the sort of rollicking youngsters bountifully supplied with the assurance of youth, that make one wish he were back in the midst of his college days. The action hinges round the theft of a $5,000 motor car, which Johnny Johnston drove away from its moorings on a bet. There's the same old familiar campus cop and the studious student, the vivacious co-eds and the irate parent. Kaufman Brothers hail a world of fun out of their systems in the few minutes between the time they breeze onto the stage singing a coon song until they call a good bye to the house. Mr. and Mrs. James Kelson have a hodge podge of fun that they call, "Here and There in Vaudeville." The team indulges in some bright, snappy repartee that at times is brilliant, but it is when Mrs. Kelso looks upon the red wine and loses her mental poise that the couple grow really funny.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

"THE KREUTZER SONATA."

Jefferson Has Premier Attraction in Screen Version of Tolstoi's Drama.

Playgoers appreciating and valuing the better things in the silent drama cannot afford to miss this transcendently brilliant adaptation of Count Leo Tolstoi's immortal dramatic masterpiece, "The Kreutzer Sonata," and in presenting this superb photodrama to its clientele the Jefferson management feels that it has achieved a singular triumph. Nance O'Neill, America's foremost tragedienne, plays the principal role dividing honors with Theda Bara, the French emotional actress.

In connection with the showing of the picture the Jefferson orchestra has arranged to play Beethoven's "Kreutzer Sonata," the composition from which Tolstoi received his inspiration. This sonata is said to be the most intricate and technically difficult piece of music ever composed, and none but accomplished musicians dare to execute it. Indeed so complex is the score that the Jefferson musicians have spent the last week in preparing for this single recital.

AT THE COLONIAL

Displayed in the Colonial Program Arranged for Today.

The most cosmopolitan taste will find a complacent satisfaction in the list of attractions photographic which has been arranged for today. Principal on the list we have a remarkable three part "retrospective drama" coming from the Klaw and Erlanger studios, and nothing that these famous producers have ever turned out can hope to equal in point of all around perfection this brilliant release, "The Road to Yesterday."

"The Opera Singer's Triumph," the second of the feature plays, is a highly dramatic four part issue.

Madame Catherine's Chats

"I understand that the styles are somewhat changed this year," questioned the youthful visitor to the corset shop at 113 West Wayne street, yesterday.

"It is true. There is a slight change. Their is a tendency toward the waist line and a little higher bust," was the reply.

"But does that mean we shall again wear ruffles this year?" was another query.

"Yes, ruffles, pads and all kinds of hearts will be very good this year. In fact the more slender woman shall almost be compelled to wear ruffles to prevent the break at the waist line," answered Madame. "The higher bust will call for something to break the line and ruffles will be extensively used."

"I suppose you have some very nice ruffles for this season in stock?" was asked.

"Yes, I can show you something for any price. Anything from 25c up to $1. Of course the 25c ruffles are a little plainer but the higher priced are really of no better wearing quality, but are neat lace trimmed ruffles."

"But it is not possible to buy a brassiere with the ruffle, heart or pad attached?" came still another question.

"Yes, indeed," replied Madame. "We have all the different kinds of accessories that one can wish for. Now here is just what you have been asking for. The brassieres together with the ruffle, all made into one piece."

"I think I will try on some of your latest models of corsets and try on some of the combination brassieres," remarked the young lady as she stepped into one of the fitting rooms.

WITH VARIATIONS, ONE-STEP REMAINS KING OF NEW DANCES, SAYS JOAN SAWYER

"Draw step" in the one-step.

By Joan Sawyer.

The one-step, with added variations, still remains the most popular dance with the public. It is the only dance which, despite the introduction of the more elaborate "fox trot," still holds good with professionals. I use the one-step regularly in my feature dancing. There are four popular figures in the one-step the forward walk, the "box turn," the "draw step" and the interpolated, double-time, two-step figure—the newest.

Simple Way To Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered neroxin from any drug-store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the parts of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The powdered neroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

How to Have the Best Cough Remedy and Save $2 by Making It at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule contain a large quantity of plain syrup. A pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with sugar syrup. This gives you, at a cost of only 54 cents, a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50—a clear saving of nearly $2. Full directions with Pinex. It keeps perfectly and tastes good.

It takes hold of the usual cough or chest cold at once and conquers it in 24 hours. Splendid for whooping cough, bronchitis and winter coughs.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes the inflamed membranes in the case of a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol, and has been used for generations to heal inflamed membranes of the throat and chest.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SEEK MYSTERIES OF NEW WORLD'S PAST

American Scientific Expedition Continues Work in Andean Mountains.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Under the leadership of Dr. Hiram Bingham, the National Geographic society-Yale university Peruvian expedition has sailed from New York to continue its work in the Andean mountains, in the hope of finding the key to the mysteries of the new world's past. The Inca and Atzec civilizations which flourished in this hemisphere before the arrival of those gold-hungry adventurers and destroyers who followed in the wake of Columbus have an inexpressibly melancholy interest for us in that our traditions of them indicate how complete systems of culture may be swept away and hardly leave a trace. Work already accomplished in the Peruvian Andes by Dr. Bingham under the auspices of the National Geographic society and Yale university suggests that the clue has been found to the history of the Incas, and that we will be able to clear up much of the mystery concerning that civilization which the conquistadores ruthlessly laid waste.

In a concealed valley in the high Andes of Peru, the "American Tibet," Dr. Bingham has discovered one of the lost Inca cities, which he now believes to be the famous Machu Picchu of Indian and Spanish legend, birthplace and last hidden abode of Inca power, faith and culture. The Inca empire endured between 1100 A. D. and 1572 A. D. Here in this wild, inaccessible mountain region the Peruvian expedition of 1914-15 will continue its painstaking efforts to lift the veil from the pre-Columbian secrets of the western hemisphere, and there is promise that these secrets will prove as wonderful and as fascinating as those which the scientists have forced the dead civilization of the Nile and of the Mesopotamian valleys to surrender.

The highlands of Peru contain vestiges of the most ancient and advanced culture in South America. They hold preserved within their valleys the remains of long-forgotten Indian towns and cities, ruins of roads and aqueducts, of walls, fortresses and terraces, and in these ruins is written the story of the first American engineers and architects of America's earliest metallurgists and artificers in metals, clays and fibers. These remains, together with the specimens of bronze and silver ornaments, tools, and utensils, form a commentary upon the ancient Inca life out of which the explorers hope to be able to reconstruct a connected picture of the storied Inca empire.

There was formerly considerable gold to be found in this region, and for many years it was the dream of every adventuresome spirit in the new world and the goal of many fortune hunters. However, four centuries of treasure-seeking probably has left little in the way of precious metals to the modern explorer. Old legends of inexhaustible stores of Inca-gold, nevertheless, detract nothing from the enticing interest of these little-traveled mountains.

The theater of the National Geographic society-Yale university expedition is a wonderful country, whose magnificent scenery and part-revealed past give it as powerful an appeal as that possessed by any other of the world's areas. It is filled with deep-rent canyons, majestic unclimbed mountains peaks, wide ranges of vivid-colored, tropical jungles; and it is crossed by the splendid roaring rapids of the Apurimac and the Urubamba, whose waters go to feed the Amazon. It has its disagreeable features, on the other hand, such as insect pests which swarm the lowlands in innumerable millions, the vampire bats of the middle valleys, and the bitter cold of the nights in the uplands.

The work of the expedition has been planned under a number of scientific divisions. Topographical maps will be prepared, a detailed geological reconnaissance will be undertaken, the plant and animal life of the region will be studied, and the weather conditions will be thoroughly investigated. There will also be carried on an anthropological archaeological and historico-geographical researches, looking toward the unraveling of the mystery of the ancient inhabitants of the Andes and to the determination of just what was accomplished in the western world for progress and civilization before our European ancestors called themselves in to take up the task.

LOCAL COMPANY IS MAKING PROGRESS

Organization to Take Over Billikens Soon Will Be Completed.

Good progress has been made in the organization of a local company to take over the Fort Wayne franchise and team in the Central league and it is expected that by the end of the present week everything will be all set for the formal transfer of the ownership of the Billkens outfit from Owner Claude H. Varnell to the home crowd.

The work has not been pressed rapidly because it has been one of the uppermost purposes to make the local organization not only sound as to finances but to enlist the interest of men who will bring to the game here a quality of support that will insure a good season and popular approval.

It is now settled beyond all peradventure of doubt that Bade Myers will be the manager of the Fort Wayne troupe. The big chief who in times past hung two pennants on the local flag pole has the confidence and respect of Fort Wayne fandom and he will amply guarnatee that the game here this year will have class.

A considerable number of men of large means and substantial interests have come to the financial support of the project for home ownership and that and all other important phases of the enterprise have passed beyond the stage of uncertainty.

WILL COME HERE TO ADOPT A SCHEDULE

Central League Committee to Meet in Fort Wayne and Not West Baden.

The meeting of the schedule committee of the Central baseball league, which was calendered to be held Wednesday at West Baden Springs, has been changed to Fort Wayne and will be held at the Anthony hotel.

This change was made by President Louis Heilbroner to serve several conveniences, chief among which is that Fort Wayne is more accessible to a majority of the committee than West Baden.

Besides framing and adopting a schedule the committee will make a final revision of the Central league constitution, which has been extensively overhauled to meet exigencies created by expansion of the league from a six to an eight-club circuit.

Besides President Heilbroner the schedule committee consists of Harry Stahlhefer, Evansville; Elmer Redelle, Dayton, and Thomas O'Connor, Erie.

Two schedules were submitted to the meeting of the Central owners at the meeting here week before last, but neither was at all satisfactory and the committee will have the entire work to perform when it assembles here Wednesday.

PREPARE FOR BASEBALL.

Concordia Athletics Are Getting Ready for the Coming Season.

FULLERTON GETS ADVANCE DOPE ON THE BIG LEAGUE TEAMS FOR FORT WAYNE FANS.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton).

In a few days I shall begin the study of the clubs of the National, American and Federal leagues to see what their chances are during the coming season.

I think this spring I have or will have the finest line of dope on the teams that I ever have been able to collect.

Instead of running around the country making hurried visits to the training camps I will visit only a few and depend for the rest upon the staff correspondents who live and eat and breath the spirit of the teams themselves.

I have made arrangements with the very best baseball writers with each team to supply me with all the information they possess in regard to their teams and after that to tell me frankly what they think of the club, of the new men, and whether the old ones have progressed or gone back. I will take that information and, combining it with my knowledge of the teams and men, with the figures and past averages and other inside stuff, will try to get a line on the relative strengths of the teams.

Not satisfied with going that far I have arranged with several managers and scouts, with some players who have been long in the game to give me their ideas concerning the teams and the men.

One often gets a valuable hint on some one youngster who has been overlooked by getting the viewpoint of an old player whose attention perhaps has been called to the work of that youth.

When the training season is over I think I will have more information about the big league teams than any person in America has (always excepting Loole Heilbroner, who knows all about all of them), and it will be right up to date and fresh from the feed box.

It is going to be very interesting dope. For instance, I thought I knew about all there was to know about the Chicago White Sox. That has been my team for years—the one I root for out of sentiment because Comiskey is my oldest and best friend.

One of the scribes who has been with the White Sox on the coast has sent me a lot of dope that he has been picking up and his observation of the men. There were at least half a dozen facts brought out that never had occurred to my mind, and some startling stuff that no one who has not lived with the team can know.

The White Sox have been longest in the field, and, of course, have shown more than the others have had a chance to show, so I shall open the series with a study of the White Sox team and their chances for the coming season.

The Funniest Play I Ever Saw in Baseball.

(By George McBride, Shortstop and Captain Washington Americans).

The biggest laugh I ever got out of a baseball game was due to the antics of Germany Schafer in a game between the Philadelphia Athletics, and the "all star" team that prepared them for their first series with the New York Giants.

One of the towns in which we played was Richmond and it was there that Schaef pulled what I think was the funniest thing I ever saw on a ball field.

Clyde Milan hurt his leg. Schaef advanced to the front of the stands and announced that, while he hated to take the grandest little center fielder in the world out of the game, it was necessary and that he, Schaefer, should demonstrate how center field should be played.

He proceeded to go to center, stoop over, turned his back to the home plate and talk to the crowd, paying no attention to the batter. The first man hit a terrific line drive to right center. Shaefer could have reached it easily but never even turned. Cobb, coming over from right made one of the greatest catches I ever saw.

Then Schaef turned and bowed elaborately again and again. Later another batter hit one to left and the left fielder, Speaker, made almost as great a catch and Schaef turned, doffed his cap and bowed low.

Finally we got to bat. Schaef removed his cap, told them that he, the greatest batter in the world, would now oblige and that if anyone had any preference as to where he should bat the ball he would be glad to do it.

"Hit it into the left field seats," yelled one bug. Schaef bowed, stepped to the plate and banged the first ball pitched on the line into the left field bleachers and its a cinch some of those Richmond fans still believe he can hit them where he wants to at any time he chooses.

MAGNATES NOW LOOK AT FINANCIAL SIDE

Baseball No Longer Looked Upon as a Pastime—Results Must Be Shown.

New York, March 9.—The financial side of baseball promises to be one of the most important factors of the professional game during the coming season. Recent readjustments in the sport has confronted the magnates with problems which can only be answered at the expiration of the 1915 pennant race. Far from the least of these is the question of the players' salary. A large majority of the club owners in both major and minor league circuits are convinced that the limit has been reached in this direction and curtailment is necessary. Just how and when to put this economy into effect is a proposition over opinion.

Manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, has shown Spartan qualities by pruning his former world's championship team by sales and release until Coombs, Bender, Plank and Collins are no longer Athletics, and Baker's connection with the club is uncertain. President Edward Barrow, of the International league, has notified the various club owners in his circuit that reductions in player's salaries were in order. Other league executives and club owners favor similar moves but are deterred by long term contracts which cannot be violated. The move toward economy can be seen, however, in the unconditional release of players wherever possible. Not in many years has there been the number of unconditional releases recorded since the close of the 1914 season.

A prominent baseball official said recently that the average follower of the game did not realize the increased cost of the game due to the advancement in players' salaries. Various angles in the business side of the sport made it necessary, including the increasing popularity of basketball, independent opposition and the banding together of the players themselves. Looking at it in a broad minded manner, he said that there were conditions in the situation which warranted increases but in many cases increases were out of proportion to the services rendered.

It has been estimated that the average salary paid by major league clubs has been doubled in the last ten years. In the case of a majority of the players the increase is less than $700 a year, but the contracts of stars like Eddie Collins, Tris Speaker, Walter Johnson, Jake Daubert and Sam Crawford are figured in, the general advance reaches a surprising amount. The salary limit of the National league was $2,400 fifteen years ago. Today the salary of the mediocre player exceeds these figures and there is no limit to the stars.

Baseball authorities who have studied the situation carefully point out that under the conditions that prevailed in the early nineties a star infield and outfield contained such players as Delehanty, Lajoie, Cross, Flick and Thomas, could be secured for an annual outlay of approximately $17,000. Today a similar combination would require a yearly expenditure of five to seven times that amount. Yet the gate receipts prove that attendance has not increased in anything like the same ratio. Eddie Collins' acquisition and contract is said to represent an outlay of more than $100,000 during the next five years. A Chicago statistician has figured that he will have to draw well over a quarter million extra attendance to the White Sox park if he is to individually repay the investment.

FLOOD PREVENTION PLANS BEGIN SOON

Steps to Be Taken Under New Law Passed for Fort Wayne.

That plans for flood prevention in Fort Wayne would soon be set afoot here under the new law that was passed by the legislature for the special benefit of this city, was the statement of Mayor Hosey, father of the law, Tuesday morning. The first step will be to start a petition of some section that wants flood protection. This petition must contain the names of a majority of the freeholders of such section and it will be filed with the judge of the circuit court who, after ascertaining that it contains a majority of the freeholders, will issue, a decree establishing a drainage district. Then the board of county commissioners and the city board of public works become conjointly a drainage commission for the purpose of flood prevention. The law minutely defines all the procedures for taking flood prevention measures, the adoption of plans, the levying of assessments, the method of appeal and for the bearing of a portion of the burden, not exceeding 25 per cent., from the general funds of the city. Mayor Hosey set about to have this law framed and passed after it became evident that the general measure for flood prevention in Indiana, as prepared by Governor Ralston's state commission, was doomed to failure. Just as soon as the new measure can be thoroughly studied and its provisions construed the first steps will be taken and it is expected that there will be distinct results during the present year.

PLANS FOR COOMBS STREET.

Nickel Plate Has Plans for But One East End Grade Separation.

Through William F. Watterson, superintendent of the Fort Wayne division of the Nickel Plate railroad, and George E. Potter, division engineer for the same railway, Tuesday morning, was presented to the board of works the tentative plans for grade separation at Coombs street. No plans were offered for the separation of grades at Canal street, and it is not improbable that the project for track elevation at that point will be abandoned. Canal street is only about 450 feet east of Coombs street on the railroad, and after crossing the tracks leads to lowlands that are easily flooded, and ends at the bank of the Maumee river. It is not regarded as an essential improvement. The plans submitted provide for a bridge with a vertical clearance of twelve and one-half feet, two eighteen-foot roadways each side of the central supports and with seven-foot sidewalks on each side. To get the necessary vertical clearance without necessitating an undue depression of the grade of Coombs street the Nickel Plate will have to make a five-foot elevation of its tracks, a detail that will compel a change of the track grade for a distance of about 3,000 feet, beginning probably at Harmer street and ending at Hanover street. The plans have not yet been submitted to the general officials at Cleveland.

TO REPORT SMOKE ORDINANCE.

Chairman Jacob Hartman, of the council committee on rules, regulations and ordinances, will hand into the council Tuesday night a favorable report on the smoke ordinance that has been in the hands of the committee for many weeks. The ordinance will embrace a clause to permit black smoke to issue from chimneys and smokestacks eight minutes out of each hour. President W. A. Bayer, of the council, and members of the committee, observed a demonstration of a smoke consumer at the Fort Wayne Electric works Monday. The device prevents black smoke within a minute after each firing of the furnace and seven to eight firings per hour were stated to be the rule. This was made the basis of the provision in the ordinance.

MR. SINGREY RETURNS.

Frank E. Singrey, member of the board of public works, returned at noon Tuesday from Indianapolis, where he spent a week in the interest of legislative measures that affected Fort Wayne. He reported that the bill appropriating $8,000 to pay the state's share of paving State street along the school for feeble minded, and for building a sidewalk on the State street frontage had been passed. There was difficulty getting the measure through because the legislative committee on state institutions wanted assurance that a new bridge would be built at State street over the St. Joe river.

AGAIN AFTER PRETTY LIGHTS.

Resident property owners on Hoagland avenue between DeWald and Leith streets, have again asked the board of works to establish a system of ornamental lights on that portion of the thoroughfare. The matter has been under consideration for several months. That portion of Hoagland avenue is to be repaved this year and the property owners would like to have the system installed before the pavement is completed.

COURT HOLDS ETHER MARRIAGE INVALID

Marital Bonds Assumed by Woman from Hospital Bed Annulled.

That a marriage contract entered into by a woman while lying on a hospital bed under a partial influence of anesthetics is not valid and binding was the ruling made Tuesday in the circuit court by Judge Yaple, when he entered a decree annulling the marriage of Bernadette Herber to Howard Metcalfe. The complaint set forth that on May 13, 1911, while the plaintiff, Miss Herber, was in a hospital in Fort Wayne for an operation made necessary by a broken leg and was still under the influence of the anesthetics employed, she was besought by the defendant to submit to a marriage ceremony and did so. She alleged that her mental condition was perturbed, affected and rendered irresponsible by reason of the anesthetics and that during the whole of the ceremony of marriage her mind was blighted and confused so that she did not know what she was doing. It was also contended that she was not at the time competent to enter into such a contract and was incapable of consummating it. The court heard the testimony in support of the complaint and annulled the marriage. The couple separated January 20, this year.

Notes of the Courts.

The case was settled in the circuit court a few days ago by the payment of $300.

TANNENBAUM GIVEN FREEDOM.

Young I. W. W. Church Rioter Lionized as He Quits Prison.

New York, March 9.—Frank Tannenbaum, the young leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, who served a year in the penitentiary for leading 191 men into St. Alphonse's church in order, he claimed, to show the condition of unemployed, was released from Blackwell's Island today.

He was tried for disturbing the church services. Tannenbaum was warmly greeted by about 100 friends and supporters who lifted him to their shoulders and carried him from the pier, where he landed, to the Third avenue elevated road station. There was no disorder and the police did not interfere.

TWO-STEP FIGURE NEWEST ADDITION TO ONE-STEP, SAYS JOAN SAWYER.

By Joan Sawyer.

The one-step, with added variations, remains the most popular dance with the public. It is the only dance which, despite the introduction of the more elaborate "fox trot" still holds good with professionals. I use the one-step regularly in my feature dancing. There are four popular figures in the one-step—the forward walk, the "box turn," the "draw step" and the interpolated, double-time, two-step figure—the newest.

PATRONS DEMANDING IMMEDIATE ACTION

Conference is Held With Contractor Regarding Monroeville School.

For the purpose of taking some action regarding the condemned school building at Monroeville a meeting of Trustee Thomas J. Sheehan and members of the advisory board together with the contractor was held Tuesday at the office of D. O. McComb, county superintendent. Members of the advisory board of Monroe township are William Stephenson, Ben Clem and Joe Worry.

The conference with the contractor continued for several hours behind closed doors and what the contractor intends doing will determine largely what action the advisory board will take.

Since the school building was condemned school is being held in the old building and in every available hall in the town of Monroeville. The patrons of the Monroeville school are greatly incensed over the condition of their building and are demanding that immediate action be taken.

FAMOUS "WHENS"

the same manner. A favorite way of the defendants, he said, was to have a worker assaulted by a slugger, arrest both, then release the slugger, but hold the worker who had been assaulted.

Insults Offered Women.

Women workers at the polls, while not assaulted, were offered many insults, especially in the tenderloin district, Mr. Dailey said. In one of these districts, he said, "the good women who came to do the men's work were told by the gang to 'go and register like the other women in the district' if they intended to stay at that place."

After declaring that Roberts "not only compelled his city appointees to engage in wholesale election thefts, but demanded and obtained help in election frauds from every vicious line of business which a city can control." Mr. Dailey asserted that the saloons, dance halls, gambling houses and all resorts were permitted every illegal practice known.

In return for these privileges which the mayor extended, the district attorney continued, "one certain thing was demanded. The saloons and gambling house keepers, together with all their habitues and hangers-on, were required to participate in the election schemes of Mr. Roberts. He had his agents pass among them and tell each one just what he was to do."

Handling the Slush Fund.

In dealing with the slush fund, Mr. Daily produced a table showing just how much money was assessed by Roberts for registration and election purposes from saloonmen and resort keepers. "These men," Mr. Dailey asserted, "were given to understand that favors would be dealt out for contributions and that disfavor would follow refusal. They complied."

He declared that in some cases favors were given at the rate of $1 each. For example, he said, a man who had contributed $25 was to be granted twenty-five favors.

Assistant Chief of Police John Nugent, who has pleaded guilty, was Roberts' collector, Mr. Dailey told the jurors, adding that Chief Holler and Eli H. Redman, a defendant, who was declared elected judge in the November election, also collected part of the fund, which, he said, totalled about $6,000.

"Only $700 of this amount," said the district attorney, "was ever delivered by Roberts to the regular treasurer of the campaign fund, who had about $9,000."

How Funds Were Expended.

Mr. Dailey, at some length, told how these two funds were expended, largely, he said, in buying votes and paying repeaters on election day at the rate of $1 and $2 a vote. Mayor Roberts, the government counsel asserted, "called a meeting of his hand-picked election inspectors" and told them "that no one had a right to touch the voting machine except the inspectors and that when a man entered for viting the inspectors should do the work."

Roberts also demonstrated on a voting machine the manner in which a vote would not be registered, he declared. Often times on election day, Mr. Dailey continued, the inspectors would pull down the democratic lever, forcing the voter to vote that ticket. If the voters protested strongly enough the inspector would permit him to vote again, thus pairing the votes and neither would have any effect in the final count.

Put O. K. on Cards.

"The Roberts inspectors," Mr. Dailey asserted, "always stood in a position to see how a person voted and, if the voter, or rather repeater, voted right, communicated with the man on the outside, who handled the money." This communication, usually, Mr. Dailey said, was by means of cards on which the inspector had put his "O. K." In precinct A, of the Sixth ward, he said, Frank (Buster) Clark, the paymaster, discovered that the cards were being forged and substituted brass checks. In this precinct, he added, 600 cards and checks were given out. "Some times," the district attorney continued, "the fellows who were repeated, forgot their fictitious names and addresses and had to exhibit the card provided the repeater by Comptroller Talbott in order to refresh his memory. Some fellows voted four, six or a dozen times; one man voted 21 times; another 22 times."

In order to vote so many times, Mr. Dailey said, the repeaters met in saloons, traded clothes and did other things to disguise themselves. He related the following example:

One Legged Repeater Busy.

"One of the fellows who was busy repeating in precinct A, Sixth ward, was a one legged colored man, who voted 8 times in the precinct; one time he came with a peg leg; another time he wore a cork leg, the third time without anything strapped to his leg, the fourth time an iron extension leg, and one time with one crutch, one time for the purpose of deception he wore glasses." The reports from the sixth ward were ordered held back, Mr. Dailey said, and continued: "Arrangements were made by which 100 or 200 votes were to be added to the democratic totals so that Eli Redman could be elected judge and all the rest of the ticket from congressman to the lowest candidate should receive a plurality. It was finally discovered that on the face of the returns each candidate had a sufficient number of votes to entitle him to office and so the additional votes were not added."

Election Board Did the Work.

Turning his attention to the Taylorville precinct, Mr. Dailey said: "So far as I know not a single repeater came to this precinct during the day—it was not necessary; the election board did the work in Taylorville, which repeaters were doing in other precincts. A list of cards bearing the names of the false registration was placed in the hands of the board. Without any one coming in to vote the clerks copied the false names upon the list of voters, just the same as if the voters had in fact appeared in person. We will be able to show that at least 137 of the false names prepared at police headquarters were copied upon the voters' lists and votes registered on the voting machine to correspond.

At this precinct men were beaten, shots were fired, but the voting proceeded as had been mapped out.

Mr. Dailey told of the attack on Wesley Mitchel, a worker at the polls and how, in defending himself, he had shot Peter Feiler, a deputy sheriff, who died a few days later. Mr. Dailey said proofs of the alleged repeating would be furnished, the jury by a number of the men who participated in it. He had a large number of alleged false registrations which he said witnesses would identify. He added that the evidence would show that a number of these repeaters had voted over the objections of republican and women election workers. Many, who were opposed to Roberts, the district attorney said, were kept from voting in various ways, chiefly, however, by being told that their names had already been voted; if they persisted in their right, they were threatened with arrest.

Since the Investigation.

In concluding Mr. Dailey told of a number of things he said had taken place since the grand jury began the investigation. He said that Roberts was instrumental in getting bond for 18 men who had been arrested in Terre Haute in November to appear as witnesses, for fear they might "tell" something. He also related how an attempt was made to bribe Wesley Godfrey, who subsequently pleaded guilty, to leave the jurisdiction of the court. The haste with which Roberts tried to get a commission for Eli H. Redman, how a "gang" grand jury was summoned in Vigo county to interrogate witnesses who had appeared or were to appear before the federal grand jury and how Charles Clogston, editor of a Terre Haute newspaper, was sent to jail for calling it "a gang grand jury" in his paper.

"During the session of the grand jury," Mr. Dailey said, "These defendants were very busy. Some of them detailed agents to follow the officers serving subpoenas to find out where invitations were being extended.

"The defendant, Hilton Redman (son of Judge Redman) was accosting witnesses and the professor of a training school."

In bringing his speech to a close, Mr. Dailey said:

"No attempt has been made to take up the testimony as it applies to each separate defendant. Enough has been stated to show the guilt of each. The evidence which will be introduced will demonstrate the guilt of each and every defendant. It will show that all were working together and towards a common end.

"Before closing, I should say that the defendants, in the execution of their fraudulent scheme, made extensive use of the United States mail."

WHEN COURT CONVENED.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—With the reading of the indictment and his speech, United States District Attorney Frank C. Dailey was expected to occupy most of the day at the trial of Mayor Donn M. Roberts and twenty-seven others charged with conspiracy to corrupt the election in Terre Haute on last November. Mr. Dudley's speech makes over 30,000 words.

The jury in the case was completed late yesterday and consists of nine farmers, one retired farmer, a druggist and an insurance man. The jury follows:

submarines, will be denied the usual privileges of prisoners of war.

Press comment in Berlin indicates a feeling of optimism over the Near Eastern situation. The Turkish opinion that the Dardanelles are impregnable is being endorsed and papers express the belief that King Constantinople will hold Greece to a course of neutrality.

RUSSIANS REPORT SUCCESSES.

Petrograd, March 9.—Efforts to dislodge the right and left flank of the German forces operating in the Suwalki district of Northern Poland apparently are bringing some success, and only the German center, in the region of Simno seems to be holding firm in possession of the positions recently gained in the advance from East Prussia. The German left flank is reported to have retired to positions in the region of Marianpol, Virzbalova and Eidcumen. The right flank, reports from the front say has retreated hastily ten miles from Grodno toward Augustowo through bogs and forests.

The retreat of the German right wing, which is now within eight miles of the frontier, is regarded as especially damaging to the Germans.

THE GERMAN STATEMENT.

Berlin, March 9.—The general staff of the German army today gave out a report of the progress of the war reading as follows:

"In the western arena of the war: In the hills of Lorette our troops have captured two more trenches from the French. They took prisoners six officers and 230 men and became possessed of two machine guns and two small cannon.

In the Champagne district the fighting at Souain has not yet come to an end. To the northeast of Lemesil the enemy, who had prepared to make an advance, was impeded by our artillery.

"In the Vosges the mist and snow render fighting difficult. The engagements to the west of Munster and to the north of Sennheim continue.

"In the eastern arena: East and south of Augustowo Russian attacks have failed with heavy losses to the enemy. At a point to the northeast of Lomza the enemy left 800 prisoners in our hands. To the northwest of Ostrolenka a battle has developed which is still going on. In engagements to the west and northwest of Przasnysz, which ended favorable to us, we took 3,000 prisoners. Russian attacks to the north of Rawa and to the northwest of Nowo-eemiasto have proved ineffective. Seventeen hundred and fifty Russians were taken prisoners in these engagements."

go, but he was instructed to send a flag officer to take command. Admiral Fletcher will select the ships he will send and report later to the navy department.

President Wilson, describing the latest American representations today said Carranza had been called upon by the United States to take the necessary steps to protect foreigners in Mexico City and had been informed of what the Washington government had heard of conditions there and how seriously they seemed to be.

Always Subject to Discount.

When asked whether the United States had any new intentions in Mexico, the president reiterated that the government had represented its views on what appeared to be the situation in Mexico City. He added that in all such situations it was necessary to discount reports because he said, certain persons would like to have the United States intervene in Mexico, even if they had to manufacture the facts on which to base the intervention. When the president was asked if the latest note to Carranza was an ultimatum, he replied the administration did not issue any ultimatum but expressed its views and acted accordingly.

Speaking of conditions in the Mexican capital President Wilson spoke of the fear of outrage there being more pressing at present than any thing that had already occurred. The fear was that the city would be evacuated and left without protection. No request had come from any foreign government the president said, for action in Mexico although diplomatic representatives had expressed their anxiety over affairs in the southern republic. The president referred only briefly to the new naval movements, saying two battleships were going to Vera Cruz, preparatory to sending others home for repairs. At the navy department it has been said earlier that none of the ships at Vera Cruz would be relieved until conditions in Mexico had improved.

Under the order dispatched to Rear Admiral Fletcher, the ships going to Vera Cruz may be under command of Rear Admiral Mayo of the first division whose flagship is the Arkansas; Rear Admiral Boush, of the second division, whose flag is on the Utah; Rear Admiral Coffman, of the third division, whose flagship is the Virginia, or Rear Admiral McLean, commanding the fourth division, whose flag is on the Connecticut.

Duval West, representative of the president, who has been conferring with Gen. Villa and his subordinate generals, is now on his way to Mexico City where he will make an investigation of conditions there.

For Old English is made principally from imported waxes—one hard, the other soft—and is economical because it contains all it can hold of the hard and costly kind of wax which makes it spread farther and last longer.

It costs no more than other floor waxes, is less than half cost of varnish and shellac, and by many is considered more artistic than any other finish.

Old English doesn't dull, doesn't catch dust nor show scratches, and you can use it with or without any stain.

SHOP AND RAIL ROAD NEWS

PRESIDENT KEARNEY ON INSPECTION TRIP

New Head of Wabash Will Start Over System Wednesday Morning.

Edward F. Kearney, president of the Wabash, will make his first trip in that capacity over the system this week. He will be accompanied by Receiver E. B. Pryor and the higher officials of the company. News from St. Louis concerning the trip is meagre. It simply states that the officials will start over the line Wednesday morning and will reach Detroit Thursday, going thence to Toledo. They will leave that city, the message states, Friday morning, but it does not give the destination of the party. From this meagre news the local Wabash officials are led to suppose that it is not the intention of President Kearney and party to stop here to inspect the property until after the visit to Detroit and Toledo. He will probably be here for that purpose Friday.

The scale of wages adopted by the painters and which will be presented to the Master Painters to sign this week was approved by the federation. The wage scale will cover the year beginning April 1. President Shaw announced the grievance committee which is as follows: Charles E. Redrup, chairman; William Stevens, C. W. Phelps, Joseph May and E. T. Drew. The new safety and sanitation committee is composed of W. C. Bowman, J. E. Wolfe, E. C. Daniels, E. M. Buchanan and Edward Miller.

MAY HAVE DIED NATURALLY.

Engineer Rogers Believed to Have Been Dead When Wreck Occurred.

The funeral of James Rogers, the Wabash engineer who lost his life when his engine went off at a derail at Maumee last Saturday, will be held at Lafayette tomorrow morning, that city being his former home. It is believed by many of the railway men that Mr. Rogers had been attacked by apoplexy in the cab and was dead before his engine reached the derail. He was forty-two years old and unmarried and was known among his associates as "Big Jim."

EGGERS A BANK CASHIER.

The Daily Republican of Cape Girardeau, Mo., gives E. H. Eggers, a brother of Wabash Agent F. C. Eggers and for four years night baggagemaster for that company at Fort Wayne, the following complimentary notice:

"The success of the Appleton bank is largely due to the sagacity of its cashier, E. H. Eggers. His education was received in the parochial and public schools and in the Fort Wayne, Ind., Business college. He first took up the carpenter's trade and worked at that four years, when he became an employe of the Wabash railroad at Fort Wayne, Ind. Resigning that position after four years of service, he went to St. Louis and opened a retail grocery business, which he sold two years later to come to Appleton as cashier of the new bank in which he is a stockholder."

DALE TO PERE MARQUETTE.

Charles E. Dale, for a number of years connected with the supplies department of the Wabash, has tendered his resignation to become effective next Saturday. On March 15 Mr. Dale becomes chief clerk of the division storekeepers' office at Saginaw, Mich., of the Pere Marquette road. It is understood that the appointment was brought about through H. W. Hurst, several years ago division storekeeper of the Wabash at this point. Mr. Dale was at that time storekeeper at St. Thomas, which was included in Mr. Hurst's territory. Mr. Dale has been storeroom keeper for the past year. He will go to St. Thomas Saturday to see his brother, who is sick with typhoid fever, and go to Saginaw Monday.

OUT INSPECTING THE ROAD.

Supt. W. M. Wardrop and his staff officers are out on an inspection of the west end of the Pennsylvania today. Their special car was attached to passenger train No. 37 westbound this morning and will be a part of train No. 8 on the return trip this evening. Among those with Supt. Wardrop are Trainmaster C. L. Hamilton, Division Engineer Guy Scott, Road Foreman of Engines C. R. Colmey, Master Carpenter D. C. Zook, Chief Dispatcher H. E. Hart, Division Operator H. B. Reynolds, Capt. H. C. Stoll and others.

FINGER REMOVED AT KNUCKLE.

Otto Reichwage, the machinist, who was injured at the Electric works Saturday, did not stay at the hospital long. He merely remained long enough to have the injured finger amputated, when he went to his home on South Broadway. The bone of the second finger of the left hand was splintered between the knuckle and second joint when it was caught in the machine he was operating. He called at the dispensary yesterday to have the wounded hand dressed and said he was getting along nicely.

BOWLING CONGRESS RATES.

Agent F. C. Eggers, of the Wabash, was advised this morning that the company would make a special round trip rate of $9.80 to Peoria March 14 to 29, inclusive, on account of the annual American Bowling congress which will be held in that city this year. Last year nearly 100 Fort Wayne people attended the Bowling congress.

TONY GERARD GOES HOME.

E. L. Ensel, Wabash division storekeeper, went to St. Thomas, Ont., yesterday to look after business.

General Manager W. B. Wood, of the G. R. and I., passed through the city last night, en route to Pittsburg.

A. F. Alberts has taken a position in the office of the Engineering company: Winter street and Wabash railroad.

After a sickness of three days, W. Schible reported at the punch department of the Electric works for duty this morning.

J. S. Moran and J. H. Webber have returned from Toledo, where they were engaged several days in doing some work for the Wabash.

M. J. Crow, of the Pennsylvania erecting room, had a piece of steel to lodge in one of his eyes yesterday, making a most painful wound.

William Magnus, blacksmith's helper in the Wabash shops, returned to work yesterday after an absence of three weeks because of a sore eye.

Machinist Al Kissinger, for some time employed under Foreman W. H. Schultz at the Fort Wayne Electric works, has been transferred to the second story of the factory building and is now a member of the working force of Foreman William Wehrs.

F. A. Long, M. Simon and C. F. Lauer, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty. S. E. Claudy, who had been sick, resumed work this morning.

Daniel Davis, chemist at the Bass foundry, who went to Hope hospital Saturday suffering from a severe illness, is rapidly improving and will soon be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McElfatrick are preparing for a visit with his mother, who is very sick, at Indianapolis. Mr. McElfatrick is a Pennsylvania machinist.

Lee Shaffer was the name of the colored man found mixed up in the air-brake rigging of a Pennsylvania train at Dunkirk Sunday and instantly killed. He lived at Dunkirk.

Walter A. Barrett left yesterday for Columbus, O., on business for the Bass Foundry and Machine works. He will come home via Terre Haute, stopping there to look after some business also.

The mangled remains of a boy were found along the Nickel Plate Sunday afternoon near Melrose. Appearances were that the lad had come to his death by being struck by a Nickel Plate train.

Benjamin F. Ogden, a veteran of the civil war and one of the well known residents of the county, is quite sick at his home near Philley station, a short distance south of the city on the interurban line. Mr. Ogden is nearly eighty years old.

Friends yesterday received cards from J. L. Filler, night yardmaster of the Wabash railroad, and H. P. Sessler, switchman, indicating their safe arrival at Salida, Col. They have obtained thirty-day furloughs and will attend the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Machinist William Hanson, of the Pennsylvania shops, attended the funeral of his uncle, Edward Hanson, at Chicago this afternoon. The deceased was a retired business man and was quite well known in Fort Wayne through frequent visits to his relatives.

W. C. Mahrt is the division storekeeper at Saginaw now. He also is a former Fort Wayne man, going to Saginaw when H. W. Hurst was the division storekeeper at that point. When Mr. Hurst was promoted and transferred to Detroit, Mr. Mahrt, who was his chief clerk, became the division storekeeper.

The dead man found in the Calumet river, where he had fallen when a Pennsylvania train hit him last Sunday, has been identified as John Noback, a resident of Porter, Ind. Foul play is suspected because of the character of the wound in the head which caused death and the police are investigating the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Jeffries and two children, who had been visiting relatives in the city two or three days, returned to Decatur, Ill., their home, Sunday night. Scarlet fever was epidemic for several weeks in Decatur and the city was quarantined and none was permitted to depart or enter only under certain conditions. As a result Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries were unable to come here sooner. Quarantine was raised last week. Neither of their children were sick with the disease, however.

Military training is compulsory on all male citizens between the ages of twelve and twenty-five in New Zealand.

O. E. BRADWAY.

MRS. O. E. BRADWAY.

Wednesday will mark the anniversary of two important epochs in the life of O. E. Bradway, the retired foreman of the Pennsylvania brass foundry. One is the eighty-first anniversary of his birth and the other is the fifty-third anniversary of the residence of his family at the present home, 626 East Lewis street. Mr. Bradway was born in Massachusetts March 10, 1834, where he lived until 1854, learning the brass moulding trade in the jobbing shop of his father in the meantime. His service with the Pennsylvania dates from March 30, 1857, when he moved to Crestline from Galion, O., where he had been working about three years at his trade. In those days the Crestline shops were small and Mr. Bradway and a helper comprised the entire force in the moulding department. March 10, 1858, on his twenty-fourth birthday anniversary, he was transferred to Fort Wayne. Here he worked as the "whole thing," being moulder, helper and furnace tender, until 1862, when the company permitted him to hire a man. Up to the latter date he had no regular shop, being shifted about in different parts of the plant, having foundry space at different times in the room over the old boiler shop, then in an open shed and then in a corner of the copper shop. In 1872 a regularly equipped foundry was established in a brick building located on grounds which are now covered by the big erecting shop. September 22, 1899, the foundry department was moved to Allegheny and Mr. Bradway was appointed foreman of the plant in that city. He did not take his family there, however, and during the five or six years he was thus engaged, he came to Fort Wayne every Saturday night to see his family, returning to Allegheny Sunday night. He was pensioned April 1, 1904, after having worked forty-seven continuous years for the company. His retirement was greatly regretted by the men over whom he had jurisdiction, as well as by the other shopmen with whom he came in touch. As a token of the esteem in which he was held by them, the men presented Mr. Bradway with a purse sufficient to purchase a horse and buggy, and soon after "Topsy," a quiet and perfectly safe animal, appeared on the scene and pulled the surrey which carried Mr. and Mrs. Bradway over the streets of Fort Wayne for a number of years.

Mr. Bradway, before taking charge of the shops at Crestline, took quite an interest in business projects in Fort Wayne. He was one of the organizers of the Fort Wayne Loan association and served several years as president and director of the association. This was one of the first organizations of its kind in Fort Wayne. It was absorbed by the People's Trust company when that financial organization came into existence.

A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. Bradway celebrated the golden anniversary of their marriage, which was one of the big social events of the season. Despite their age, each is quite active and they find time to make frequent visits with their daughter, Mrs. L. C. Schroeder, who resides many blocks from their home, and with intimate friends in other parts of Fort Wayne. They were parents of two children—Mrs. Schroeder, of Broadway, and Mrs. Jay Starr, who died twenty-eight years ago. Mr. Star, who was a conductor on the Pennsylvania road, also died several years ago.

Mr. Bradway is a law-abiding citizen and believes in observing the municipal as well as the state and national laws. One which receives prompt attention is the ordinance requiring the property owners to remove snow from the sidewalks about their premises and he is out early after each storm with broom and scoop, and no walks are freer from snow and ice than those at the southeast corner of Hanna and East Lewis streets.

ONE-THIRD OF POPULATION.

Bob Jones Converts 2,000 Hartford City People in Revival.

Hartford City, Ind., March 9.—This city remains astir with the ferver of the Bob Jones evangelistic meetings, which closed Sunday night after a remarkable campaign of four weeks, with a record of 2,000 conversions—one-third of the total population of the place. The evangelist received a free-will offering of $2,500 for his services here and has gone with his party to Indianapolis for a week's rest before opening a similar gospel campaign in Crawfordsville. When the meetings opened in Hartford City 1,000 was set as the high mark for conversions. But this number was doubled and the whole city feels the influence of the campaign.

Joseph Sorg was operated on Tuesday at his home on Montgomery street and late reports were to the effect that he was getting along as well as could be expected.

MANUFACTURERS ARE SOON TO BE COUNTED

Census Men Include All Whose Investment is $500 or Over.

J. G. Casey, representing the bureau of the census of the United States department of commerce, is in Fort Wayne making preparations for taking the manufacturing census of this district. In Fort Wayne Mr. Casey will be assisted by Otto W. Koenig, of this city, and Ima Smith, of Angola.

The industrial statistics which are to be gathered are of all manufacturing establishments with a capital investment, owned and borrowed, of over $500. Factories, mills and shops of all character that manufacture in any way whatever which were in business at the close of 1914 come under the ruling. The statistics may pertain to the business year that most nearly conforms to the calendar year and it is obligatory upon all to furnish the required data.

The work is being done for the census department only. All returns will be strictly confidential and none but the sworn employes of the department may examine these reports.

Work Is Comprehensive.

The work is extremely exhaustive and comprehensive in character and the officials of the commerce department expect to devote several weeks to the Fort Wayne district. Reports as returned by different manufacturers will be accepted without question as the work undertaken is not of the nature of office inspection, but purely for census purposes.

Among the questions are the following: Character of the organization, individual or partnership, whether incorporated or not, or whether the business is co-operative, the amount of capital invested, the amount of salaried and wage-earning employes, time in operation, rent and taxes, materials and supplies, costs, value of products, work performed for the year, fuel and power.

You still have until Saturday night, March 13, in which to profit by Foster's great sale of Furniture, Rugs and Carpets.

The Lady Maccabees of Kekionga hive will give their fourth annual dance and card party Wednesday evening at the Casino dancing academy.

Almost over — Foster's great "Buy It Now" sale.

A TRIFLING OVERSIGHT.

"What, here we are half way there and I've got to run back for your calling cards?"

"Well, don't be provoked, George, you know how seldom I forget anything. And while you're there, wind the clock, set out the milk bottle, throw a cloth over the canary's cage and see if the gas stove is turned off."

The Question Before Us Is--

What importance—if any—is there in the Mineral Content of food?

Listen, then, to a well-known physician:—

"Unfortunately for the well-being and health of the individual and the human race, the manufacture of foods has been tending more and more to isolation of chemical entities; and our modern methods of 'refining,' 'purifying' and 'improving' the foods which Nature so abundantly furnishes, deprive the natural, wholesome food products of most of their mineral constituents and thereby reduce their real food values to a minimum.

"The human organism receives but a small fraction of the nutritive minerals which Nature evidently intended it to have, and the inevitable result is Mineral Starvation and its dire consequences in the shape of Malnutrition, General Debility, Anemia, Indigestion, Tuberculosis, Rachitis, Gout, Carcinoma, Diabetes, Nephritis, Decayed Teeth, and other modern diseases."

The recognition of these facts led, about twenty years ago, to the perfecting of a food extraordinarily rich in those "mineral constituents" mentioned above, and which are so necessary for proper growth and maintenance of body, nerves and brain.

That food is

Grape-Nuts

—a food containing all the nutriment of wheat and barley, including the priceless phosphorus, iron, lime, sulphur, etc., of these grains.

Easy of digestion, nourishing, economical, delicious—this food, as a part of the daily ration, has proved its worth to thousands.

Financial Aid Given Highway Construction Foots Up Strongly.

Washington, March 5.—More than two hundred million dollars of state appropriations have been expended to January 1, 1915, and an approximate total of 31,000 miles of surfaced highways constructed under state supervision since the inauguration of the policy known as "State Aid," according to the Good Roads Year Book for 1915 to be issued in March by the American Highway association from its Washington office. Only seven states, namely Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas, have no form of state highway department whatever, although Georgia grants aid to the counties for road improvement by lending the services of the entire male state convict force. Legislatures now in session are devoting much attention to road legislation and unquestionably several new highway departments will result. North Carolina will probably establish an independent highway department in lieu of the work now done by the state geological survey relating to highways.

New Jersey, in 1891, was the pioneer state in providing state aid for public highways. Massachusetts and Connecticut adopted the policy shortly after, but only during the past ten years has the state aid policy been in effect on a considerable scale. About 5,000 miles of state highways were completed in 1913 and about 6,000 miles in 1914, so that the past two years have been responsible for more than a third of the entire state highway mileage. The state highways in America now exceed by 6,000 miles the national road system of France.

To have state highway departments placed under non-partisan, efficient control; skilled supervision required in all construction work; a proper classification of highways to insure intelligent distribution of improvements; an adequate provision for maintenance of highways from the day of their completion——these are among the objects for which the American Highway association is waging a vigorous campaign.

Stay Fat; It's Secret of Youth, She Says

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 3.—Trixie Friganza, who says funny things from the stage, is a brave woman. She's fat—and publishes the fact broadcast without a sigh. Moreover she's happy, ascribing that also to her avoirdupois.

"I'm not joking now," said Trixie here recently, "and I want to tell all the women that THE GAME OF GETTING THIN IS NOT WORTH THE CANDLE!

"Keep fat and you'll keep young and good looking. Try to force yourself to thinness when you were meant to be fat and you'll soon look about 20 years older than you are."

Trixie Friganza believes so thoroughly in this advice that she worried considerably not long ago when her weight began to decrease of its own record. What did she do?

Went on a diet—TO GET FAT AGAIN!

REMARKABLE RISE OF BOY WANDERER

Youth Goes from Dishwasher to a Prize University Student.

Seattle, Wash., March 9.—A runaway from home, a cabin boy on a French windjammer, a deserter, a dishwasher, and now prize scholar at the University of Washington—this tells the story of the life of Anthony Corbierre, a student in the department of journalism.

Corbierre's father is commander of the French warship Durand, now guarding the entrance to the Dardanelles, in the Mediterranean sea. He doesn't know his son is garnering scholastic honors in a foreign land. To all intents and purposes the boy may be wandering around aimlessly, perhaps dead, instead of making a record with his instructors at a university, one of the brightest of any army of youths.

Six years ago Corbierre was a cabin boy on a merchantman, which lay off Seattle. He was sixteen then, couldn't write or read English and couldn't speak it except for a few oaths which fellow sailors had taught him. The captain of the ship developed a grudge against Tony, the cabin boy, and during the stay of the ship on Puget sound stabbed him in the hip.

At Tacoma Tony tried to run away. He was caught each time and brought back to the ship. When the ship reached Seattle to take on the balance of her cargo for Europe Tony slipped over the side of the vessel one night and swam ashore. The ship sailed and Tony remained in a strange land, among strange people.

Washing dishes was the first employment he obtained. He got the job through an employment agency and immediately went to Kapowsin, near Tacoma. There Tony had his first experience of attending school. After two years he graduated from the grammar school, a task to which the average American boy or girl gives eight years. He completed his high school course in three years, and entered the university last fall.

Corbierre helps to pay his way through college by caring for the library of newspapers and magazines in the department of journalism. He say he intends to become a newspaper man.

JAMES NEVER CAME HOME IN 57 YEARS

Romance of Ante-Bellum Days Recalled in Suit Just Filed.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 9.—A romance of the ante-bellum days, away back in 1857, all these years has remained dormant within the shadow of Pittsburgh, known only to the principals of the oldentime courtship, now to burst from its half-century of slumber into all notoriety of the domestic relations court. To have lived devotedly for fifty-eight years, waiting for the return of the bridegroom of her youth, whose wife she says she became in a little Ohio village, and finally, at the age of eighty-five, to have her husband haled into court on a charge of desertion and non-support is the life story in brief of Nancy Bevington, her maiden name, of Bevington, near Burgettstown, Pa.

James Conkie, aged eighty-two, of Pittsburgh, does not contend that for the past fifty-eight years he has lived in the daily thought of one woman. In fact he married twice since he met Miss Bevington, once in 1862, that wife dying within eight months, and again in 1866, when he married a Miss McKaig, of Pittsburgh, by whom he had six sons, the oldest of whom now is forty-five years of age. He declares that he is not guilty of non-support and desertion of the woman who is suing him because he never married her legally. He says he was invited to her home by her brother, in 1857, that he found a justice of the peace waiting, that the latter pronounced him and Miss Bevington man and wife, and that he exclaimed, "We are not man and wife," and left town the next day for West Virginia. Not until 1892, he says did Miss Bevington get in touch with him, and then he did not acknowledge her as his wife. The case will be heard on March 11. Walter J. Dipple and Luther W. Mendenhall are counsel for the defendant and Harry Weisberger is the plaintiff's attorney.

Simple Essence Makes Best Home Cough Syrup

Many families in this community have found a wonderful blessing in the shape of a home-made laxative cough syrup which is the most effective cough and cold cure obtainable anywhere at any price. A whole pint can be made for less than eighty cents so that it is 8 or 10 times cheaper than labeled mixtures. Buy of the druggist 2½ ozs. Essence Mentholaxene and empty it into a pint bottle. Pour over a pint of granulated sugar a half-pint of boiling water, stir, cool and then fill up the pint bottle with syrup. Full directions accompany the package for usage of children and adults. Nothing breaks up a cold so quickly and a cough is immediately relieved.

American Writes Book on Slav Music

Helen Ware, the American violinist and interpreter of Hungarian folksongs, shows her profound appreciation of Slav music in her recently published book, "The Effect of Wars on Hungarian Music." This is but one of several books and pamphlets the American artist has written on the gypsy music which Liszt immortalized in his rhapsodies.

Miss Ware has spent many years in Hungary studying the national history of the Slavs as well as their folksongs and music.

New York, March 9.—No handsomer young woman has been seen on the New York stage this season than Miss Phyllis Neilson-Terry, who is taking her second fling at the metropolitan public.

The first fling was no longer ago than Christmas, when the noted English star appeared in "Twelfth Night" under the management of Liebler and Company. Her run was short. Shakespeare doesn't "get over" these days as a writer of his talents ought to, and the failure of the Liebler management also happened soon after Miss Neilson-Terry's arrival, so that for some weeks she had nothing to do but admire the tall buildings and look in the Fifth avenue windows.

Then along came Joseph Brooks, and decided to give the English actress a chance in something more up-to-date than Shakespeare. Brooks got as far along as 1897 and Anthony Hope, his production, in which Miss Neilson-Terry has made her second debut at the Elliott theater, being "The Adventure of Lady Ursula," in which E. H. Sothern and Virginia Harned appeared here seventeen years ago.

Phyllis Neilson-Terry and Montague Love in "The Adventure of Lady Ursula."

For two of the four acts the star masquerades in male attire, and her art is at its best during this part of the play. But always she is very beautiful, because she cannot possibly help being so, and throughout her acting is marked with the lightness of touch, the mingled delicacy and humor which won her much praise during her brief portrayal of "Viola."

Montague Love is excellent as the backward bachelor whom Lady Ursula wins against his will, and the supporting cast all that could be desired.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated give "California Syrup of Figs."

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here; so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

Half of it I can't understand.

Yet calmly the scene I'm surveying;
I know that I'm missing no jokes.

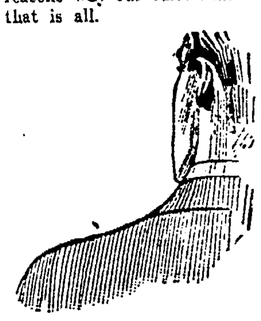
There Is a "Hang"

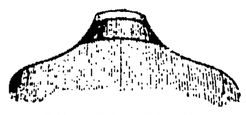
YES, there is a "hang" about our hand-tailored suits which you have never seen equalled. Such a dash about them that you want to look at them twice.

No wonder, when every suit that we measure for is designed and made by men who know just what your individual requirements are. They are paid to see that your clothes look right. That is one of the big reasons why our suits must always fit. It fits or you don't take it—that is all.



THE NECK

No hunching up. The collar of our hand-tailored coat does not hunch up to your hair and there is no wrinkle in it. The secret is in the knack of making, known only by the inside "big ones" who superintend the production of our suits.



THE SHOULDERS

The shoulder lies in a graceful curve from the neck. This curve continues without a break to the sleeve. There are no mistakes in the shoulders of our clothes.

A Big Thing

It is a big thing for us to be able to make such unqualified announcements as to fit and fabrics. It means a lot to us, but we believe it means more to you who are really thinking about buying a spring suit right now.

Great artists in clothes making have complimented us many times on the distinction of our clothes. Many customers from other cities come to us. And, really, is there any reason why as fine clothes can't be had here as well as any other place on earth?

Your suit or topcoat finished and delivered before Easter. A fit guaranteed or we won't let you keep the suit

GAYNOR CLUB DONATES TO THE MISSION FUND

Subscriptions for This Purpose Now Pass the $9,500 Mark.

The Gaynor club, a singing society composed of teachers of the public schools, who studied Mrs. Gaynor's works, through its treasurer, Prof. William Miles, director of music in the public schools, sent a donation of $53.43 to the treasurer of the committee which is getting in subscriptions for the new mission which will be situated in the old Arlington hotel.

The society gave a concert two years ago and cleared over fifty dollars and at a recent meeting of the club decided that their treasurer should give this amount for some benevolent purpose and acting under this decision he donated it to the mission fund.

This donation besides a subscription of $300 from Wolf & Dessauer, and one from E. G. Hoffman for $108, has raised the amount subscribed to over $9,500. The committee states that they expect to have the entire amount of $15,000 subscribed within the next two weeks.

Although members of the committee have been busily engaged with their own work within the last week and have had no spare time to go out and get subscriptions, sums of various sizes have been sent in by business men, showing that they are heartily in favor of the great work.

MANY CLAIMANTS FOR A HEART

Says Rev. C. Burnett at Bible Training School.

In his sermon Monday evening at the Bible Training school, Rev. Christopher Burnett, of Detroit, made the statement in speaking on the subject, "My Son, Give Me Thine Heart," that there are many claimants for one's heart.

Among other things he said: "The heart in the scriptures, both in the Old and New Testament, means not merely the physical heart, but rather the personality, intelligence, emotions and will. It is the part of man that satan does not want to see surrendered to God. Satan knows how to attack us; he knows how to capture the heart."

Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Rev. Burnett will speak on the subject, "Is Pre-Millennialism a Vital Question?"

The afternoon meetings as well as the evening services are being well attended and interest is running high.

Trades Union Head's Message to Workers

Mrs. R. Robins

"The danger of women being used as underbidders in industrial trades must be squarely faced. There is only one woman worker who will refuse to take a man's place at lower wages. She is the trade union woman." This is the message Mrs. Raymond Robbins, president of the National Woman's Trade Union league, sends to women workers throughout the country.

When the league meets in national convention in New York next June it will consider the subject of the woman who underbids and thereby lowers the wages of organized men and women.

AMERICA GETS FOUR FULL ADMIRALS—FIRST SERIOUS STEP TO BIGGER NAVY.

Rear Adm. Howard

Rear Adm. Fletcher

America begins to respond to the spreading sentiment in favor of "the biggest navy."

Congress, recording this popular force, has just authorized President Wilson to increase the number of our commanding admirals, adding three supreme heads, with power exactly equalling that now enjoyed only by Admiral Dewey.

The three rear admirals whom the president will appoint to join the hero of Manilla bay in controlling our naval destinies are:

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic fleet.

Rear Admiral Thomas B. Howard, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet.

Rear Admiral Walter C. Cowles, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

Rear Admiral Fletcher is the officer who was in charge of the Mexican situation at Vera Cruz, and he, particularly, it is considered, has earned his promotion.

In explaining the change in the organization of the navy's personnel, Secretary of the Navy Daniels says:

"For a long time it has been felt when ever there were any joint operations between the navies of this country and of other countries that the American navy has not had the position to which it is entitled, because other countries, some with much smaller navies, have given higher rank to the commanding officers.

"We have now in the American navy in command of fleets no admiral. The admiral we have is Admiral Dewey, who is at the head of the general board and does not go to sea. The conference committee has agreed upon a provision which will remove this handicap under which our navy has been compelled to operate."

FILMLAND STARS SHOULD FORECAST THE FASHIONS, SHE SAYS.

Margarita Fischer

Margarita Fischer has wonderfully expressive features, her large black eyes tell the story of the deepest and lightest of emotions with the power of a thousand voices. But she doesn't seem to think that that is enough to make her a great success in the movies.

Miss Fischer believes that every good motion picture actress is entitled to a big salary and argues that a conscientious one puts a big part of her salary back into the business in the way of good clothes.

"When a picture is put on with the leading woman in inexpensive clothes, it hurts the firm that puts out the photoplay," says Miss Fischer. "I think a movie actress' gowns should be so far in advance of the styles that they act as a fashion forecast."

Announcing The LYRACHORD SYMPHONIA

Upright piano, player-piano, pipe-organ, orchestra---may be played by hand, by treadles or by electric power

THE Lyrachord-Symphonia is founded on a principle entirely distinctive in music. Electricity is employed to vibrate the strings of the piano, thus producing orchestral, pipe organ and vox humana effects, actually combining five superb instruments in one—the Piano, Player-Piano, Electric Player-Piano, Lyrachord Piano and Lyrachord Player.

From an artistic and educational point of view the Lyrachord-Symphonia affords an interesting prophecy. That it will quicken the appreciation and comprehension of organ tones and orchestral beauties in the minds and emotions of the musically unskilled, much as the player-piano has served to enlighten the world to the works of the great masters, there is every reason to believe.

The Lyrachord-Symphonia is instantly adaptable to any one of its five phases—indeed it may be transformed from the Piano Symphonia to the Lyrachord-Smyphonia by the pressure of a button (or vice versa) during a hand played rendition or while playing with the aid of the music roll.

Shading and expression possibilities of the organ tones are practically unlimited, with reserve power and carrying qualities sufficient for an auditorium of goodly proportions. Thus, while the Lyrachord-Symphonia is distinctively an instrument for the home, it is splendidly adaptable for chapel and auditorium purposes.

Informal demonstrations at any hour.

The price of the Lyrachord-Symphonia is $1,000.00. Liberal payment terms.

GET RID OF LINGERING COLDS, COUGHS AND LA GRIPPE.

Spring finds many afflicted with lingering, hacking coughs that weaken the system. Slush and wet cause more colds than zero weather. Croup, bronchitis, and pneumonia are prevalent. It eases a cough, checks a cold and relieves inflamed and congested membranes. It clears the air passage and soothes inflammation. Dreier Drug Co.

SURPRISED PERFECT NEST OF RUSSIANS

German Soldier in Patroling Party Has Unique Experience.

Berlin, Feb. 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—A soldier's letter from the eastern frontier describes an effort of a patrolling party to discover whether there were any Russians in a forest in front of the German position. With fixed bayonets a handful of men crept at night through the woodland, thrusting the steel into every thick bush, or throwing a flare of light into them from their pocket lamps.

They found no "game" and were emerging from the forest at the point where they had entered it, when suddenly they saw a Russian sentinel before them in heavy fur-coat and cap. He was fast asleep. Taking up the narrative here, the letter reads:

"F——seized the Russian by the lapel of his coat and swore at him in Polish, Russian and German. 'Hands up', we demanded, and he did it. One of us watched over him while others made an examination of the surroundings. We found a cave, such as we build for our sentries. We jabbed our bayonets into the straw around the entrance. A 'noncom', after removing the rifles which the unsuspecting Russians had stacked near the entrance threw a light into the cave and swore frightfully. Out of the dark came creeping a dozen members of the 162nd Russian landwehr Tartars, Mohammedans, and men from Kasan. At the point of our bayonets they dropped to their knees.

"But suddenly we discovered we were being fired upon, by another group of Russians nearby, whose presence we had not suspected. Driving our prisoners before us, we started out of the woods to cross an open, meadow back to our lines. There was a whizzing of bullets about our ears. There could be no thought of trying to defend ourselves. Only six of our prisoners could we keep with us. When we finally reached our lines, we discovered from the men we had taken that the place we had tackled was not a sentry post, as we had thought, but a protected position with trenches and loopholes; and there were thirty Russians against us five with two other Russian trenches close by. It was a lucky escape for us to have discharged our task and get away with our prisoners. We did not fire one shot. Our captain gave us five dollars. I send my one herewith to our little 'war daughter', because it was earned without bloodshed."

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to uri ary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Adv.

WHEAT AGAIN JUMPS INTO THE LIMELIGHT

With prices on wheat hovering around $1.28 a bushel Monday afternoon, and nothing startling occurring at any of the markets, wheat has again jumped into the limelight by making an advance of 8c a bushel in price. For the past week the price has been descending and the markets seemed to be dull but a change was noted at the close of the market Monday, and Tuesday morning it opened with a rush. Twelfth district prices were advanced to $1.36, while millers quoted $1.30, $1.36 and $1.40.

The jump upward came very suddenly and unexpectedly, and caused considerable commotion in the big grain centers. How long the market will hold this way or what kind of a turn it will take next can only be guessed at.

The usual spring rush has opened at the city scales and the scalemaster was kept jumping Tuesday morning accommodating the farmers who had lined up to have their loads of produce weighed. In all 57 loads of hay and grain were weighed.

All other markets remained steady and no change in prices were quoted. The egg market was a trifle weaker and the wholesale quotation has been cut down to 18c.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 9.—Bullish views of the government report on farm reserves brought about a rush of buying in the wheat market and carried prices sharply higher. The opening, which ranged from ⅝c to 2¾c higher, was followed by a decided further advance and then a moderate reaction.

Corn developed some firmness owing to the strength of wheat. After opening a shade to ¼@⅝c up, the market receded but only to a slight extent.

Oats responded to reports of intended big shipments from New York. Besides country offerings were small.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, March 9.—The usual mixed price changes were registered in today's early stock market, leading issues showing an irregular trend. Union Pacific, U. S. Steel and a few other prominent shares rose frantically. Americans were lower in London, Reading declining a point.

The latest phase of the Mexican situation was received with misgivings in the financial district despite Washington's reported assurance of non-intervention. Quoted values soon fell under their best, Southern Pacific losing about a point by reason of the company's extensive interests in Mexico. Canadian Pacific and Lehigh Valley displayed marked heaviness and Chesapeake & Ohio was lower on rumors of new financing. Bonds were irregular.

SCIENTIFIC CODE STIRS SUSPICION

Naples, March 9.—Frank Alvord Perret, of New York, assistant director of the Royal observatory on Mount Vesuvius, is a member of the volcanological institute founded by Prof. Friedlander, of Berlin, who also is president of the organization. Recently Prof. Perret had occasion to communicate with Prof. Friendlander on volcanic activities and he write his message in the code of the institute and sent it, addressed to Berlin to the telegraph office. This gave rise to suspicion on the part of the Italian authorities that Prof. Perret was engaged in espionage. The message was stopped and an investigation quietly made. When the facts had been ascertained Prof. Perret was rehabilitated and the scientific telegram was allowed to go forward.

PLAN TO ELIMINATE ALL SHERIFF FEES

Bill Introduced to Make Office Salaried One in New York.

New York, March 9.—Sheriff Griffenhagen, of New York county, is on record in favor of the provisions of the bill now before the legislature at Albany reducing the sheriff's office in all New York state counties from a fee office to a salaried office, on the ground that under the present fee system gross injustices are possible, and in some cases unavoidable, and that in all cases the resultant gross income from the office under the fee system out of all proportion to the services rendered by the incumbent.

Mr. Griffenhagen has stated that outside his salary of $12,000 he last year received $45,147 as his 50 per cent share of the fees of the office, and that his predecessor in two years had from the same source $98,769, that the two incumbents of the office before that had $95,623 and $92,253 in the two years respectively, and that in his belief these additional rewards are wholly out of reason. He therefore proposes that the office be made wholly a salary office, and that the salary be fixed at not more than $15,000 per annum for this county. Commissioner of Accounts Wallenstein, who has recently conducted an investigation of the sheriff's office, is of the opinion that this amount is sufficient return for the services required of the sheriff.

GAY DAYS OF OLD BACK TO RENO, NEV.

Restoring Easy Divorce Law Makes Business Men Cheer Up.

Reno, Nev., March 9.—Prosperous times are in sight for Reno again, for the legislature has passed the bill restoring the old "easy" divorce law, and business men are preparing to entertain as of yore wealthy visitors who are willing to spend six gay months in Reno for the sake of freedom from the marriage bonds.

It was a little more than a year ago that another law put Reno out of the for the sake of freedom from the marriage business, and the once gay and prosperous city is just beginning to feel the real sting of the blow. That law exin the state for divorce seekers from six months to a year.

Divorces are as easy to get as ever in Nevada under the new law, but it's such a wearisome wait. And eastern visitors in a hurry for marital freedom don't like to wait.

Six Months of Pleasure.

Time was when one could spend six breezy months in Reno and scarcely count the days. There were mountain trails to explore on horseback or afoot; there were mountain trout streams to explore with rod and reel. The hotels were good; the restaurants were even better.

There was a big town theater where on occasion one could see real stage notables, dropped in for a night to break the tedium of the long jump from Chicago to San Francisco and to pick up the several thousand dollars at $3 a seat. There were taxicabs and trolley cars and fashionable shops and a big university, to say nothing of very lively society.

PROTESTANT CHURCHES IN NEED OF PASTORS

49,000 More Churches Than Ministers Throughout Country.

New Yor, March 9.—A recent report that has been carried by the church press throughout the country says that there are 49,000 more Protestant churches than ministers. This does not mean so many churches without any ministry because of the fact that in many cases arrangements have been made for the serving of more than one church by the same minister, and yet the need for men in the ministry is being pointed out constantly and it is the one question which injects itself into every gathering of religious workers.

Forty-nine thousand one hundred and sixty-seven more Protestant churches than there are Protestant ministers in the United States is a situation that furnishes much food for thought. It points the way to consolidation of weak churches in some instances, and in others it means communities without the gospel ministry. It presents forcibly to the church the question of her own future, and makes insistent the consideration of the claims of the ministry by the young manhood of our churches. In the year 1911 the Presbyterian church, north, had 2,187 vacant pulpits out of a total of 10,510, that is, every fifth church in that denomination was pastorless. In the same year 1,000 out of the 6,000 Congregational churches were pastorless, or a proportion of one in six.

RAISING SNAKES FINE BUSINESS IF YOU DON'T MIND RIOTS AND SUCH.

Wallula, Wash., March —Raising snakes is fine business, but to sell 'em you have to raise—well, you may have to raise a dickens of a row, get into jail, lose your crop and scare folks out of their wits.

That was the experience of Al Boock, a snake farmer, who brought his crop to town the other day. One choice rattler clung tenderly about his neck, a dozen smaller ones were packed in cans carried under his arms, a few "seconds" wiggled round in his pockets. It looked like a good day for business when some pesky woman yelled, "Snakes." Then everybody yelled, everybody ran. Al ran, too, at the point of a policeman's club. When he was locked up, the cops killed every one of his failed rattlers.

SPRAY YOUR TREES NOW!

If you would save your trees from utter destruction, by the San Jose scale, it is absolutely necessary for you to use some powerful solution that will kill the parasite.

The best time to do this effectively is both early in the Spring and late in the Fall, while the trees and shrubs are dormant.

The best known solution, according to the different state experimental stations, is the "Niagara" Soluble Sulphur Compound
It is from 8 to 10% more effective. It will keep in any climate. It dissolves readily in cold water. It sticks like paint. It improves the color of the fruit. It is much cheaper and a great deal more convenient to handle and apply than the ordinary lime-sulphur solution.

We would suggest that you come and see us about it.
